WAR ON DRUGS...

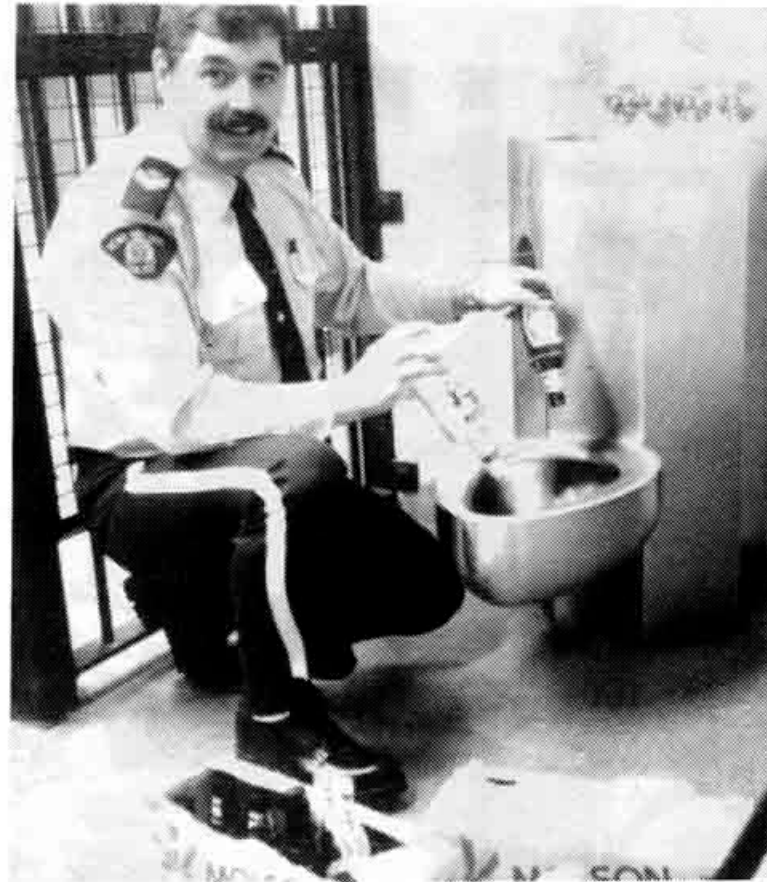

The RCMP in Dawson City have continued to increase efforts in the area of drug enforcement, having pursued related charges against 22 individuals in the past seven months. These charges stem from seizures of cocaine, LSD, hash, oil, marijuana and psilocybin (magic mushrooms) and range from simple possession to trafficking.

Dawson City is a small town and with time it is likely that every resident will have their lives affected by the illicit sale of drugs in the community. This effect can remain unseen in the form of lost revenue by business or it may be very evident as you watch someone you know literally sell their "personal worth" to support a drug habit. Of course, there are many other scenarios in which drugs play a role; however, they too will always realize negative consequences.

Your local RCMP detachment would like to encourage you to become a part of the growing effort towards unrooting the drug sub-culture's activity in your community. All information, whether you consider it trivial or otherwise, may be valuable information. Your anonymity will always be respected, should you choose to join other community members and the RCMP in their vigil against drugs.

SAY NO TO DRUGS.

IF YOU WANT TO DRINK, don't do it where you are not supposed to. This picture shows Sgt. Crowe of the RCMP pouring confiscated liquor down the toilet. This lot was taken during the Discovery Days weekend. This is done four times a year. The empty bottles are then turned over to the local Cub group.

For those of you who don't know where Henderson Corner is from Dawson City, we are approximately 15 miles south on the Klondike Highway and are two miles from Dawson Airport. There are approximately 25 families who live in our small community at Henderson. We are ever-growing, but well spread out.

Two weeks ago the Klondike Valley Fire Fighters were out our way, at the residence of Calvin Larson. (Calvin has generously donated the use of his alternate well next to his house.) The fire crew, under the direction and supervision of Chief Howard Mann were carrying out water pumper drills, setting up a re-supply water pump system and ensuring all were workable and in good running order under winter conditions. From this location we were able to keep our station dispatcher Bill Harris, who was manning the radio and telephone at Rock Creek, well informed of the proceedings. For those of you who saw the red flashing light from your house and were curious, PLEASE you should have come out. The exercise might have been a fire, and your assistance would have been appreciated.

We are very grateful for the way the weather man has been treating us. These mild weather conditions can continue for the rest of the winter. I sure don't mind the snow and over the past few days, we've got our share.

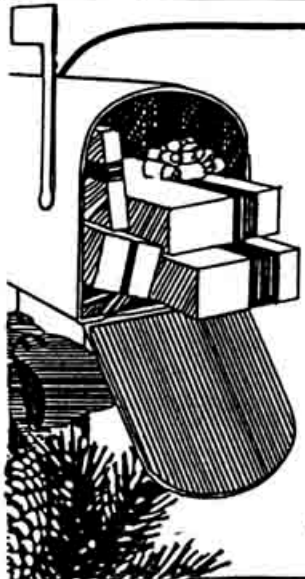

We extend our thanks to those kind folks for keeping our roads so clear during our long winter.

Until next time, I wish you all seasons greetings and a joyous Christmas.

Merry Christmas, Mom.

Christmas is Closer Than You Think!

by Dan Davidson

Regardless of the month, the annual Christmas Bazaar and Craft Sale marks the beginning of the Christmas season in Dawson. It's Dawson's all purpose fund-raising event, as well as being a showcase for crafts and a time for the community to get together.

Your coat and hat are taken by high school students raising money for an exchange trip to Quebec later this school year. Inside the gymnasium members of Grad '92 are selling goodies next to the Alcohol and AIDS Awareness display. Moving around the room you encounter raffles, information, rummage tables, video presentations, kids' toys, Christmas tree ornaments, and fancy baked goods.

"They should do this every weekend," says actor Grant Hartwick. It's like having a mall."

True enough. You would not usually find wrought ironwork, pottery, quilts, leather goods, baking, beadwork, and pitches for various organizations in such close proximity.

In the ancillary room next door the Trinke Zoo Daycare is handling the concession stand while some kids are playing games in what is normally the band room. On the center stage between the two big rooms Santa, looking suspiciously like a firefighter, is having his picture taken with a long line-up of youngsters who have come to whisper their secrets in his ear and smile for the camera.

It is the community event of the weekend, and everyone seems to be content with the result. Rushing home to wrap the gifts purchased for folks Outside, Dawsonites realize that the mailing deadline will soon be upon them. Christmas actually is closer than you think.

NINE YUKON PEOPLE TO ASSIST TEAM YUKON AT ARCTIC WINTER GAMES

WHITEHORSE-Nine Yukon people have been appointed to represent Team Yukon as Mission Staff at the 1992 Arctic Winter Games in Whitehorse. The appointments were announced November 29 by Community and Transportation Services Minister Maurice Byblow.

"I am sure the mission staff under the direction of Chef-de-Mission Vern Haggard and Assistant Chef-de-Mission Suzanne McFadyen will do an excellent job in preparing Team Yukon for the games," Byblow said.

Included from Dawson is Joanne Hunston. Mission staff work with their designated sports during the games and provide assistance to game participants by:

- providing technical and games policy assistance and support to Team Yukon;
- recording and reporting trial results; and
- attending trials and coaches' meetings.

The city of Whitehorse will host the 1992 Arctic Winter Games during March 15 to 22, when about 1,400 athletes and cultural performers will come to Whitehorse from Alaska, N.W.T. and Northern Alberta as well as Greenland and Russia.

INSIDE/OUTSIDE

Alex Seely had a trip to Vancouver when he went to pick up Mary after her visit to relations back East.

It seems just a month ago Orlo Davis was back from California and reporting on 91-degrees F at 5:00 p.m. in the evening. Now, wife Maddie joins him when it is -35C. It can get just too hot down there.

Other returning travellers are Leslie Piercy and Gerard Cruchon, who were in Paris, France a couple of months ago.

A Christmas present for Dawsonites? At last... the sign post at the junction of the Mayo Road and Alaska Highway is going up, to indicate the turn to take to Dawson! At last... after so much lobbying by so many groups on behalf of Dawson.

Want to feel better at -38C? Just phone Brisbane, Australia. Last week, when we had -38C, they were crying the blues that it was 38C above. Sweltering heat! Thunderstorms coming up! Just couldn't cool off! No, they didn't was to visit here, though!

Chere (Bear) Mitchell reports that "Stovepipe" Dave Hendrie is back from school in Kamloops - safe, sound and officially a Journeyman Heavy Duty Mechanic, after nearly four years in apprenticeship. Dave toted back yet another addition to his "collection" of equipment: a dynamometer (you'll have to ask him about all the marvellous things that does!) Welcome back, Dave, and congratulations!

Welcome to Dawson to:

DAWSON CITY MUSIC FESTIVAL CELEBRATES 1991 SUCCESS AT AGM

by Glenn Mullen

On November 27th, the Dawson City Music Festival had its Annual General Meeting. It was held in the Downtown conference room, with 20 members showing up to share cookies, coffee, and ideas.

After opening remarks by Robert Keaton, the agenda was accepted and the meeting began.

The 1991 treasurer, Karen DuBois, then gave a financial report for the past year including a detailed breakdown of assets and liabilities, revenue and expenses. After everyone had an opportunity to ask questions and review the numbers, a financial audit was unanimously waived.

Outgoing President Paula Hassard addressed the meeting with a review of the past year's success. She had a great deal of praise for all those persons who have volunteered their time and talent throughout the years as well as in 1991.

Paula was not alone in her feeling that the 14th Annual Dawson City Music Festival was the most dynamic and successful event to date. The generous and reliable efforts of all the volunteers helped make this year's festival an organizational as well as a financial success.

The quality of the hospitality offered our musical guests was outstanding. If the way to a musician's agent was through his/her stomach then we'd have no trouble at all booking any act any time.

With the addition of the Klondike Valley Volunteer Fire Fighters providing exceptionally efficient security and Robert Keaton's tireless efforts in ensuring adherence to the Liquor Act, the incidence of alcohol related problems were at an acceptable minimum.

The election of a new Board of Directors for 1992 preceded an open discussion of ideas and suggestions for the 15th Annual Dawson City Music Festival and for future fund-raising events.

The 1992 Board of Directors are: Robert Keaton, President; Glenn Mullen, Vice-president; Karen DuBois, Treasurer; Kim Tuson-Bensky and Pat Henman, Secretaries; and Carmen DuBois, Allanna Wiebe, Warren Ford, Directors.

Thanks to the Downtown Hotel and special thanks to all those who attended this year's AGM and to all those Music Festival volunteers and members who couldn't, "Thanks again!" We look forward to working with you all this next year!

AROUND THE CLOCK ROAD REPORT SERVICE NOW AVAILABLE

WHITEHORSE-Yukon people can now get recorded road reports by telephone, 24 hours a day, seven days a week by calling 667-8215. The popular road reports, produced by Community and Transportation Services, were available by telephone during regular office hours and were also aired daily on local radio stations.

The new automated system, announced yesterday by Community and Transportation Services Minister Maurice Byblow, is a response to public demand and enables recorded road report information to be available continuously.

"People have come to depend on the road reports as a valuable source of information," Byblow said. "The automated report system will ensure a greater degree of safety for all Yukon people."

The recordings will be updated evenings and weekends with bulletins on road closures or other special conditions in the highway system.

The Transportation Maintenance Branch staff in Whitehorse will continue to respond to inquiries on road conditions at 667-5644 during regular office hours.

The Road Report number (667-8215) and the Whitehorse office (667-5644) are accessible through the government's toll-free number (1-800-661-0408) during regular office hours.

THE SMARTS

H.I.V., the virus that causes AIDS, has "the smarts". It can hide in your body for years before you know its there. One sure way you can tell is to have a blood test.

The earlier you find out if you have the virus, the sooner you can develop a health program that will add years to your life.

Find out more about confidential testing at Community Health Centres and the Skookum Jim Friendship Centre in Whitehorse. Or, you can call Anne or Pat at the Whitehorse General Hospital at 667-8760.

ELLA'S TRAVEL TIPS

By Ella Patay

Unless you are like us and love to hang around airports, the sheer murder of hanging around airports, aggravated by chaotic check-in queues is a significant factor in the stress engendered by travel. Especially with Christmas coming up, how can the ordinary traveller set about lessening the ordeal?

If it's at all possible to check in elsewhere than the airport, do so. If not, allow a margin for traffic, and get there as near to check-in as your agitated partner will allow. If you're constitutionally incapable of cutting it fine, set off as early as you wish, but head not for the airport, but for one of the airport hotels, and have breakfast or lunch there. They will shuttle you to the terminal when the time comes.

Don't queue unnecessarily. Wanting to get check-in over and done with is understandable, but once you have your boarding passes and seat numbers, it is superfluous to line up at the departure gate. The coolest travellers find somewhere to park themselves and get on the plane fast.

Travel as unencumbered as you can, slogging around an airport - and remember, the boarding gate can be nigh on half a mile from the departure lounge - is wearying enough without a camera case strap cutting into your shoulder, handles of a duty-free bag cutting into your fingers, carry-on baggage bumping against your hip and a stack of magazines slithering from under your arm. I sweat just thinking about it.

Assuming you're travelling in company, establish a base where you can dump your gear. Then you can saunter off by rotation to browse at the bookstore or check the destination indicator again.

Next month: More about hanging around airports.

HOT TIP: New Canada-wide seat sale. Must purchase before December 15, i.e. Whitehorse-Vancouver Rtn $334.00, plus taxes.

Merry Christmas, one and all!

Dawson Fire Department

The Christmas Season is upon us and there are several things you can do to ensure that your Christmas is a safe one.

Trees - If you use a natural tree be sure that the stump is cut just before it is put in water. This helps the tree to drink water and keep fresh. Do not let the reservoir get dry (check daily) or the stump could "scab" and stop taking water. To determine if your tree is dry check for dropping needles. A dry tree can be very hazardous. Turn Christmas lights on the tree off whenever possible and use proper indoor lights only. Natural and artificial trees should be kept away from heat sources such as woodstoves, heater, etc. and should never block exits.

Lights - Be sure to use indoor lights inside and outdoor lights outside. It sounds simple but there is a difference and all too often the wrong sets are used causing too much heat for a tree or weak bulbs popping in the cold. Before using your lights check all wiring, sockets and plugs for fraying, cracks or loose connections. If at all in doubt, replace the whole set. Do not plug lights into a circuit that is already full. Extension cords should not be walked on, run under carpets or placed where they will cause anyone to trip. When using outdoor lights also use outdoor extension cords. Always unplug lights when replacing a bulb and don't leave empty sockets that small children can explore. Turn lights off at night and when no one is home. Use a timer on your outdoor lights to extend their life.

The most important tool for a safe Christmas season is common sense. Remember - Safety is the best gift of all.

Now this is a little off topic: if you have a programmable phone in your home that has emergency numbers in the memory, please be sure that the phone is not in a place where young children can reach it. The possibility of your toddler calling an emergency line without your knowledge is a hazard for emergency service departments. It is difficult to relay to a young child that they should not be talking on the phone when they are enjoying the "game" they have found. They are tying up phone lines that are intended to help people. So please, take a second look at where you keep your phones. Thanks.

Library Pages

by John Bilton

Here I sit in the wonderfully warm library and wonder where all my patrons are. It has been fairly quiet for the month of November and I suspect that most people are readying themselves for the festive season.

The library was graced with the presence of Gertrude Story on November 4 and 5, while she carried out readings and workshops for the interested local writers. Paul Morin, artist and writer, came to the library on November 6th with a multi-media presentation stemming from his travels through Africa. From all reports both of these events were well received by the patrons of the library.

Many meetings have been held in your library lately with such groups as the local support staff for Arctic Winter Games, Youth Conference meeting plus the local ski club have used our facilities during the past month. 896 Squadron Air Cadets are still using the library each Tuesday evening and a business course is being run in the library by one of our local business people.

I would like all library patrons to note the changes for our operating dates during the Christmas and New Year holidays. We will be closed on December 22, 23, 24, 25 and 26. Open Friday and Saturday 27 and 28 Dec. Closed 29, 30 and 31 December and 1 January. Open regular hours 2, 3 and 4 January. We regret the long closing period before Christmas but due to that special day falling on the middle of the week it was necessary.

New shipments of books have been arriving from Libraries and Archives Branch and the library is due to receive a shipment of books that were purchased by your Library Board. Now that I have mentioned the Library Board I can pass along the good news that we have had some new members join over the past few weeks. We welcome Marion Stobbe, Kathy Webster and Neal Smith to the fold. Valerie Brickner is the chair-person for 1992 and she will be most happy to accept at least one or two more members to the Library Board. If you are unable to contact her you can drop into the library and leave your name with the librarian.

I would like to remind patrons that we have a long list of overdue books and would appreciate their return before the holiday season. Please remember that if you arrive at the library and find it closed you can always use the drop box located next to the main doors of the school. This box is cleared regularly by the librarian.

Story Hour has been very well attended this year with as many as fourteen children at one session. This segment will finish on 12 December and we will begin again on 9 January. I would like to advise parents that if the temperature is minus 40 or colder, I do not expect them to bring their children on that day. We can all get together on another day when it is warmer.

I would like to take this opportunity on behalf of the Dawson Library Board and the staff of Dawson Community Library to wish everyone the very best of the holiday season. We will be looking forward to serving you in 1992. Until then good health and good reading.

Hot Dog! It's Lunch Time!

by Madeleine Gould

I wonder how many people know, besides parents that is, that every Wednesday at the school it's Hot Dog Day. Different groups in the school choose this day to sell hot dogs and cookies, at lunch time, to raise money for their different projects.

I volunteered to go and help one of these groups, and I must say it was quite interesting. Holly was there to show me what had to be done as she had done this before. But we weren't alone very long, for some of the pupils in this group were there to help us. You could tell that they knew what had to be done such as filling bowls with mustard, ketchup, green relish and red relish, plus getting all the juices ready.

When the buzzer rang for lunch it was a pleasure to see how these young people were able to serve this lunch without any fuss. When it was all over they went about cleaning the kitchen and left everything spotless. It was a pleasure for me to be there and I am going again when their Wednesday rolls around.

SHELTER UPDATE...

by Marjie Hills

On December 6, the Shelter showed support to the "White Ribbon Campaign", an international initiative that was started by an ad hoc men's group to speak out about violence against women. This day is a day of commemoration for the women killed at the Ecole Polytechnique in Montreal and for all the women hurt and killed by male violence. The white ribbon is worn by men and women to show support in ending violence against women. The Shelter made ribbons available to those in the community wishing to participate in this National Day of Commemoration.

The Shelter will be hosting its Second Annual Gingerbread House Party at McDonald Lodge on December 14 from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. This is a great way for kids to decorate their own house to take home and enjoy. We ask that each child registers with 400 grams of candy. The Shelter will supply the rest. For more information, please call 993-5086.

The next event is the Shelter's Open House, which will take place on December 19 at 4:00 p.m. Everyone is welcome! The Open House will also include a display of Discovery Toys for any of you who wish to purchase any last-minute Christmas gifts. Ten percent of the toys sold at the Open House will go towards purchasing toys for the Shelter. Hope to see you there!

DAWSON CITY RECOGNIZES WORLD AIDS DAY

by Glenn Mullen

On Saturday night, November 30, 1991, the Dawson AIDS Committee presented Barbara Byron to a small group of concerned citizens gathered at the Tro'ndike Heritage Hall.

Miss Byron was in town as part of this community's attempt to recognize World AIDS Day and to tell us how it is for her to live with the HIV virus. Barbara was joined by Lisa Tremblay of the Yukon AIDS program in Whitehorse.

The two braved a winter snow storm en route to Dawson to share with us their concerns about the shocking proliferation of this disease.

They also reminded us that although it may be a very long time before this virus can be stopped, we do have the ability right now to slow it down.

Barbara Byron's story is not unique. She was infected by a bisexual man in 1981 and gave birth to a daughter two years before testing HIV positive in 1985. She unwittingly passed on the virus to her unborn child.

Being HIV positive means that you have been exposed to the virus and so far as all the research shows, it is only a matter of time before your immune system becomes so weakened that you get AIDS. You then become susceptible to opportunistic infections that would otherwise be successfully fought off by a healthy immune system.

Barbara looks and acts healthy enough. You can't tell by looking at her that she has HIV. There is no way to tell if any one is infected. That is why it is so important to learn how to protect yourself and your loved ones.

By learning more about this disease we can begin to prepare ourselves for its effect on our community as it spreads. It is estimated that by the end of this decade one in ten Canadians will be infected by this virus. That probably will mean someone you know.

Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) is believed to be caused by the Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV). It is transmitted through blood, semen, and vaginal fluid. You cannot catch it if you do not share needles nor have sexual intercourse.

It is no longer dangerous to receive blood transfusions as all blood products are now tested for HIV. The virus can be passed from an infected mother to her unborn child about 50% of the time.

The best defence against infection is to NOT engage in ANY risk behavior such as sexual intercourse or Intra-venous (IV-needles) drug use.

If you are going to engage in that kind of risky behavior, you will decrease your chances of becoming infected by carefully cleaning your needles with bleach and water before use and always wearing a condom. If used properly with a spermicidal water-based lubricant, condoms are the only defence available if you are having sexual intercourse.

Using condoms is by no means safe! They merely reduce the risk. So think about it if you are or plan to be sexually active. Talk with your parents, doctor or nurse, or call the AIDS information line toll free for more information (1-800-661-0507).

Having the disease is a very painful experience compounded by ignorance and prejudice.

The stigma that has been attached to HIV disease and AIDS is not only unfair but dangerous. If we fail to recognize this disease as the very serious health threat that it is (as opposed to a moral issue), then we may find that we have driven a great many of the people who are now or soon will become infected into a grave state of denial.

Driving this disease underground will NOT make it go away.

If someone told you that they are going to die of pneumonia because of a relationship in college ten years ago or that they are dying of a rare cancer because they had unprotected sex with their husband five years ago, would you think that they deserved it because of their "lifestyle?" Is it any less worse than AIDS?

If someone told you that they can't come out and play today because they are too tired, that they were born with a virus that their mother didn't know she had at the time and now they must be very careful of not becoming too fatigued, what would you say?

AIDS is NOT about fags and junkies, nor is it about prostitutes and losers. It is not about unlucky Africans nor is it contained in the big cities of the South. It is about people who are going to die because they have a disease. Our brothers and sisters, our aunts and uncles, our children, our friends,.....anyone.

There is no cure but there is hope, in prevention and in understanding.

Special thanks to all who that attended and organized this event.

THE CLEARING HOUSE

by Fran Hakonson & Evelyn DuBois

Does the fact that mens shirts button on the left and womens on the right have anything to do with the left and right hemispheres of the brain and the basic differences between men and women?

A very interesting question! But buttoning clothing has nothing to do with left and right hemispheres of the brain; it is just custom. In the past men generally dressed themselves, and since most were right-handed, it was sensible to button from the right. Women were usually dressed by maids, and it was easier for them to work from their right (the woman's left.)

Do National Polls (e.g. Decima) ever phone anyone in the Yukon when conducting a poll?

Not only do they phone to the Yukon for opinions, but they phone right to Dawson City, as we can vouch from personal experience.

And a Very Merry Christmas to all from both of us!

First of all, I'd like to thank those of you who "thought warm temperatures" as I requested last month. Although no maximum temperatures were set, the month was definitely a warm improvement over last November. I'm sure it was all those warm thoughts that made the difference. So, you ask, "How much warmer was it?" I just happen to have some figures to compare (Fahrenheit temperatures are in brackets).

WEATHER REPORT

In November, 1990, we had 25 days below -17.8 (0.0), compared to 21 days this November. Big deal! That's what I thought, too. So, I compared temperatures below -30 (-22), and came up with 17 days last year, compared to only six days this year. Much better! I saved the best and most important comparison to ZERO (none) this November. That's why November went by so quickly!

Well, on to the other stats for November that you all can hardly wait to see (I know someone must read them, or I would have been cancelled by now).

We didn't break the record for most snowfall in a 24-hour period of 27.4 cm (10.8 in.). We got a little over half-way to the record on the 23rd when we got 16.4 cm (6.5 in.). I'm sure there are a lot more happy snomobilers now than at the end of October. Thanks to the dumping of snow we got, we ended the month of November with the same amount of snow depth on the ground this year as we had at the end of November last year (thrilling information, don't you think?).

I'll be on holidays through Christmas and New Year's, so you won't be getting my report first thing next year. I will be back to report on the wonderful month of J-J-January (a shiver came over me thinking about January!).

To all of you fine readers of the Klondike Sun: have a very Merry Christmas and have a safe and happy holiday season from myself and my dear wife, Joni. See you in 1992.

Christmas Production:

Once again, Robert Service School will be involved in a total school production for the Christmas season. Students from Kindergarten to Grade 12 and the staff of the school will join forces in this year's pageant, entitled "A Klondike Christmas".

Set in Dawson in 1898, the production follows the story of two miners who experience a very special kind of Christmas amidst the excitement and drama of a holiday in the Klondike capital. Woven around the main plot are group parts for all the elementary children. Students from Grades 7-12 will take acting roles or work with the production crew on costumes, set construction, props, lighting, decorations, advertising and backdrops.

Plan to attend the one and only performance of "A Klondike Christmas", to be presented at the school on Thursday, December 19 at 7 P.M. Admission is free (though any donations to help cover our costs would be welcome). It is our way of wishing you a Merry Christmas at this happy time of year.

students and the community. Through discussion and involvement in the process of decision making, it is hoped that students will develop a sense of ownership of the rules. Two representatives from each class will meet with members of the staff to develop the wording of a code of conduct based on the information collected from all classes.

Volleyball Season Winds Down:

The Yukon Volleyball Championships were held in Whitehorse over the weekend of December 1, and Dawson was well represented by four teams. The senior boy's team (Knights) won the silver medal at the tournament while the senior girls (Damsels) took the bronze. Special thanks go to this year's coaches: Mrs. Webster, Mr. Dragoman, Ms Supple, Mrs. Kobayashi and Mr. Nadeau.

Band Concert Well Received:

Our 36 member band gave its first concert on Dec. 3. Attendance was good in spite of the severe temperatures and the enthusiastic response from the audience indicated its appreciation for the hard work of the students and their teacher, Mr. McConnell.

Dance Program:

We have obtained funding to pilot a project to integrate dance/movement education across the curriculum at the intermediate level. Ms Dale Cooper began working with our classes two week before Christmas and will continue for the month of January on a part-time basis.

Art Survey:

Ms. Pennell, our vice-principal and art teacher, has just completed an art survey of the schools in Area III for the Department of Education. The purpose of the survey was to gain an awareness of trends in art education in Yukon schools, and it will be combined with studies being carried out in Areas I and II.

START Program Extended:

The school has received word from the Dawson Indian Band that the Stay-in-School-Initiative (START) program has been extended to the end of the school year in May. The federally funded pilot project was originally scheduled to end in March. This will mean that the work being done by Jim Johnson (special needs counselling), Pam Lawrie (mentoring project) and Grant Hartwick (video resource coordinator) will continue uninterrupted for this year. This is good news for the school, as we have concentrated a great deal of energy into dealing with the social and emotional problems of students this year.

Substitute Teachers Needed:

As the school year progresses and many of our substitutes are no longer available, the school is accepting applications from people interested in substitute teaching. Please give the school a call and arrange a time to come in and discuss it with us.

Christmas Wishes:

On behalf of the staff of Robert Service School, I would like to take this opportunity to wish you all a joyous Christmas season. May you and your family experience a happy and healthy New Year.

School Dates to Remember:

Dec. 19: Christmas Pageant and SEVEC Raffle Draw
Dec. 20: Last day of School before Christmas

School Band Shines at First Performance

by Dan Davidson

The fledgling Robert Service School Concert Band tried its wings in public for the first time on December 3. The 20 minute concert was an unqualified success and a real tribute to the work of the 34 band members and their teacher, Adam McConnell. Starting from scratch in a school which has not had a band before, with students who have never played band instruments, McConnell has created a working unit which can carry simple tunes, work together in unison and create a lively sound.

There were only 8 short pieces on the program: "Two-Four March", "Jolly Old Saint Nicholas", "Merrily We Roll Along", "Victor's March", "Old MacDonald", "Lightly Row", "Good King Wenceslas" and "Jingle Bells". They were presented with a great deal of enthusiasm by the combination of percussion, trumpets, flutes, trombones and clarinets.

If the band's can do this well on its first outing, it will certainly be interesting to see what they are able to do a year from now.

The evening was concluded with a pie sale and social gathering to raise money for the school's planned exchange trip to Quebec later in the year.

Education key to economic advantage, Minister says

GENEVA PARK, Ont.—(NC)—Education is the most important component in developing a comparative advantage in a world market place. delegates to the annual Couchiching Conference here were told this summer.

Theme for the 1991 conference was "Growing Up: The Undiscovered Generation and Our Future". The Minister of State for Youth, Pierre H. Cadieux, said Canada's future hinges on education.

"Staying in school is the key to the individual prosperity of our youth. And the quality of Canadian education training and learning is the key to Canada's prosperity as a whole."

Describing the national drop-out rate—30 per cent—as a national crisis, the minister said it is one of the highest in the industrialized world.

"We must view these comparative drop out rates in the context of Canada's competitive position and Canada's competitive prospects.

"Canada, as everyone knows, is a trading nation...world trade has doubled (in eight years)...yet our share of world trade has declined from 5.1 per cent to 4.2 per cent in the last five years, the steepest decline of any of the G-7 nations.

The minister, who is responsible for the national Stay-in-School Initiative, said youth dropping out of school is clearly the major challenge facing the nation. He added, however, that there is also a problem of the quality and focus of higher education.

STAY IN SCHOOL

There are predictions that Canada will be short at least 25,000 engineers by the year 2000. To encourage more young people to enter science and technology fields, the federal government is spending $80 million over five years for scholarships to undergraduates in these fields.

The Stay-in-School Initiative, launched in 1990, has earmarked nearly $300 million in an effort to help reduce the high school drop-out rate. The initiative has three components: a public awareness element designed to make Canadians aware of the drop-out problem, a mobilization component to encourage stakeholders to work cooperatively at the local level to encourage youth to stay in school and, programs and services designed to assist students at risk of dropping out to further their education.

Mr. Cadieux acknowledged provincial jurisdiction in the field of education and said: "The challenge is very simple. In order to compete abroad, we must cooperate at home. Education holds the key to both."

DAWSON CITY SANTA

by Liane Faulder

"A long time ago, when I was younger and braver than I am now, our family moved from Summerland, B.C., to Dawson City in the Yukon. For reasons that were out of my control, we started this trip one week before Christmas. In the car we had our four children, a dog and cat and, I think, no brains.

It started snowing the first night we left and was still snowing five days later when we arrived in Dawson City. Five days of driving in a snowstorm gave us the opportunity to experience real 'togetherness' which has lasted us to this day."

So begins the winning entry in the Edmonton Journal's Life Department 1990 Best Christmas Story Contest. The story comes from Flora MacArthur, who lives on an acreage in Carvel, outside Stony Plain, Alberta. She won a brunch for four at the Edmonton Inn and a house-cleaning service to help tidy up after the holidays.

MacArthur's best Christmas happened thirty years ago, when Flora's husband, Cormie, had taken a job as a bush pilot in the Yukon. It was 16 degrees C when they left Summerland, and when they arrived in Dawson City, it was roughly minus 40.

"The scary thing is that we drove almost day and night because there was just nowhere to stop," said MacArthur. Along the way, they hit a moose on the highway and the car headlights quit working while they were driving on a dangerous mountain road in the dead of night. "But we couldn't stop because it was too cold and we were worried we'd freeze to death."

At one point on the trip, their car couldn't make it up a small hill, so Cormie and the two oldest children, age ten and twelve, hooked a rope to the front bumper and pulled while Flora drove. "I kept thinking we'd get up the hill and then I'd run my family over," recalls MacArthur.

The family had taken no Christmas gifts with them on the trip, thinking they could buy what they needed when they arrived in Dawson City. "However, on arriving in Dawson we found that two days before Christmas, both of the stores were completely sold out of anything connected with Christmas, to say nothing of Christmas gifts," relates MacArthur in her prize-winning entry.

Christmas Eve was hard on MacArthur. The youngest children hadn't clued into the Santa thing, and were still eagerly anticipating morning, which made her feel terrible. The older ones knew exactly what was going on and were already depressed.

"For the first time in my life I went to bed on Christmas Eve without a feeling of happy anticipation," she writes. "When out on the porch, there arose such a clatter, we sprang from our beds to see what was the matter!"

"Outside stood a stranger with a sleigh piled high with gifts. She told us she had gone to bed and had started to think that perhaps these newcomers hadn't brought anything with them for Christmas, and she knew it was too late to buy anything in Dawson. Up out of bed she got, took half of the presents from under their tree, half of all their Christmas goodies, piled everything in a sleigh, and walked a mile and a half, in minus 40 degree weather at midnight on Christmas Eve in Dawson City.

"I thought for a while that it could have perhaps been Santa Claus in disguise. But then I realized, no, it was the real Spirit of Christmas."

MacArthur says she was at first astounded by this act of generosity, but when she later got to know her Christmas visitor - they became friends - she learned it was entirely in keeping with her character.

In 1990, the MacArthurs gathered at the acreage in Carvel with five of their six children (one lives in Winnipeg and couldn't come), plus a multitude of spouses, grandchildren and dogs, plus a cat and a canary.

And Santa still comes, as he did, sort of, one cold night in Dawson City, thirty years ago.

Editor's Note:

This story appeared in the Edmonton Journal of December 24, 1990, written by Liane Faulder, copyright, the Edmonton Journal, and reprinted with permission of author, who is a staff writer for the Journal.

A number of our Edmonton subscribers notified us of this wonderful story, and we did track down the MacArthur family phone number. A number of times we tried to make contact this past spring, but never caught anyone home. We tried again this winter, only to discover that the MacArthurs had moved. So are we still left wondering just who the "Dawson SANTA" really is. Do you know? Or perhaps, do you know where we can reach the MacArthur family. We'll donate a year's subscription to anyone who can help us solve this mystery.

Klondyke Centennials

by John Gould

 1994 100 years of the Yukon Order of Pioneers
 1995 100 years of Mounted Police in the Yukon
 1996 100 years since gold was discovered on Bonanza
 1997-1998 100 years since the Klondike gold rush
 1998 100 years since the formation of the Yukon
 2002 100 years for Dawson City

The above is a list of some of the forthcoming centennials, some of these events may be local events but the centennial of the Klondike Gold Rush is an international event. Once the word was out in 1897, about how rich the gold fields in the far north were, people came from all over the world. Maybe, with the proper planning, we can create another rush in 1997 and 1998. With the proper planning this could have a beneficial effect on tourism to the Yukon and the Klondike in particular for years to come.

In 1988 the City of Dawson formed a Centennial Advisory Board, whose job it was to make suggestions to the city on what could be done for the forthcoming centennials. A number of ideas were made to the city in a report in April, 1989.

1 - Have a TV series made of the gold rush based on one of the many books on the subject. Film could be done by CBC or some major corporation.

2 - Encourage Canada Post to move to the Old Post Office building across from the Palace Grand.

3 - Have a series of stamps produced for the centennials.

4 - Ask the Canadian Mint to produce commemorative dollars for each year of the gold rush.

Letters were sent to Audrey McLaughlin asking for her help. As a result the Mint placed it on their list of considerations. A decision will not be made until late 1994 or early 1995.

There were many other ideas made but the above were the major ones, some are already started, i.e. planting of 100 trees several of which were planted last summer across from the Commissioner's Residence. Parks Canada has started restoration of the Commissioner's Residence and work has commenced on No. 4 Dredge.

Once the report went to the City, the Board was disbanded. However, a few people kept it alive and in June of 1990, the Klondyke Centennial Society was formed. (Klondyke with a "Y" as of old.) The society's primary function is to facilitate and promote planning to focus on the centennials and the community. Dawson requires a form in which all groups, organizations, business, agencies and government can plan jointly so that their collective efforts will maximize the centennials.

Recently the Klondyke Centennial Society had a meeting with the Yukon Anniversaries Commission in the Downtown Hotel. A brief was presented to the Commission outlining the Society, its structure, roles and responsibilities and a short term action plan.

Plans are now being made by the K.C.S. for a drop-in centre for the summer of 1992. This drop-in centre will be in the centre room of the Waterfront Building. There will be a photo display of the traffic on the river during 1943 when a lot of material went through Dawson headed for Fairbanks, Alaska. As well, there will be a display promoting the centennial of the Gold Rush. It is hoped that this centre can be staffed by volunteers as money at this time is non-existent. It is proposed to have the centre open 4 to 6 hours a day possibly between 2 p.m. and 8 p.m.

There is a project under way now to have a logo designed for the Society for use during the centennials.

The Klondyke Centennial Society is planning on a public meeting early in the new year. It is hoped that it will be well attended by interested groups and Dawsonites.

Count down to the centennial of "Gold Discovery" -- 5 years, 8 months!

Notice

The Klondyke Centennial Society is looking for a Logo suitable for use during the forthcoming 100th anniversaries.

In particular -
 1996 -Gold Discovery
 1997-1998 -Gold Rush
 1998 -Yukon as a Territory
 2002 -City of Dawson

According to the dictionary a logo is a word sign, i.e. ¢ = cent.

The winning design should identify with the Klondike.

- Must be uncluttered with clean lines

- must not be too busy
 - Must not conflict with other logos that may be in use.

The winning logo may be used in all correspondence, advertising and merchandising, etc.

All entries must be in a sealed envelope marked "Logo Design" on the outside and left at the City Office by NOON, January 30, 1992. All entries will be opened in public at 4:30 p.m. on January 30 in the Council Chambers.

Logo submissions should be a minimum size of 8 inches by 10 inches, on a good quality paper stock. The designer could also suggest colour combinations. Designers name to appear on the back of the design only, no initials or identifying marks are to appear on the front.

The Centennial Committee has a limited amount of money at this time but are offering $100.00 to the designer of the winning logo and $100.00 a year for the next 12 years . .

On the weekend of Nov. 15, seventeen teams from Haines Junction, Porter Creek, F.H. Collins, Faro, Old Crow, and Dawson participated in the 13th Annual Dawson Invitational Volleyball Tournament.

It started out on Friday at 9 A.M. and ran through until Saturday night, wrapping up with a big dance.

The Dawson Damsels and Knights went undefeated all of Friday and Saturday right up till the finals. In the senior girls' final game the Damsels took the first round over the F.H. Collins Tigers, but lost the next two games in the confusion and tension which followed the injury of their main setter, Meaghan Berriman, who sprained her ankle.

In the mens' final match the Knights, after experiencing no competition earlier in the tournament, finally met their match with the F.H. Warriors, who took the gold in two games.

All in all the tournament, which was organized by the Robert Service School P.E. 11/12 class, under the direction of Mr. Sutherland, went well, and everyone had a good time.

Christmas Cactus

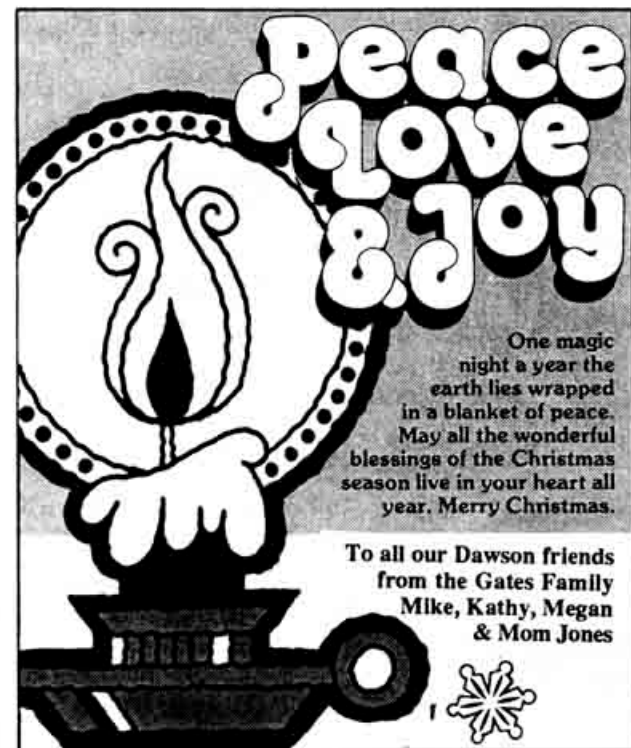

An old, old friend once gave to me
A Christmas Cactus cutting.
Hundreds of miles from its source it sat,
And sat, and sat, and did nothing.

"You must do more than water it"
Or so the wives' tale goes --
"You must tell it that you love it
If you would see it grow."

So I whispered "I do love you.
You remind me of my friend."
I see you with your blossoms --
Your greetings at year's end.
