48 Hour Film Competition Lights up the Night

Press Release by Dan Sokolowski Photos by Dan Davidson

Seventy people and numerous sleep deprived filmmakers gathered at the Odd Fellows Hall in Dawson City on the evening of January 29 to watch films that had not existed 48 hours previously!

While there were a few casualties, 11 films made it to the big screen in KIAC's 48 Hour Film Competition. With entries from erstwhile Dawsonites in Whitehorse and Kamloops, the audience was treated to a collage of cinematic styles ranging from animations, documentaries, heartfelt personal stories and some just plain mid-winter lunacy.

When the lights came on the jury decided that Chris Clarke's untitled (and self awarded "Most kilometers traveled while trying to make a 48 Hour Film") won the "Flocons D'Or" award for the best film of the evening. Chris's film will be screened at the 2012 Dawson City International Short Film Festival (April 5-8). 2011 winners, Aubyn O'Grady and Evan Rensch scored a slightly used DCISFF Pillow as the Audience favorite for their documentary "Opening up Community Chest: Broken but not Dead".

Other films and jury awards:

Kit Hepburn: "Lines (and Weird Noises)"; Most Lines Done in a

Karen Mackay: "Not Just in the Kitchen"; Best use of Drugs/Best soundtrack made by a Judge

Meg Walker: "January Brain"; I Wish I Was on Drugs Award Holly Haustein: "Untitled"; The Lilly Award

Trina Buhler: "A Decade of Day Planners"; The OCD Award Jay Armitage: "Time is Up"; The Golden Pander Award Sheriden Gunter: "Shopping?"; Best Clown Car Award

Jenna Roebuck, Georgia Hammond & Molly Shore: "Sh*t Aaron Burnie Says"; Best Abuse of AB Award

Eryn Foster and Elaine Corden: "It seemed Like a Good Idea at the Time"; The WTF Award

A congrats to all the hard working filmmakers, the judges, Stefan Popescu and David Curtis for their tech help. Thanks to KIAC, the Yukon Film Society and NFVIA for their assistance in organizing this event. Judges for the event were John Steins, Veronica Verkley, Charles Stankeiwich and Stefan Popescu.

Story & Photos by Dan Davidson

Speaking on behalf of Industry the Tourism Association of the Yukon ((TIAY), Neil Hartling was one of the presenters at the recent Boom and Beyond conference in Dawson City. His topic was "Look Downstream (Look Far)" and was focussed particularly on tourism along the Yukon River corridor.

Hartling said that Yukon tourism provides revenue for between 26% and 29% of the territory's businesses

TIA Yukon's Neil Hartling addresses the Boom and Beyond Conference on January 19.

Tourism in the Yukon River Corridor and is one of the largest private sector employers, accounting for up to 7.2% of the Yukon's GDP, amounting to as much as $197 million.

There is a great range of travellers, from individuals to motor coach groups, from hostellers to high-end visitors on $35,000 custom tours.

During 2010, Statistics Canada reported that the Yukon led Canada in general in returning to pre-recession levels of "one or more night travel by non-residents."

Dawson, he said, is an excellent example of how tourism and mining have been linked and prosper together. The links are historically, culturally and important economically and the local economy is strongest with both.

The Klondike, he said, is not the Peel. It has a long history with a mixed economy and mixed land use.

The Yukon River corridor has a blend of scenery, wildlife and history which, combined with its accessibility, makes "it the most popular canoe route in Canada's North."

Dawson, he continued, can be described as the gold at the end of that corridor, being "an authentic gold rush town busting with attractions", a showcase for "Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in heritage and culture", a growing center for arts and music, and the jumping off point to both the Dempster Highway and Tombstone Territorial Park.

'We wholly support the KVA's claim that you haven't seen the Yukon if you haven't seen Dawson."

Speaking to development of a regional plan, Hartling indicated

- the Dawson Region will be strongest with a mixed economy;
- there should be a balance of existing uses as well as the non-uses, including mining, tourism, recreation and traditional uses;
- the plan should ensure that all factors are integrated into, and valued, within it.

Some suggestions relating specifically to the river were:

- to ensure that the Yukon River has an adequate buffer along the river, recognizing the importance of viewscapes. The buffers that are now used for most industrial activities are only 30 metres – a kilometre would be better.
- to identify and protect significant hikes off the
- access points off the River for industrial activity,
- to ensure river access points are access points and not industrial staging areas to ensure all equipment is stored out of sight.

- to protect the sites along the river most heavily used by other travellers.
- to ensure viewscapes along the highway corridor are protected, especially Five Finger Rapids and the Dempster Highway.
- to ensure trails leading to, and access points bordering, Tombstone Territorial Park, are protected.
- to ensure the Dawson Trail is preserved for winter use by the Yukon Quest and other users.
- to ensure tourism • to limit the number of businesses can sustainably, and predictably, offer river cruises and other products on the river.
 - to minimize wildlife decades ago.

disruption as much as possible, particularly during key cycles such as calving.

• to provide planners with tools, such as the Mining-Tourism Memorandum of Understanding (2008), to resolve potential conflicts when implementing the plan.

Hartling's talk generally well received, the most contentious point being the one kilometre buffer recommendation. It was noted by people who have lived along the river that such a buffer would have precluded their residency there. Gerry Couture noted that his family still hears positively from travellers who visited them when they lived along the river some

Uffish Thoughts: The End of the Kodak Moment

by Dan Davidson

"Mama don't take my Kodachrome away..."- Paul Simon

It's surprising how quickly references technological become dated. That line from Paul Simon's "Kodachrome" - indeed, the very title itself - will require a footnote in a few years. So will the popular saying about something being a "Kodak moment".

This line of thought is prompted by the news that Eastman Kodak, the company that put photography into everyone's hands, has filed for bankruptcy protection.

My first several cameras were Kodaks, something bound to be true of just about anyone who was a teenager in the 1960s. My mother had one of those box Brownies with the view-finder that flipped up and gave you a hazy view of your subject. You held it in the middle of your chest, which gave the shot an unusual perspective.

I had a simple Instamatic 126 model for a few years but eventually moved to the very simple 110 model. Both of these had viewfinders that were separate and slightly off-center from the actual lens, which sometimes led to a person losing an arm in the finished photo. I used the 110 for years, graduating to an SLR type only when I began to do newspaper work.

Along the way I also owned a couple of Polaroids, a move dictated by living in rural Yukon, a long way from film as my main personal camera digital cameras these days.)

It gave me the ability to select the pictures I wanted to use with an article and the option of writing the caption right along with the rest of it. It took the guess work out of getting an image and let me try different

According to what I've been able to read on this subject, Kodak pioneered a lot of the developments that have source of revenue, and failed to diversify their product line, or to drop obsolete items. It's only been about a year since they discontinued making Kodachrome film.

Polaroid also seemed to have gone the way of the dodo as well, having ceased production of film based cameras in 2007 and the film itself in 2009. Indeed, the original name itself is now just a shell owned by another company,

Part of the company became Polaroid Eyewear and its focus (pardon the pun) is on sunglass lenses, which was the area where Polaroid had its first commercial success. The brand name is also attached to LCDs, plasma televisions and DVD players.

Both companies failed to see a world where the majority of picture taking would be done with cell phones or other multifunction handheld devices, and people would carry their personal albums around with them in digital form or post them on a social media site.

Recentlyhowever, arevamped Polaroid has partnered with Lady Gaga to produce a line of portable printers suitable for use with cell phones.

As Creative Director of the company, she said, "I created the GL10 because everyone loves to take photos with their mobile phones - and the next evolution is to combine digital images with instant photography, bringing photos to life in vibrant colours that you can share, from the palm of your hand."

processing facilities.

The mere existence of the Polaroid camera is an early sign of Kodak's tendency to have blind spots. The company let the instant camera market get away from them in much the same way as they have apparently lost the digital race.

My first digital camera was a Kodak, a DC210 Plus, purchased in 1999, in spite of much scoffing by some friends who were dedicated film buffs. (Note: they also own and use angles and compositions without having to spend a fortune on developing or having to spend the time it would take to do my own processing. Also, it let me know that I actually had a photo I could use, which was something I was never quite sure of when using film.

In addition, it cut a good six hours off the time it took to lay out an issue of our local paper, an important consideration in any volunteer organization. These days our darkroom

Letters to the Editor: In Defence of the Sled Dawgs

An open letter to Kirsten Lorenz:

Dear Kirsten,

I was very disappointed in the letter that you wrote about the Sled Dawgs. First, I had no idea who you were, even though you say you have lived here for 10 years, which meant that you do not participate in events in our community. If you did you would realize that the Dawson Sled Dawgs are an organization that donates hundreds of hours to our community in family functions. I would suggest to you that you find out what they do before you criticize.

They probably do less to planet earth than you do with living across the river—propane, running a chainsaw, using a boat or the ferry in the summer, buying food trucked into Dawson and so on. I suggest to you that you move to a city and begin your crusade there where planet earth is really affected.

Also, I am offended by all the dog shit and piss that your team leaves on the river front. The smell is awful in the spring and it gets washed into the river. I am sure that your family foot print is as large as all the rest of

So hats off to the Sled Dawgs for their community spirit and thumbs down to Kirsten. I am really fed up with you new people coming into our community and wanting to change it. If you don't like it go back to where you came from.

resident of 50-plus years

In reponse to Kirsten Lorenz's open letter:

I have been a part of this town since 1988 and my story is much like everyone else's coming to Dawson. I was impressed how the town's people were so friendly and open armed and there was a great sense of community. After reading Kirsten's open letter, I am starting to realize that the community is slowly dividing the society groups. Yes, there have always been these groups but they have always been able to co-exist and work together. Where did we go wrong?

Kirsten, because of your actions and your approach on this matter, you are now singling out dog mushers with your hypocritical views. Unfortunately people who enjoy dog mushing are guilty by association. Don't get me wrong I know a few mushers that are great and level headed people (unlike yourself).

Since the paper was released with your article in it, I have been overwhelmed with people stopping me on the street, phone calls, emails and coming to my house all in support of the Dawson City Sled Dawgs. I have heard everything from "Don't worry about Kirsten, she's always crying about something", to "next time I see a dog musher I want to run over their dogs".

Now I realize no one in town would ever do this, but it just goes to show how upset people are about your hypocritical views. I will not get into your false accusations or how you emailed the club your letter after the newspapers deadline so that the Dawson City Sled Dawgs could not respond to your letter until the next issue.

So my question to you, Kirsten, is, where do we go

I have comprised a fun little trivia and factoids game

DID YOU KNOW:

According to an Environment Canada estimate a 70 hp 2 stroke out board motor emits the same mass of hydrocarbon pollution in one hour as a fuel injected car does after driving 8.000 kilometers.

The California Air quality Board estimates that a personal watercraft used for 7 hours will produce more smog – forming emissions than a 1998 passenger car driven for 100,000 miles. A four stroke engine is 40 to 50 percent more efficient than a two stroke. Now I understand your family owns a Yamaha 4 stroke outboard motor, so I will give you the benefit of the doubt, and you can cut those numbers in half. That should really make you feel good about protecting Mother Earth.

I would like to know, after reading this fun little fact, will you now be paddling your boat up and down the river? Are you going to write a nice letter to the Band telling them they can't have Moosehide Gathering because they are killing our sacred river with their outboard motors? Are you catching on yet, stay with me I have got more to go.

Let's talk a little about dog mushing...

DID YOU KNOW:

According to a U.S. environment research group which states that just one ounce of dog feces contains 23 million microorganisms of bacteria- nearly twice that of a human wastes, and 10 times that of a cow.

An average size dog dropping contains three billion fecal coliform bacteria, much higher than most other animals. I will help you out in saying I am sure you do your best in cleaning up after your dogs at the city docks. But you can never get it all, especially when you are mushing down the trails with the wind in your hair, enjoying Mother Earth.

So, that being said, let's do some math. They say the average dog produces a half a pound of feces a day. Now you quoted in the paper you take your kids to school with eight dogs, that's an average of four pounds a day that could potentially be dropped on the ice and melt in the river during break up. An average of five trips to town a week, four weeks a month, five months of river travel. So your dogs potentially could deposit 400 lbs of waste on the river.

Remember this based on average dogs not race or sled dogs. You notice I am being nice and saying potentially depositing on the river. Unlike yourself, claiming the ice racing cars are dripping oil and polluting the river.

Now back to the research results, they have found when dog feces breaks down in water its starts giving off ammonia, which in turn kills fish. I can go on tell you what happens when the bacteria, nutrients, and ammonia from decaying dog feces reaches the ocean. But I think you get my point. Now you add the Quest dogs coming down the river, and the Percy dogs, oh yeah and the Sunnydale Classic, and other local mushers. All I can say is potentially that is a lot of

So now you can see that you are polluting the river here also, are you wanting to shut down the Quest, Percy, Sunnydale classic and other recreation dog mushers? When you figure it out let us know, because I am sure everyone is dying to hear what you have to

DID YOU KNOW:

In accordance with Part 13 Section 13 of the Yukon Environmental and Socio-economic Assessment Act, Which pertains to the leveling/grading/plowing, no permit is required nor is a YESAA screening required for the work that was done on the Yukon River. The Area in Ouestion is not on land. It is on the frozen river surface. The NWT government claims that ice roads are the most environmentally friendly roads out there to build and maintain in our environment.

So if you would like to contest this fact and still try and shut down the ice track, you will also have to contest the Minto Mine Ice Bridge, Dawson City Ice Bridge, Fort Macpherson Ice Bridge and any other ice bridge users in the Yukon.

I have a lot more facts and points of interests I could talk about, but I think I will keep them for another day. Basically what it boils down to is that you and a few individuals think you own West Dawson Sunnydale and the river. I am here to tell you, you do not and you never will.

I am sick of you hiding behind the environment to try and get your way. This town was doing great before you immigrated here and it will do even better after you

Potentially speaking for half the town, have a good winter.

Scott deWindt

In response to Kirsten Lorenz's open letter:

Dear editor,

I would like to thank all the members and volunteers who over the years since the Sled Dawgs were founded have worked hard to build an organization that a community can be proud of.

I was involved with this organization from the beginning, when we would build ice racing tracks on the river and host snowmobile races year after year. The location of these tracks would change from year to year depending on how the river froze and where the smoother ice is. These race weekends would have people of all ages participating, and probably the largest crowds to ever congregate on the ice in front of Dawson to watch the high speed (and sometimes not so fast) action.

Since these times the "Dawgs" have grown away from the racing and are even more community orientated by hosting slide and rides, fun runs, poker runs, the Diamond Dempster days, and do not even require that you be a member to participate, although it is encouraged. The club also has assisted other organizations when possible like the ski hill, Percy DeWolfe, Trek, Fulda, building, grooming trails to be used by any and all that enjoy to get outside in winter.

Years ago all of this would only receive high praise from this community, but apparently the dynamics in this community have changed, now we have "user groups" that seem to be working at segregating themselves from other "user groups" and dividing this community even farther apart then it already has become. I do not condone this, nor do I feel that it does this community any good.

I am quite confident that there is more than enough space for everyone to enjoy it however they like, but people need to realize that there are other users with just as much right as anyone that may have a different way of utilizing this land we live in. It is unfortunate that some people move here and feel that everything should revolve around their beliefs and way of life, that they are the only ones who matter in this world and need to make it known by spewing off at the mouth before getting all the facts.

Perhaps there is a place where they are the only ones that matter, but it isn't here. Maybe these people should look elsewhere.

Will Fellers

In support of the Dawson City Sled Dawgs:

The Dawson City Sled Dawgs play a key role in the operations and development of our local ski hill. As our own groomer has aged they have assisted with hill grooming with their newer groomer so that we are able to have safe and enjoyable runs. We currently share a shop at the ski hill which was made possible by their keen involvement.

The Dawson City Sled Dawgs promote different recreational pursuits in the community which in turn adds to the diversity of the town.

The Dawson Ski Association is not in a position to comment specifically about a recent letter to the editor, but we feel that it is important that the community knows that the Dawson City Sled Dawgs are a hard working group of volunteers who help individuals and organizations and by doing so they make Dawson City a better place to live.

Sincerely,

Northern Cross (Yukon) Ltd (NCY). spent last week touring the Yukon to remind people of the company's return to active exploration in the Eagle Plain area, stir up some local interest, give an indication of their plans for the coming season and answer a few questions.

Four of the five members of the company's management team were on display in Whitehorse, Mayo, Dawson City and Old Crow.

David Thompson, CEO; Richard Wyman. President; Rocky Snippa, VP Operations; Don Stachiw, VP, Exploration; Greg Charlie, VP, Gov't & Com. Relations were in Dawson at the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in Community Hall on January 31. Only Hao Yu Leng, the Chief Financial officer was absent. Leng is an appointee of the China National Offshore Oil Company (CNOOC), which has recently injected a large amount of investment capital into Northern Cross.

The company was founded by Thompson and Wyman and incorporated in the Yukon in 1994, with the intention of following up on Eagle Plain exploration that dates back to the 1950s 1960s and 1970s, when it was shown that oil and gas reserves existed, but when the price was so low it wasn't worth following up.

Northern Cross had the misfortune to begin its operations, and locate oil of such quality that test tanks were burned in Whitehorse without the need of refining, at the time when the Yukon's mining industry (other the steady production of placer gold) was in free fall. The most obvious use for product (either oil or natural gas) from Eagle Plain was in power generation, and there just wasn't a need.

That situation has changed in the last several years, with several new mines in operation and more on the horizon. There has been a staking boom that may lead to hard rock gold mines as well as other types of minerals. Many of these potential mines will be at some distance from Yukon Energy's power grid, even if the company could generate enough power for those purposes, so on-site generation capacity will probably be needed.

Wyman and Thompson feel that natural gas from their properties would be a natural fit for such projects.

Company literature states, "It is Northern Cross's plan that its efforts will reduce Yukon's dependence on expensive imported petroleum products."

Northern Cross is the owner and operator of three Significant Discovery Licenses (SDL's) in the Eagle Plain Basin. The three SDL's include four wells, all of which were drilled in the 1960s, but which never achieved commercial production status. The company has continued acquire mineral rights in Eagle Plain and currently owns and operates 15 exploration permits, totalling approximately million 1.3 the acres, of majority which are 100% Northern Cross.

Over the next 18 months it intends to drill five wells in the area, something it must do to satisfy the terms and obtain a further years' extension on them. In preparation for this endeavor, the company has been reexamining data previously collected on its holdings and has future plans that could include refining the product in the territory for use in the territory first.

both oil and natural gas, and Don Stachiw indicated that he felt it was likely the latter would be brought into production first, as little as five years down the road if reserves prove out as expected.

Wyman and Thompson agreed that new, more sophisticated analysis tools are revealing information that just could not have been turned up at the time when some of the initial test drilling was done.

Richard Wyman presented the company's slide show to a group of about a dozen locals, emphasizing the company's desires to work safely, use local people, be open and honest, use teamwork effectively, include everyone and have as small an environmental impact as possible.

According to the Geologic Survey of Canada, the region could supply enough product to meet the territory's energy needs for several hundred years at current use levels, with a potential of 6000 billion cubic feet (Bcf) of conventional natural gas and 450 million barrels (mmbbls) of conventional crude oil.

The room was papered with fifteen information posters, samples of the gas and oilbearing strata and some of the oil itself, video footage of area under consideration and a CGI video of how the modular drill rigs function.

Chamber of Commerce president Helen Bowie was keen to make sure that NVY realized Dawson could supply a lot of its needs in the field, as it has been doing for gold miners for years.

Wyman emphasized that the company would endeavor to both hire and purchase goods and services in the Yukon. While the exploratory program would not create a great number of jobs, the plan the company would like to see followed would produce local economic opportunities in the production phase.

The feeling at the meeting was very positive, though it might be noted that Dawson saw this same kind of optimism in the 1990s and actually renamed the annual Gold Show to add gas and oil to its name, a change which was short lived at that time.

Light Show Captivates the ODD Gallery

Story & Photos by Dan Davidson

While there are many kinds of interesting exhibits at Dawson's ODD Gallery, it is not too often that the sort of avantgarde art work that tends to be on display there is of any particular interest to young children.

That is certainly not the case with Sarah Smalik's "My Father, the Sun & the Hungry Ghosts".

While the Kindergarten class which visited the display recently would have taken nothing at all from the symbolically dense title, they were captivated by the reflected coloured lights.

For this exhibit the gallery showroom has been curtained off so that it can be darkened, and when the main lights are off and the coloured spotlights come on, they shine a rainbow range of light on the tiny mirror squares that hang by their hundreds (if not thousands) in the center of the room, throwing dancing images of light on the bare south wall and on the ceiling while casting lacy, looping shadows on the north wall.

The students were invited to step up and carefully move the hanging mirrored curtains and to observe their effect on the light show. When each had had a turn at this they were instructed to lie on the floor under the shimmering curtains and see what was happening on the ceiling.

They were very impressed, careful and very verv cooperative.

It's doubtful they would have taken anything from Smalik's artist's statement, in which she writes,

"My Father, the Sun and the Hungry Ghosts is a dismantling of the divine, where science and sanctity intersect, and the overlapping study of light and religion reveals a similar paradox: that it may blind you or clarify the way. These hungry ghosts speak of haunting traditions of the past that no longer make sense in the present, yet if we illuminate them we may uncover a beautiful and mysterious truth at the heart. And it sparkles in the dark.

"Expanding on the notion of "god as light," projection and sculptured mirrors have become obsessively devotional materials for making, as a physical and metaphorical means to reflect and dissect "the divine"—much like religion itself, light can both blind you

Panel Discussion Focuses on the Yukon River Corridor

Once upon a time, not much more than a generation ago, one of the most obvious things about the Klondike region was the number of rivers and streams that carved their way through it. It made sense, then, that the final item on the Boom and Beyond symposium's program in January was a panel discussion about living with rivers.

"A River Runs Through It" had the Yukon River as its particular focus and the panel members - Gerry Couture, Peggy Kormendy. Linda Taylor and Wally Hidinger - all had experience to bring to the table.

Gerry Couture, well known as a fisheries advocate, lived on the river with his family for twenty years, having moved onto the river in 1974.

"We lived on the river and we lived off the river. It provided much of what we needed to live ... and with a small income we were able to live."

Couture said that his family changed the part of the river they lived beside just by being there and that realization brought him to the conclusion that some sort of planning needed to be done.

In recent years, he said, the Yukon Queen II has changed another part of the river drastically, but not only that boat. He recalled travelling the river by boat, pushed along by a 15 horsepower motor. Today's boats have ten times that power.

"The Yukon River, from the very headwaters down," Couture said, "needs some sort his perspective on things was of process like this (referring to regional planning) because we have conflicting uses that are affecting the corridor ... the very lifeblood of the hinterland ... which, if uncontrolled and unmanaged, will devalue what the river is to us."

Some changes, he noted, are necessary. The building of the flood dyke in Dawson in 1987 moved the town farther away from an association with the river but it was necessary because of flooding.

"People (have to) learn not to fight this land," said Peggy Kormendy, who grew up alongside the river and fished it for many years. "They have to live and work with it. I got that from an elder quite a few years ago. I was born here in Dawson and we moved to Moosehide. I learned from the good elders we had at that time."

She contrasted the fishing techniques of the past with machine driven practices of today. Her parents told her that there did not used to be settlements the size of Dawson and that was more in tune with the capacity of the land.

Kormendy spent quite a bit of her time talking about the damage she has seen caused by the Yukon Queen II. It has damaged the shoreline with its wake, she said, washing away the sand where fish used to lay eggs and making it difficult to use the family's fish wheel.

"We've got to protect our watershed no matter what," she said, with specific reference to the Peel region, "because we can't live without water."

Wally Hidinger is the Director of Transportation Engineering with the Yukon Government and a bit different. Transportation uses of the river haven't changed that much during the forty years he's been observing it. There are basically tourism, recreational and First Nation uses, and the George Black Ferry, with a small amount of private commercial.

"There have been several attempts to do other kinds of commercial operations on the river. Some have been successful and some not, I think we all remember the Anna Maria.

"It's kind of reached a steady state after a rapid decline from its Gold Rush peak."

Climate change does, he said seem to be having an impact on the river. In Whitehorse, for instance, the river used to freeze all winter, and it doesn't do that any more.

Sometime in the next 20 to 50 years he sees a bridge being built across the Yukon River in Dawson. The ferry costs upwards of $1.5 million annually to run. This means that a 400 metre stretch of a territorial highway, which is less than one-tenth of one percent of the total system, costs four percent of the total highways budget to operate.

"That's not a set of numbers that is sustainable, economically. Certainly a bridge would be more environmentally friendly than a boat that burns diesel as it ricochets back and forth between the banks of the river."

He noted, however, that a bridge is not in the government's budget projections at this time.

Looking at the other major transportation corridors in the region he sees a need for work on the Dempster Highway corridor, which has already been addressed in both the North Yukon and Peel Watershed plans.

The Klondike Highway, "the most important transportation route to the Klondike now ... and for many years to come," was rebuilt and revamped considerably in the 1970s and 1980s. A regional plan should, he said, recognize that there will be rebuilding measures along the highway "over the next 20 to 50 years ... to sustain all activities of every kind in the region."

Hidinger also speculated that within the context of regional planning it would not be a bad idea to think about the possibility of building road access to the mineral exploration areas upstream from Dawson.

An Evening of Poetry Honours Two Bobs

dozen dedicated Dawsonites gathered at the Legion Hall on the evening of January 28 to honour poetry and the two bards that wrote it. The two bards in question were Robert Burns (born 1759) and Robert Service (born 1874). They may have been 115 years apart, but both were born in the latter half of January and, while a Burns' Night might seem more traditional, combining them makes sense too, especially in Dawson City.

Some years ago now the Dawson Community Library began holding its Double Bob Bash an evening of fine food, good conversation, music and poetry. It has moved around from place to place over the years, but seems to have found a congenial home in the Legion Hall, which is big enough to let the group march the haggis around the room, but not so big as to make the group feel small.

Chris Collin led the march this year and recited Burns' "Address to a Haggis" before carving open the "Great chieftain o' the puddin-race!" It joined a potluck grouping of fine foods that included lasagna, fresh buns, salads, cooked ham and fresh scones.

The meal itself consumed about an hour, and the second hour was taken up with about two dozen poetry readings, four organized for the group to take in turns, and the rest selected in advance or from the books provided for the purpose by the Library.

This is Dawson, and the Scots' dialect does not come trippingly off the tongue (more like it trips up the tongue) so Service outnumbered Burns by about five to one, but both poets got an airing and a fine time was had by all.

Parental Leave

Here I sit, at the desk, next to a soothing wood stove, Mozart stringing away, a S.A.D. light increasing my serotonin in the northern morning darkness, no computer and no family. Alone, in a luxurious cabin, along with my long time canine companion Lily, and disgruntled fat cat, Zorro, sipping a black coffee and enjoying some quiet time. It is the last few days before I start back at my teaching job at Robert Service and I was inspired to write this piece thinking of my family's crazy year.

I have been on parental leave since school ended last June and what a privileged and difficult time it has been. You would think, two parents at home, taking care of a five month old and a 2.5 year old would be idyllic. Well, leave it to my wife and me to create drama, heartache and memorable times. We got married, had three receptions, two family deaths and a trip to Mexico all in the last ten months!!

Everyone said we were crazy, especially about going back to Montreal to have a traditional wedding celebration with two receptions! My partner, and best friend for the last six years, intuitively knew that it was insane to plan a wedding with our second child due in March and the wedding date three months later, plus taking care of our first born, plus adjusting to our newly purchased home in Rock Creek. But my wife, who is brilliant at whatever she does, organized so much of our wedding amidst nursing a new born, caring for a two year old and dealing with her partner at a time, who did everything he could to support, share the children and household responsibilities and maintain a job, but in the end, he struggled to keep it all together!

A week before our daughter was born my grandmother, Nancy Jane Salmon from St. John, NB, died at the age of 89 years old. She was the last of my grandparents to be alive, our matriarch, our Maritime Queen. But for all the sadness, I felt she was so ever present when our daughter was born a week later. It was like their spirits became one.

Needless to say, we had enough on our plate for a young family. But my wife and I are stubborn people-pleasers and we committed ourselves to our wedding plans so far away in Montreal. The date was always set for the 9thof July, the same day that I professed my love to my best friend, six years ago, on top of Mt. Pinnacle, Quebec, in a soothing rain, our favourite hike and a sanctuary for the beloved peregrine falcon.

Organizing a wedding definitely brings up compromises, arguments, frustration and excitement. We went through it all especially with deprived sleep as our daughter set the pace and our ability, our greatest asset, "communication",

On top of all this turbulence, a month before our wedding, my best friend, Johnny Payne, died at the age of 40. It was the last nail in the coffin. I was an emotional wreck as Johnny had been the brother I never had, hence there was no way I could miss his funeral in Montreal.

Finally my headstrong wife, who can handle anything, hit her limit and she too fell into despair. For she needed me in those last few weeks before the wedding, to reconnect and establish our love for one another, but no, I was determined to leave ahead of schedule and fly with my son to attend the funeral, leaving my wife to take care of our baby daughter and organize everything to leave our home for six weeks.

Was I wrong to leave? Was it a good decision? No, it was not, but so much emotion took over from logic. I left to mourn my friend's sudden death and left my wife-tobe emotionally drained with a new born and living out of town, WOW! Was marriage worth all this?

As if fighting against natural forces, we both survived. Should we cancel the wedding that was only a breath away? In the end, my wife, through dry wall renovating therapy, walked on through to the other side, and proclaimed, Hell yes we're getting married!

Passing the baton

by Brent Morrison

To celebrate their fiftieth anniversary, and the 125th anniversary of Canada, the Canadian Rangers have begun a baton relay that will take them from Victoria, B.C., to St. Johns, Newfoundland, via the Arctic. The baton is a twelve-sided maple wood creation, representing the ten provinces and two territories of Canada. Near each end of the baton are windings of red and green cord, the colours of the Rangers.

The baton left Victoria's Esquimalt C.F.B. on the 13th of January and has headed north since. The baton was received in Dawson by Rangers John and Alan Anderson. Also with the baton is a log book recording the places and modes of travel the baton has gone through. Both the book and the baton are carried in a special Rangers' satchel. Somewhere in the N.W.T. the book will be fitted with a sealskin cover bearing the Rangers'

On the 30th of January, in a wild wind storm, the baton was taken by snowmobile to Moosehide, then brought back to Dawson by John Anderson and his eleven member dog team. Also on hand was a film crew filming the baton's progress for a CTV documentary that will be aired in Jan. '93. Dawson was one of five locations chosen for the

by Dan Davidson

The City of Dawson expects to spend from $8,000.00 to $10,000.00 on at least four interventions against miners seeking water use licenses or renewals in the next few months. For council it's a matter of water quality and control over the future of the watershed. While past interventions against some of the businesses involved haven't been successful, councillors believe that the recent water quality studies done in the Klondike Valley will give these attempts more weight.

Grizzly Placers has been operating near the Dome Road at the edge of the town's boundary for the last several years, and residents in that area have complained of silt in their wells. The town has also complained about effects on its main well. This mine is owned by Lee Hall and operated by a second party. The license is in Hall's name of 9740 Yukon Limited, and is for the Lousetown area which was mined by Gary Crawford on a lease from Berglund Resources last summer. Behind 9740 Yukon Ltd. is Eric Bergvinson of Berglund Resources, Ltd., the company which backed away from a Lousetown operation in the 1980's.

Lousetown is also known as "Klondike City" in the history books, and is the site where the Han Indian Band was living when the Gold Rush started. As

Alaskan chooses Dawson as final resting place

Many people come to Dawson for many reasons. Some can't help it, they are born here. Some come for a visit, like the place and decide to stay. Some because a member of the family has a job here. But last week Doris Vogler of Fairbanks came here to be buried. She died in Fairbanks Alaska where she and her husband had lived for many years. She apparently did not want to be buried on American soil. She was laid to rest with a grave side service in the public cemetery on the hill overlooking the Klondike valley. Those in attendance were Mr. Vogler and the pall bearers. Earl MacKenzie, Jim Leary, Frank Ahearn, Eric Blattler, Henry Hanulik.

The Sun obtained funding in late 2009 from the City of Dawson, YTG's Heritage Branch and the Community Development Fund to conserve and archive early issues and make them available once again in the public domain. This is a great resource for students, writers and historians, and also for prospective tourists with an interest in Dawson City's life. Each month, we are re-printing our front pages from 20 years ago (seen above) as a souvenir of our lively history.

ARTS AND CULTURE

Old Cabin in Concert with Greg MacPherson

Winnipeg singer-songwriter, Greg MacPherson returns to Dawson with a soul-felt perfomrance. Photos by Evan Rensch

by Lisa McKenna

Old Cabin performed at the Odd Fellows Hall on Friday, January 20th and it was awesome. Old Cabin's members include Johnny Rogers (on drums), Jona Barr (on guitar, the lead singer), Fiona Solon (on bass guitar and back-up vocals), Micah Smith (on the lap-steel guitar and regular guitar), and finally Ryan McNally (on guitar, lap-steel and banjo).

Starting out with a haunting intro they began to burst into sound and it grew louder and louder and louder and louder until it enveloped your soul. Then ... it calmed down as Jona began to sing. Jona, by the way, does most of the writing of Old Cabin's songs.

They had just come from Whitehorse where they had played to a crowd of 25.

Dawson rocks! WE had over 40 people and it was over 40 below! It was well worth freezing to hear this band. The drummer Johnny was so focused. He had impeccable timing and a feel for his drums. With brushes or sticks or even shakers, he knew what to use and when to use it, his sense of touch sent shivers up your spine. He even played the Glockenspiel!

Fiona, our bassist, played a strong and steady bass with a very relaxed pose (like all excellent bass players).

Micah and Ryan traded places frequently, one playing the lapsteel and the other the guitar, or occasionally the banjo. Micah played some wicked lead guitar, but I think he's kind of shy because he never looked at the audience, perhaps he was just concentrating.

Ryan was pretty quiet as well, focusing on the music, which I might add was perfectly, timely, clearly played. He even played one song with a BOW!

Jona got into a train wreck out of a tree fort and he lost it in a fit of giggles but like he stated "it took them weeks to practice that @#%& up".

Most of their tunes started on a haunting note, like their intro, then they broke off in a celebration of pure music and sound. There was no specific 'glue' that held the band together, everyone of them contributed their all and there was no apparent 'leader'.

At one point they had the whole audience singing! They are really entertainers AND musicians. Jona provided most of the humor with Naomi acting as his side-kick, although Johnny got a good laugh out of the crowd when Jona and Ryan went off on a duet trip and he (Johnny) didn't know where to go but they pulled it off well.

Oh, just as a side note, Jona sings with his eyes closed most of the time and in his socks. And Micah still doesn't look up! Now, if this wasn't enough Old Cabin was followed by a one-man show featuring Greg MacPherson. Believe me one man was enough, he was incredible.

Greg came out onto the stage and re-arranged it to his liking and then he pulled out his Danelectro (American made 1999-2000, he wasn't sure) "souped-up" guitar. AND I'm talking totally. He could even play the BACK of the neck of his guitar.

Greg possesses a voice with a beautiful deepness and resonance. As a matter of fact he had two voices, one soft against the mike and another where he stood away from the mike and just belted it out.

His expressiveness while singing, like looking up when he says "stars" or "above", entrapped you. As a matter of fact I was so struck I barely wrote any notes!

As I looked around the room most peoples' mouths were agape with astonishment and wonder. This man, Greg, experiments with sound and he has found the power of sound. He plays with sound like a child plays with Legos ... he builds, and builds, and builds.

He played a new song,
"Brothers". It started out with strong lead rifts that turned into a sad lament, that turned into a blast of power that shivered your soul. The pure volume and sustainability of his voice? All I can say is "WOW".
This man is fulfilling his dream and his dream is coming true (We must remember though, none of this could of been done without the help of Matt, our sound man. Thanks, Matt)

Council Tidies Up Some Old Bylaws Work Continues on the Acting Chair Stephen Johnson (center) reads a motion for consideration by Dawson's municipal council while councillors Wayne Potoroka (left) and Bill Kendrick (right) listen. Vacationing Mayor Peter Jenkins was present via speakerphone from Mexico. He wasn't actually on a surfboard (see the cartoon on p. 7) during the meeting, though he did mention something about scuba diving.

A fact not often considered by thegeneral public, when it makes demands for governmental rules and regulations, is that just about any law, bylaw, policy or regulation has a natural "best before" date, even if there isn't an actual expiry clause written into it.

The City of Dawson has been facing a number of these superannuated bylaws as part of its review of its operations. While this is a procedure that probably ought to be undertaken regularly, in practice it usually has to wait until a let-up in the pressure of ongoing events to materialize. The sheer age of some of these bylaws is an indication of that.

Five items were finally rescinded at the January 25 meeting of council. Four of them dated back to the 1980s. The process to eliminate them required a decision by the Policy and Bylaw Committee, and three readings at council meetings.

Historic Development Bylaw 79-16 was first enacted on January 10, 1980, and has been superseded by several bylaws since that time, including, most recently, the Heritage Fund Bylaw, the Heritage Bylaw and the Heritage Advisory Committee Bylaw, all of which were passed in 2009.

The Fire Investigation Bylaw 80-01 appeared in February 1980, but City Manager Jeff Renaud says it was since been outdated by a number of other regulations to be found at various places in the town's bylaws.

The Expenditure Authority Bylaw 81-02 came about in February 1981, but this type of bylaw is a regular item of council's agenda annually, and has long since been replaced. Somehow this version was not rescinded when it ought to have been years ago. Renaud says this kind of redundancy can lead to situations where there are dueling bylaws that don't agree with each other.

Bylaws are really out of date when they describe or authorize things that don't even exist any longer. Thirty years ago there was a gravel pit at the north end of Front Street. It was eventually closed down and allowed to grass over due to the presence of asbestos fibres in the gravel, Gravel Pit Bylaw 82-15 authorized this extinct pit.

Slightly over a decade ago there was something called Tent City on the west side of the Yukon River in West Dawson. At various times this area was either within the town's boundaries or just outside them (depending on the will of the territorial government at the time), but the West Dawson Campground Bylaw 97-09 was enacted to allow the town to administer and have some control of what went on there. Eventually the property became part of the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in's Land Claim settlement. The First Nation allowed it to run for another five years and then closed it down. Since it no longer exists, there is no longer a need for the bylaw.

Wastewater Plant

Story & Photos by Dan Davidson

In spite of temperatures in the minus 30s work continues on Dawson's new Wastewater Treatment Plant. Over the last couple of weeks side supports for the roof structure on the north end of the building have been put in place. Two weeks ago conduits were fitted to the Vertreat shafts, which are the vertical lagoon portions of the plant. Last week the trusses for the roof on the two story north end were installed. While the building was originally proposed as a wooden frame structure. it clearly now has a metal frame. The early December minutes of the town's Historic Advisory Committee indicate that the change was approved because a portion of the building had become a two-story structure.

The minutes also note that the exterior façade of the building will still have "board and batten siding and a standing seam roof as in the original application".

A worker can be seen hanging over the pipes that connect to the two vertical treatment shafts. There are two shafts to provide redundancy at the plant in case one should fail or require maintenance. The framework for the roof envelope was installed the next week.

Ladies Take Jamboree by Storm

Photos by Georgia/Kyle Hammond

by Georgia Hammond

On Saturday January 21, a women's hockey jamboree took place at the Art and Margaret Fry arena.

Enough players came out to make three teams that competed in a mini round-robin tournament. Some local boys expertly tended the goals and several community members lent their time and skill to ref, score-keep, and coach.

The players fought long and hard all day, and in the end team Winter Storm froze out the Gold Diggers in a 1-0 overtime victory. Joy Morin scored the final goal of the tournament, and for her efforts over the whole day earned the title of highest scoring player.

The teams represented a range of talents, experience and ages. The tournament's youngest player was very talented 10-year-old Emma Morin. And the oldest player? Well, a lady never tells! Everyone had a chance to shine in a day filled with action, laughs, and of course, plenty of polite apologies.

The players and organizers are hoping to turn this jamboree into an annual event, drawing women from Whitehorse and the communities to get together in January for some mid-winter hockey action.

The Gold Diggers, Winter Storm, and the Northern Lights would like to thank the following people for their help and support in making this tournament happen:

Coaches: Chris Johnson,
Michael Fraser, and Steve Lazlo
Goalies: John Dagostin, John
Kolpin, and Caleb Verdonk
Score Keepers and referees:
Ray Dagostin, Perry Kolpin,
Jimmy Gattie, Leilani Chan,
Brandon Kormendy, and John Dagostin.

All the staff at the arena and the Dawson City Recreation Department.

Young and old came out to play and cheer the players on at the women's hockey jamboree at the Art and Margaret Fry Arena on

THIS IS JUST MY OPINION...

Al Sider by Florian

The End of the World: Part 3

I do not speculate as to exactly when these events will occur, but my speculation is based on my observance of all of the prophets and prophecies which have been passed down through the Ages to us today. As stated in part 2 of this subject, the One World Leader (the Antichrist) will eliminate all threats to his reign. It will not matter if you are a politician, a wealthy person, a poor person, black, white, red or yellow; to him and his followers, if you oppose him, you must die. Still, this will not be the end of the world, but the end will be at hand at this time.

As stated earlier in this discussion, natural disasters and wars will bring about the rise of this man, and he will have authority over every living person on the planet. As stated, he will not allow any opposition to his supreme authority. During his time in power, 2,000,000,000 people will be eliminated, by fire, drought, famine, war, pestilence, and natural disasters. One third of the then planet's populace will die. This will leave a planetary population of only 4,000,000,000 people. About half way through his seven years of power, he will allow mighty nations to attack the State of Israel, because they oppose him after he desecrates the rebuilt Temple and the Israelis then realize the truth of this man. The Jews will now stand in his way and out of necessity he must eliminate the whole Nation. He causes China to attack from the East, to cross the Euphrates River. With China there will be the Nations of Japan, India, Korea, Vietnam, Afghanistan, Pakistan, Taiwan and all of the other Asian Nations. From the North he will allow newly reformed Communist Russia, along with Iraq, Iran Syria, Turkey and Lebanon to attack Israel from the North. And from the South, Egypt, Arabia, Ethiopia, Jordan, Libya, Sudan, and Somali. All of these Nations will attack tiny Israel in an attempt to remove their existence from the memory of men. Prophecy claims this will not be successful, and that somehow, Israel overcomes their enemies. It will be just a brief moment in time following this event that the world as we know it will end.

By my understanding of all of the prophecies concerning the End of the World, it will be impossible for it to occur at the end of 2012. If there is to be any truth, any substance at all to prophetic messages, then combine these things together and it will take 30 to 40 years before these things can all happen. 2012 may have some catastrophes that will injure and kill thousands of people. That is as yet unknown, and uncertain, but if it does, it will not destroy all of mankind, and the World will not end yet. 2060 is the latest date provided in prophecy for the End of the World, will it happen even by that date? Unknown for certain. If a person believes in the accuracy of prophecy, then yes, it will happen within that time-frame. If a person does not believe in the accuracy of prophecy, it still may happen within that time-frame. Can we change the outcome? Not likely. To be concluded. This is just my opinion . . .

Make Yourself a Favour: Vipassana

by Florian Boulais

Why don't you give yourself a BREAK!! Oh, no, no, I'm not talking about a trip to Mexico! I'm talking about a trip inwards!! Over the Christmas break, I went to a place in Quebec where they were supposedly teaching a very ancient technique from India. A friend of mine who took that course mentioned it to me and added: "You would probably like it." I only know too well how colourful and esoteric India's philosophy and spirituality are and so, I must say, I was skeptical about what it would do for me. But, I highly regard my friend's opinion, I needed a break and the centre was located was situated nearby my in-laws abode and so we would do two things with one trip.

When I got there with my girlfriend, I was overworked and my body was aching.

Ten days later, when I got out, I was fully rested, my body was fully revived and I had energy and plans for months ahead as well as a new outlook on my relationship. That was very uncommon for me, feeling like that after the Christmas break. Usually after Christmas, I'm sick because of all the abuses made and I am slightly depressed.

From the 120 people that got in a good 115 walked out with a big smile on their face.

All my respect and thankfulness goes to the Indian elders who have cooked up that marvel of a course. Marvellous!! I am quite certain that this course/technique could be a tremendous help for anybody suffering from trauma, addiction, stress or simply boredom.

It is absolutely non-sectarian and the course is paid by past students. You can make a donation according to your means or the value you give to the course.

Even though there are centres all over Canada, the closest one is located in BC. This course/retreat is quite successful and there is only a limited amount of seats so if you want to partake, look into it 4 to 6 month ahead of time. Their website is the following: www. dhamma.org.

Blast from the Past

by Lisa McKenna

A father (born in 1923) who was a famous flat-picker who specialized in blue grass/folk/gospel/country went out on the road with his son to entertain.

His son died in a tragic farm accident in 1985, but the father still plays on even though he (the father) was blinded before his first birthday.

He was never treated as blind. As a matter of fact he earned the money to buy his first guitar chopping down trees! Now that is dedication.

"Dad" won seven Grammies, a life time achievement award and in 1997 he was presented, by U. S. President Bill Clinton, with the National Medal of Arts.

His old guitar, known as " Old Hoss " is within the Country

Music Hall of Fame in Nashville, Tennessee.

Known as a "mountain musician" he went a long way into the revival of blue grass and folk music.

This Tennessee Stud was known as "Doc'", and his son was Merle. Say hello to the Watson's!

Dawson Night Lights

Despite the cloudy night skies over town lately, the lights have been out. Night after night, Stephan Pospecu set up his tripod near Seventh Ave. Finally, he caught them dancing in vivid green.

In Response to an Open Letter, from the Dawson City Sled Dawgs

Dear Kirsten,

I feel after reading your letter you put in the paper that you do not really know what and who the Dawson City Sled Dawgs are. We are a non profit organization who supports all outdoor recreational activities, whether they are motorized or non- motorized. The Sled Dawgs are an organization who is fortunate to have a fantastic and large volunteer base. Our members are not only from Dawson but from all parts of this wonderful territory we live in.

Over the years we have enjoyed lending a hand to other groups such as the Moose Mountain Ski Hill, by helping them with their raffles and grooming of the ski hill. We have assisted the Cross Country Ski Cub with brush clearing on the ski trails located by the ski hill. We have also helped the Dawson Daycare with their Bazaars, and are proud sponsors of the Gold Show. We have also sponsored youth to participate in the Arctic Winter Games. Numerous Sled Dawg members have volunteered to help the Mud Bog hold their yearly event, which is growing every year, attracting participants from around the Yukon and N.W.T.

The Dawson City Sled Dawgs proudly hold Slide'N'Rides for whole families to come out and enjoy a fun filled day of tobogganing down the Moose Mountain Ski hill, enjoying hot dogs, smokies and hot chocolate, all free of charge.

This year will be our 6th annual Diamond Dempster Daze. For this event people can come out and enjoy fantastic riding in the Tombstone and Hart Valleys. In saying that I would like to add that on more than one occasion we have had Parks officers come up and enjoy the day with us. After a day of riding people can enjoy a night at our own Diamond Tooth Gerties where we have 50/50 draws, door prizes, silent auctions. Previous years we have hired comedians, this year for a change we thought we would try a hypnotist.

Every year we work together with Trek Over the Top organizers and the Alaska Trailblazers to welcome the participants of Trek to enjoy what we believe is the best little city in the world. In the past we have been able to take our visitors on trails showing them traditional territory such as Moosehide, and thanks to Parks Canada we have been able to tour through historical sites like the Bear Creek Compound.

The Perfect Drop is a 50/50 draw where we drop a sled from 500 feet in the air. The largest part of the sled to the closest standing stake wins up to $1200 cash. I realize you feel that this event is disrespectful to our river, but I don't think you realize that the sled we drop has been completely stripped of all reservoirs, lines and compartments that have or may contain any liquids that could contaminate our river. After the sled has fallen and the winner decided on, a mass of volunteers head out onto the ice to clean up all the pieces of the snow machine along with all 400 stakes.

Along with the drop zone out on the river we have installed groomed trails up to and around the islands by Sunnydale, down to Moosehide and a ways up the Klondike. These trails are enjoyed by people crosscountry skiing, skijoring, walking and dog mushing. Last year we installed shoots for the Sunnydale Classic along with a course circling the river in front of town. These are only some of the things we have done.

As for the ice racing track, the Dawson City Sled Dawgs own the snow cat br-400 that installed the track. But we do not hold any events on it nor does our club own any cars that race on it. We do donate the time with the snow cat for the simple fact that ice car racing has become another outdoor activity that many people enjoy, participants and spectators alike. As I stated before, we support all outdoor recreational activities. I understand that they take great care in preventing any sort of spill that may be damaging to our environment, but if something does occur they are ready with the appropriate means to do a cleanup.

In the future, our club would appreciate it that if you had any questions or concerns to contact any one of our members. We are a friendly group who value people's concerns and comments. Stating false facts is not appreciated. As for disrespecting our river, I would like to think we do everything necessary to ensure nothing pollutes or damages our water system. We have many volunteers that put in countless hours to make Dawson a place that people can enjoy, locals and guests alike. We welcome new members and I would like to send out a personal thank you to all our loyal members who do come out and volunteer. Your efforts are seen and appreciated by many.

Timothy Grenon, president of the Dawson City Sled Dawgs, and a 30-plus-year resident

Dear Kirsten,

I am sorry to hear that you did not do a lot of research before you decided to start slinging mud, or should I say snow, at an organization that had nothing to do with your morning routine being disrupted. Making false accusations about an organization that has greatly influenced this small community in so many positive ways is not the way to win yourself a popularity vote. Common courtesy is to inquire with the group first to find out if in fact it was the one responsible for your disruption, and try to resolve any issues that were there before you mar their reputation without just cause.

Almost everyone I know lives in Dawson and the outlying areas because they love the beauty of the North. Just because we all live in the north does not mean that we have to live the same lifestyle. I for one do not wish to have ten to forty dogs in my yard disrupting my neighbours and the peaceful quiet that I enjoy about living in the north, but for you this is apparently your way of life. We all live differently and that is what gives Dawson its personality. We do not all live in a little brown house on a little green street with a little white fence.

Yes it may have been the Sled Dawgs equipment that put the ice track in on the river, and if I am correct the operator is a Sled Dawg member, BUT it is NOT a SLED DAWG event. The ice track is a group of people that wanted to do something for the community to get rid of the winter blues and boredom. You may not wish to travel in a vehicle at –40, but I am guessing that most people do and why not learn something and have some fun while you are doing it.

The ice track has a lot of positives to it if you were to just get your negative attitude to go on hold for a few minutes and observe some of the lessons that are being taught on the ice. There is no better place for a beginner driver to be learning how to drive on ice than on that track. I for one am very glad it is there; my son learned a great deal. I would sooner have them learn how to steer out of a skid on that ice track than learn the hard way on the highway with oncoming traffic.

The Sled Dawgs bring a lot of revenue to Dawson in the Winter months, which supports a lot of local businesses. Entertaining the Trek over the Top people is all part of it and as you know there are not a lot of things to do in Dawson in the winter, therefore the Ice Track and the Sled Drop to name a couple. There is nothing left behind after the events are over for the very reason of keeping our beautiful piece of nature still beautiful. There will always be events in a community that you may or may not approve of. That is all part and package of living in civilization. The only difference is most people choose not to participate in the events that do not interest them, and leave them to the ones that do.

If you have concerns about what the Sled Dawgs do, please contact any one of us, as we are very approachable. Do not make a public mockery out of us when we are here for the better of the community as a whole.

Rea and Shane Tyerman, Sled Dawg members, and Dawson area citizens

Queen bees are adult females who live inside the hive. They are often the only mother of the whole hive. A queen bee is picked by the "workers. She has her own "cup" instead of a cubicle. These cups are larger than the cubicles that the regular bees are grown in, and she lies in it vertically (on her side) instead of horizontally (standing up).

Queen bees are then fed a steady diet of "royal jelly".
Royal Jelly comes from glands on the workers head and is very high in protein. All other honey bees are fed royal jelly for the first few days, but only the Queen remains on it. Perhaps this makes her so much bigger than the other bees and turns her into a Virgin queens and mated queens "pipe" to each other. Piping is a vibration type noise, apparently the virgin queens "quack" and the free queens "toot".

AMINES

What's a quince?

It's kind of a cross between an apple and a pear. When it is young it has fuzz like a peach.

It is really sour and should not be eaten raw. When it is cooked the sourness goes away.

On the Canary Islands the young children take a quinces and throw them into the ocean. Then they chase after the fruits, take a bite, and throw them again until they are all eaten! Apparently the salt in the ocean removes the sourness and replaces it with sweetness. Weird!

Quinces mix well with apples, pears, strawberries and raspberries. In eastern Europe, the Near East and northern Africa, quinces are often used in cooking meats and poultry.

A quince has a beautiful aroma. In ancient Greece the bride-to-be would nibble on a quince to freshen herself for the wedding kiss.

High in pectin and malic acid quinces also makes really great jams, jellies and wines. In Iran the seeds are collected and boiled and the liquid is drunk to combat pneumonia.

It is high in potassium and vitamin C.

Quasars are the most distant objects visible. They are the brightest objects in the universe, but they are so far away they seem faint. They may be the birth place of black holes for they are known to attract stars and small galaxies into their self.

Quasars shine red and some of them are 600 BILLION light-years away (most are only about 300 billion).

When a quasar consumes enough matter it becomes a galaxy like ours.
