Dawson Urges Feds to Reconsider Parks Cuts

Council members Stephen Johnson, Wayne Potoroka (Mayor), Kyla MacArthur and Bill Kendrick ponder the wording of a resolution.

The City of Dawson has joined the chorus of voices proclaiming that federal cuts to Parks Canada's operations in the Yukon were a mistake that needs to be corrected

In a resolution passed unanimously on November 13, council stated as follows:

"Whereas Parks Canada is a key partner in Dawson's heritage community,

'Whereas the town is displeased with the impact recent actions have had on Parks and the local heritage community, the visitor experience of Dawson City, our economy, and those impacted by job loss,

"Therefore be it resolved that the City of Dawson supports the Yukon Government's and our MLA's efforts to urge the Government of Canada to recognize the importance of Parks Canada's Yukon sites in attracting visitors, increasing the value of Yukon tourism products and supporting local travel and recreation; and to restore funding for the curatorial, conservation and collections management of local Parks-controlled artifacts and historic buildings."

The motion passed swiftly with the only debate being over some verb tenses that got tangled in the long clauses.

The federal budget released last spring cut funding and staff to Parks Canada sites throughout the territory and across the nation, High profile sites such as the SS Klondike, SS Keno and Dredge No. 4 were closed to guided tours and in some cases to access at all, as of the end of last summer's season. Parks Services to backcountry travellers in the Haines Junction region were reduced or eliminated.

The budget for Klondike National Historic Sites in Dawson was slashed so deeply that the superintendent here has wondered at public meetings how to cover the fuel bill for heating buildings this winter, and has appeared before town council to ask to be forgiven the fee that it costs KNHS to be hooked up to the town's fire alert monitoring system. Ironically, this is a system that exists due to earlier demands by Parks that it needed to be put in place.

The curatorial and conservation staff for the entire territory, which was based in Dawson City, was let go, and the massive collection in the Klondike (250,000 items) turned over to visiting curatorial staff based in Ottawa.

Klondike MLA Sandy Silver has been vocal in objecting to this turn of events since the first announcements. The Yukon government passed a motion late in October demanding that the federal government rethink its Parks strategy and restore funding to its Yukon unit.

"It ain't gold but it's close!"

Uffish Thoughts: The Prime Minister's Message Mangles and Massages History

Let me begin this week's column by stating clearly that I am very well aware of the significance of the War of 1812 and the role it played in making sure that there were still British North American colonies in existence fifty years later when they finally got around to considering the idea of becoming one country called Canada. There is no doubt that the outcome of the events of 1812-1814 prevented us from being absorbed by the fledgling United States of America.

Be that as it may, the notion of a united Canada was not in anyone's mind at the time of that war. Upper and Lower Canada (or Canada West and Canada East) wanted nothing much to do with each other, while PEI, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia were hardly involved with their inland cousins at all. Newfoundland was even more aloof, and remained that way until the late 1940s.

The best way to label the War of 1812 that I have seen was posted on a sign outside the Maritime Museum of the Atlantic in Halifax when I visited there in September. It advertised a "Free Talk: Britain's War of 1812" at 7:30, to be held on Sept. 25, a few days after our de-

When it came time for Canada to be born it happened at conference tables in the various colonies and was negotiated with a Great Britain that was quite happy to be rid of us. The imperial urge had the Empire holding on to India and assorted African and Far Eastern colonies for some time to come (and still causes them to cling to the Falkland Islands) but the British North American colonies had ceased to be seen as jewels in the Empire's crown by that point and we were allowed to begin to loosen the imperial ties without any fuss. While we celebrate the birth of Canada as it it was a done deal in 1867, the actual process wasn't finished for another 60 years or so · hardly a revolution.

None of this makes any impact on the thinking of our present federal government, which has decided to retroactively rebrand us as a nation birthed in blood and fire and, since the Rebellions of 1837 in Upper and Lower Canada aren't exactly the message the Conservatives would like to send, they've reached back to the War of 1812 for inspiration.

In the world of comic books there's a thing called "retroactive continuity", a narrative device by which both Marvel and DC reboot the entire history and significance of their respective universes from time to time, in order to give younger readers a fresh point at which to join the fun without clogging the experience with the burden of history.

DC rebooted in 1986 and did it again two years ago, rebranding their line as the "New 52". In this universe Superman's foster parents are dead (as they were when Siegel and Shuster first created him) and he and Lois Lane are no longer married. Oh - and he no longer has the red jockey shorts outside his basic blue leotard.

This is fine in comic books, just as it is fine that we could accept five different actors assuming the mantle of James Bond over the course of 22 movies, but its not so great when people in authority start retconning (emphasis on the "con" here) our history.

I was sitting at the Remembrance Day service on November 11, listening to the speeches sacrifice and other appropriate topics when our new Mayor began to read the Prime Minister's speech. Part way in, as the speech began to list the many battles in which our forces had participated during our history, these words hit the

"From the brave defenders who repelled an invasion in the War of 1812

Harumph! went the fellow sitting beside me and I'm not sure I didn't make the same noise.

Remembrance Day, in case anyone other than the federal government has forgotten, was inaugurated in 1919 to commemorate those who died during the First World War (or Great War, as it was usually called before 1939). The date coincides with "the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month," which is when the Armistice was signed in 1918.

We have, over the years, expanded the concept to take in the Second World War, the Korean War and numerous other conflicts or peacekeeping actions in which Canada's armed forces have played a part, up to and including the recent action in Afghanistan.

We have not, thankfully, attempted to backdate it to cover and thinking about the Boer War, a nasty little British colonial venture which has no smidgeon of honour connected with it and which we participated in because we were still tied to the Empire's apron strings in terms of foreign poli-

The same strings caused us to be automatically at war with Germany in 1914, though we had cut them by 1939.

We certainly should not be backdating Remembrance Day to include a conflict that ended more than 100 years before the war whose ending it was created to commemorate. We should not be mentioning the Battle of Queenston Heights in the same sentence with Passchendaele and Ypres.

The inclusion of the War of 1812 in a Remembrance Day message is simply another example of the Prime Minister massaging and mangling history to suit his peculiar view of who we are as a nation. People need to take notice, and having taken notice, object in strong terms to this manipulation.

Ed. Note: I was wrong about any attempt to connect the Boer War to Remembrance Day. Immigration and Multiculturalism Jason Kenney took that step in a speech on November 11, 2010. My research didn't turn this up in time to get it right the first time. The same objection applies here.

Let's persevere in fighting Parks Canada cuts

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Tourism Industry Association of the Yukon I would like to commend all of the members of the Yukon Legislative Assembly for supporting last Wednesday's motion, urging the federal government to recognize the value of Parks Canada sites in the Yukon and asking the federal government to ensure that tourism here is not jeopardized as a result of the recent federal cuts.

As it currently stands, these cuts will adversely affect the way in which our culture and our attractions are showcased. Eliminating all of the curatorial staff dedicated to the care and display of Dawson's collections, ending guided tours of the SS Klondike and Dredge No. 4, and scaling back services such as search and rescue capabilities in Kluane - these cuts will hurt our tourism industry and will directly or indirectly affect businesses in the Yukon that rely on tourist traffic.

We need a well-thought-out plan to effectively manage the products and services that Parks Canada can no longer afford, and time is of the essence: The start of the 2013 peak season is less than six months away. The federal government, having handled this product for numerous years, has a responsibility to facilitate this muchneeded dialogue with tourism stakeholders in an effort to find solutions. The federal government owes Yukoners this much.

Parks Canada has traditionally enhanced the visitor experience for those who come to the Yukon; reducing these services will result in effectively reducing the visitor experience. This will affect every sector of the tourism industry at some level.

While the product that Parks Canada oversees may not be the "main reason why people come to the Yukon," as some have said, to say that it is not worth proper investment is foolhardy. How many people go back to their respective provinces, states and countries, with stories of the amazing things that the Yukon has to offer? Do we want to jeopardize this?

Do we want people to say that they had an "OK" time here, or do we want to provide them with the time of their lives? The balance is held by many of the services that Parks Canada offers and the sites that it oversees.

We have contacted MP Ryan Leef's office regularly over the last few months regarding this matter, but we have yet to receive any new information about how the federal government plans to address the gaps in services here that will result from the cuts to Parks Canada.

Time is slipping by. Yukon's tourism industry operates on an 18-month planning horizon, so this issue is overdue for urgent attention. We encourage anyone who is concerned about this issue to add your voice to ours, by writing directly to Yukon's MP, with a cc to TIA Yukon and to your respective MLA.

Together, we can ensure that Yukon's tourism industry remains a significant driver of the territory's economy and that the Yukon's incredible story continues to be effectively told.

Neil Hartling Chair, Tourism Industry Association of the Yukon

We Will Remember Them

Ed. note: Fire Chief Jim Regimbal gave this address at the Remembrance Day Service on November 11.

By Jim Regimbal

Welcome, Drin Hozo, Bonjour.

It has been said that Heroes "have the whole earth for their tomb". For Canada's military heroes – the tens of thousands who lie buried in distant lands, at sea and here at home, in addition to those who returned with memories of distant battlefields – there is no denying this truth.

The year 1918 and the end of the First World War – the origin of Remembrance Day - seems so long ago in context of many of our lives here today. But at the same time, the reality of war is only as far as a veteran, a family member, a friend or a neighbour who has been touched by that war or those that have followed. Similarly, much of who and what we are as a nation, was defined by war.

And so today, as we have done for over 90 years, we pause in a silent moment of remembrance and pay tribute to the sacrifice made by the men and women who have served, and continue to serve our Country during times of war, conflict and peace. We honour those who fought for Canada in the First World War (1914-1918), the Second World War (1939-1945) and the Korean War (1950-1953), as well as those who have served since then. More than one-and-a-half million Canadians have served our Country in this way, and more than 100,000 have died.

We must remember. If we do not, the sacrifice of those one hundred thousand Canadian lives will be meaningless. They died for us, for their homes and friends, for a collection of traditions they cherished and a future they believed in; they died for Canada. The meaning of their sacrifice rests with our collective national consciousness; our future is their monument.

We often take for granted our Canadian values and institutions, our freedom to participate in cultural and political events, and our right to live under a government of our choice. The Canadians who went off to war in distant lands went in belief that the values and beliefs enjoyed by Canadians were being threatened. They truly believed that "Without freedom there can be no ensuring peace and without peace no enduring Freedom"

For all of these conflicts fought in far-off lands, there is much to remember. Foremost are the people, the men and women who served wherever they were needed. They faced difficult situations bravely and brought honour to themselves, to their loved ones and to their Country. They were ordinary Canadians who made extraordinary sacrifices – all for our freedom.

One day every year, we pay special homage to those who died in service to their Country. We remember these brave men and women for their courage and their devotion to ideals. We wear poppies, attend ceremonies, and visit memorials. For one brief moment of our life, we remember why we must work for peace every day of the year. Let's carry that brief moment throughout every day and not only one.

So, this Remembrance Day, let us remember Canada's heroes. Their valour forged our nation's identity. Their lives bought our freedom. Their sacrifices continue to humble us and make us proud. We will remember them.

Let me close by sharing a Remembrance Day quote from a famous Canadian.

"I am Canadian, Free to speak without fear, Free to worship in my own way, Free to stand for what I think right, Free to oppose what I believe wrong, or Free to choose who shall govern my Country, this heritage of Freedom I pledge to uphold for myself and all mankind." John Diefenbaker – 13th Prime Minister of Canada – 1957-1963.

The ODD Galley was Entangled Last Month

Story & Photos by Dan Davidson

Wandering into Twyla Exner's exhibit, "Entangled" at the Odd Gallery during the last month, the viewer could be forgiven for thinking that the room had been invaded by refugees from an unpublished manuscript by Dr. Seuss.

Even the titles of some of the sculptures lend that illusion to the room. Where else would you expect items labeled "Thing 1" through to "Thing 5" to have come from?

Well, actually they are composed of discarded electrical wiring of various types, hollowed out and molded into shapes that seem both organic and fantastic.

"Entangled," writes the artist,
" is comprised of drawins and sculptures that use discarded telephone wires as both material and conceptual inspiration. Stripped from their original casings, exploited for their colour and malleability, wires have been woven into organic forms that recall nature."

The "Things" stand on pedestals. Things 2 and 3 are called friends, though that joining may well go beyond just linking appendages.

"Structure of a Substance" seems to start on the floor and loop across the room like some living garland. There's somethin amoeba-like about them, and also something like the alien creatures drawn by Steve Ditko in early issues of Dr. Strange.

There are drawings that show some of the design thinking that went into these creations, and a corner where smaller, insect sized creatures seem to be erupting out of the wall.

There's a planter box filled with blossoming orange flowers that turn out to be exploded copper wires plugged into a parallel arrangement of wall sockets.

'Wires become plants, organisms, organs and bones," Exner writes, "evolving to from habitats and systems feeding solely off themselves and growing in and out of abandoned and obsolete electronics."

There are seven constructs and four other displays in the room.

With this exhibit the gallery has continued its more recent practice of producing brochures that are both informative and accessible. The commentary essay by Kathryn Hepburn is interesting and fun to read.

Exner is an artist and arts educator who lives and works in Prince Albert, Sask.

Unanimous support in Yukon Legislative Assembly for motion on bullying and child protection

Press Release

WHITEHORSE (November 15, 2012) —All MLAs in the Yukon legislature have voted unanimously in favour of a motion that urges the Government of Yukon to form a multi-departmental committee that will focus on programs related to child welfare, cyber-safety, bullying, cyber-bullying, sexualized violence against children and victims of crime.

The motion calls on the committee, which will include representatives of the departments of Education, Health & Social Services and Justice, the Women's Directorate and the Youth Directorate, to create an inventory of relevant programs; review both existing and proposed programs to ensure a continuum of services; examine partnerships with local organizations like parent groups and agencies dedicated to child protection such as the RCMP and the Canadian Centre for Child Protection; and conduct awareness campaigns periodically to assist Yukon students and parents in understanding the resources available to them.

"The issue of bullying is one that was discussed recently at a meeting that I attended of federal, provincial and territorial justice ministers," said Justice Minister Mike Nixon. "Technology is changing so quickly and many people, perhaps youth in particular, are not fully aware of the risks associated with sharing personal information online, whether it be the risk of bullying or economic crimes. Yukon has been working on this file for some time and has been the first jurisdiction in Canada to take a multi-departmental approach to prevention of bullying. Our Yukon Party government takes this issue very seriously and we believe that we must continue to work together to support vulnerable people and youth at "Yukon is at the forefront in prevention of cyber-bullying through media education and Internet use guidelines and filters in schools," said Education Minister Scott Kent. "In addition, the Department of Education has developed antibullying policies and supports the teaching of pro-social compassionate behaviour through curriculum, programming and recently through the addition of a Social-Emotional Learning Consultant. An exciting success story is Challenge Day, which takes place at several Yukon schools and is designed to increase self-esteem in youth and eliminate the power of teasing, bullying, violence and all forms of oppression."

"I'm certain that all MLAs in this legislature share the goal of creating and ensuring a safe and healthy environment for our children," said McLeod. "We want to build on what the Yukon government is already doing in this area, to enhance the protection of youth and bring the world of bullying to light, whether it be online, on the school ground or in the workplace, so that people will be comfortable coming forward to talk about it and work to prevent it from happening in the future."

The motion was debated in the Yukon Legislative Assembly yesterday and then passed unanimously.

Remembrance Day Memories Give Meaning to Sacrifice

The Colour Party and Rangers enter the gym.

Story & Photos by Dan Davidson

Fire Chief Jim Regimbal's Remembrance Day speech captured the essence of the ceremony as he spoke to the crowded gymnasium at the Robert Service School on Sunday, November 11.

"The year 1918 and the end of the First World War - the origin of Remembrance Day - seems so long ago in context of many of our lives here today," he said. "But at the same time, the reality of war is only as far as a veteran, a family member, a friend or a neighbour who has been touched by that war or those that have followed."

After covering the history of the major conflicts of the 20th century, those which inspired the creation of this commemorative day in 1919, Regimbal continued.

"We must remember. If we do not, the sacrifice of those one hundred thousand Canadian lives will be meaningless. They died for us, for their homes and friends, for a collection of traditions they cherished and a future they believed in; they died for Canada. The meaning of their sacrifice rests with our collective national consciousness; our future is their monument."

(See page 5 for Regimbal's en tire speech.)

The service had begun shortly after 10:45 with the marching in of the RCMP Colour Guard, the cenotaph guard of Rangers and Junior Rangers, followed by the rest of the patrol.

Tracey Nordick led in the singing of "O Canada" followed by the traditional Two Minutes Silence, opened and closed by recordings of "The Last Post" and "The Rouse". Myrna Butterworth read "The Act of Remembrance", the Reverend Laurie Munro offered a prayer and Shirley Pennell recited "In Flanders Fields".

In an American rock band that pioneered the New Wave and Punk in the 70's she went on to win a Juno for the number one best selling single in 1980.

"Call Me" was #1 in the U.S. and Canada for six weeks, it hit number 1 in the U.K. and became a worldwide international hit.

"Rapture" was one of the first songs to integrate hip-hop (rapture - get it?) with rock/pop music.

In 1982 the band broke up only to be rejoined in 2006 after SHE was inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. They are still playing today; I guess blondes do have more fun!

BUT...one way or another you fade away and radiate, a little, electric faces seem to merge, hidden voices mock your words...but it's hard to be a blonde when your band's name is Blondie!

Youth Art Enrichment Celebrates Year 12

Story & Photos by Dan Davidson

Forty-eight students from all over the territory arrived in Dawson City last Tuesday (November 6) to participate in the 12th Annual Youth Art Enrichment program. The Klondike Institute of Art and Culture has been running the program since 2001, offering a week of concentrated arts studies in a variety of disciplines each year.

This year the students were divided into four workshops.

Downstairs in the classroom at the Oddfellows Hall students took Silkscreening 101, led by Aubyn O'Grady and Rian Lougheed-Smith, who work together as the Klondike Drawing Company.

Meshell Melvin was back again this year teaching another of her many skills. This year her workshop was Fundamentals of Drawing and was conducted in the Confluence Gallery at the Yukon School of Visual Arts.

Filmmaker Morgan Tams led a class called Hand Made Films, working out of the ballroom at the Oddfellows Hall.

Actor and comic George Maratos was back for a return visit, leading a class called Improv, Acting & More in the Gathering Room at the Dänojà Zho Cultural Centre.

Aside from a full school day of classes from Wednesday to Saturday, the students were provided with meals prepared by volunteers at St. Mary's Catholic Church, daily lectures after class on a variety of subjects and evening recreational activities, including Yoga, a variety show, and a curling and games night.

The weekend concluded with a wrap-up dinner at the Oddfellows Hall, followed by a walking tour of the various classroom venues during which the students and a fair number of local residents got to see the final products from the week's work: short films, silkscreened prints, an improv show and a gallery full of drawings and sketches.

Each year, two student works are selected from the exhibition to be purchased for KIAC's Karen DuBois' Collection.

A sampling of the students' work will be exhibited at Robert Service School in Dawson City in early 2013 and the Yukon Arts Centre in March, 2013.

CANNOR Invests in Adult Education

Press Release

Whitehorse (November 23, 2012) - Yukon Member of Parliament Ryan Leef, on behalf of the Honourable Leona Aglukkaq, Minister of Health, Minister of the Canadian Northern Economic Development Agency (CanNor) and Minister for the Arctic Council, announced today an investment that will improve access to adult basic education programs in the

"The basic education programs available at Yukon College will provide many Yukoners with literacy, math and other essential skills to be able to take advantage of jobs in their communities," said MP Leef. "It also makes it possible for businesses to hire skilled workers locally in areas such as mining, trades and construction."

"Our Government is committed to providing Northerners with the tools and the skills they need to obtain jobs here in the North in growing economic sectors," said Minister Aglukkaq. "By improving access to adult basic education, we are helping to build prosperous communities throughout Canada's North."

"Each Yukon College community campus has indicated the skills that are most needed in their community and developed curriculum suitable for their needs," said Dr. Karen Barnes, Yukon College President. "We are pleased to already have over 50 students in six communities across the Yukon taking advantage of the training opportunities this program provides."

The Harper Government's investment over the next four years of $4.2 million in Yukon will increase the availability of current and specialized programs in Yukon communities for working age adults. By better equipping program participants with literacy, math, and other essential skills to enter the labour force, Yukoners will be able to take on jobs or further training and participate in the growing northern economy.

Launched in February 2012 by Prime Minister Stephen Harper, the Northern Adult Basic Education Program (NABEP) is focused on preparing working age adults to enter the workforce directly or to take further vocational training before entering the workforce, both in larger urban centres and in remote communities. In the Yukon, the program will be delivered by Yukon College.

NABEP is one of several economic development programs within CanNor. CanNor was created to directly enable northern workers and businesses to take advantage of the economic resources and opportunities that exist where they live. CanNor delivers on its exclusive northern mandate through funding programs, providing project management services, leveraging the federal role in the North, serving as a champion for northern interests, and undertaking policy and research

The Music Festival Continues On Course

The Dawson City Music Festival is very pleased with its last year of operations. President Molly Shore chaired the annual general meeting on November 14 in the Downtown Hotel conference room. There were 18 people in attendance, counting the board members.

Shore said that the 2013 festival would be the organization's 35th anniversary.

"We think that DCMF wouldn't work in any other community," she said, "so we sort of think of DCMF as being Dawson. Community engagement is one of our core values, and maybe the most essential. We believe that our festival, our concerts and our workshops help make arts and culture a part of life in Dawson."

As at the last several AGMs the music festival's long-term outlook was stated as striving to be "better, not bigger."

While the weekend festival, with its pre-festival Thursday night concert at the Palace Grand Theatre, is still the most obvious

Karen Thomas, Matt Sarty, Jenna Roebuck (producer), Jorn Meier, Jon Watt, Molly Shore and Jody Beaumont. (Jamie Koski was absent).

Over the winter DCMF will be looking to review its strategic plan, under the watchful eye of former producer Dominic Lloyd.

Shore noted that 2012 had been another calm year, the second in a row, in terms of toning down the rowdiness around town that used to be a feature of the festival.

The festival runs with just a producer for much of the year, but does hire extra help in the summer. Last year they split the single job into two parts and hired both a production assistant and a volunteer coordinator. It worked out well, so they will plan to do it that way in 2013.

DCMF also plans to offer a foodsafe course to anyone involved in food preparation for the festival, as well as basic first aid for volunteers.

There may some changes to the site plan for the festival this year, but thinking about that has really only just begun.

Producer Jenna Roebuck has moved into her second year in the position. She reported that the 1200 passes were sold out in advance of the actual festival once again, and that there are no plans to increase that number. The board feels that the festival has reached a size that can still be managed and still be the kind of economic booster that it is without getting out of hand.

Roebuck inaugurated an unplugged stage within the beer garden last year to increase the amount of music on hand and give beginning groups a chance to perform for the public. She also organized youth programs, including a concert with a Whitehorse youth band and a volunteer program for teens.

DCMF is planning a video listening party for November 29 as part of its performer selection process. Roebuck says that she likes the idea of seeing videos of live performances for getting a better idea of what a band will sound like on stage.

The festival costs about $400,000 to put on annually and the board is trying to build up a "rainy day" fund to cover fundraising shortfalls, financial losses or equipment replacement. A motion to begin establishing such a fund was the subject of some discussion. The plan is to have it grow to half the operating costs if possible, though this would take many years to accomplish, especially since the festival actually lost $15,960.41 last year. Not bad for a non-profit with enough money on hand to cover the deficit. There are still some outstanding donation pledges, but many of the festival's supporters wait for the ends of their fiscal years to settle accounts.

Elections were a simple matter, since nearly all the board members whose terms had expired wished to run again. They were reelected. The only new member was John Watt, who joins returning DCMF Board members, Molly Shore, Jody Beaumont, Matt Sarty, Jamie Koski, Jorn Meier and Karen Thomas.

YWIM Brings "Song Rise" to Dawson

Story & Photos by Dan Davidson

Yukon Women in Music scheduled the release concert for its latest compilation CD, Song Rise, to be in Whitehorse on November 24. Various members of the group have been touring the project throughout the Yukon since October, and the CD has been available at their concerts.

The group hit Dawson City on November 9 and performed at both the Dänojà Zho Cultural Centre and the Downtown Hotel.

In Dawson they were joined by locals Drea Nasager and Ecka

Drea Nasager

Janus for the evening concert at the hall.

As the emcee for the evening, Brenda Berezan, pointed out, the concert was basically an event with "girls and guitars", the exception being classically trained Sonja Anderson, who has an entirely different style of performance.

Mind you, each of the ladies had a different style of her own to display.

Erica Heyligers provided a country/folk sound on a guitar the talented luthier made herself. She also accompanied Anderson on one of her pieces.

Ecka Janus

Erica Heyligers, Sonja Anderson, Drea Nasager, Claire Ness, Brenda Berezan and Karen Furlong.

Drea (who usually goes by just her first name when performing) had a harder, rockier edge to her tunes, whether on guitar or dulcimer.

Clair Ness inserted a bit of humour into her offerings.

Brenda Beresan rocked hard in her tunes, while Karen Furlong had more of a folk/pop song style.

Of the 14 artists on the CD, Ness, Berezan and Furlong were along to sing their songs.

The group rotated twice through during the first set. Eka

Janus took to the stage to offer two of her tunes before the second set, after which the musicians rotated one more time and then assembled for an a capella group offering of "Down to the River to Pray."

Carbon Monoxide SafetyEven the Fire Dant

From the Fire Dept.

Carbon monoxide is the product of the incomplete combustion. It is odorless and colorless and is highly toxic. Carbon monoxide is a flammable and potentially explosive gas. The effects of carbon monoxide range from a mild headache to lethargy and confusion, unconsciousness, and death.

If you suspect carbon monoxide contamination, get everyone outside immediately. Call the Fire Department via 993-2222

Accumulation of snow and ice build-up may block appliance exhaust and combustion air vents (especially those side wall vents exiting close to ground level) causing appliance failure as well as build-up of carbon monoxide.

Consider the following guidelines during these winter conditions:

- 1. Know where your exhaust and appliance vents are located.
- 2. Pay attention to snow and ice related conditions that may cause problems with these components.
- 3. Keep these components clear of snow and ice. Exercise caution when clearing snow away from these components. Where possible, use a broom instead of a shovel to prevent damage.

CFYT to Hire Year Round Manager

Numbers were somewhat down at this year's meeting of the Dawson City Community Radio Society, which operates CFYT-fm and the rolling ads on DCTV's cable channel 11.

Including those at the head table, there were only about a dozen people in the ballroom at the Oddfellows Hall on the evening of November 19.

Society president Georgia Hammond outlined some of the society's goals over the long term.

"We'd like to see (this society) become the voice of Dawson City. We want programming that represents the community. We're moving forward towards that/ We've covered many local events in the last year, which included live hockey, baseball games, the chili cook-off, the political forum, city council meetings, the Moosehide gathering and the Dawson City Music Festival. We had various talks with authors (from Berton House)."

This is a lot for a society that operates out of a small building on Queen Street with barely room for one or two people and the equipment and no wash-room facilities.

This time of year the radio schedule begins on Thursday afternoon at 3 p.m and runs until 9, adding an hour on Friday. Saturdays run from noon until 7 and Sundays from noon until 9. The schedule is more crowded in the summer when more people seek out the pleasure of being a local DJ or host.

City council meetings are broadcast on cable channel 12 on the second and fourth Tuesdays of every month, while the less formal committee of the whole planning meetings are broadcast on the first and third weeks on a more variable schedule.

The cable channel is also used to broadcast main stage performances during the Music Festival.

The society is taking a step forward in that it has received a grant from the Canadian Radio Fund that will allow it to have a full time station manager for about 8 months, which the board hopes will be enough time for it to generate the revenue to have the position continue. In the past CFYT has only had summer employees funded by student employment grants.

"The job is too big for a summer student to just take on," Hammond said, "and then hand over to the board in the winter, and then hand over to a different student the next year.

"This funding is a really big deal for us and we got confirmation at the beginning of this month. We're very excited."

The job description and application form can be accessed through the society's website at http://cfyt.ca/. Some applications have already been received.

Hammond was also pleased to note that the society had made quite a bit of progress in getting young people involved with the station doing shows. In addition, members of the society are doing things cooperatively with the Robert Service School, the Youth Centre and the daycares.

Peter Menzies discussed some ideas for providing additional cable service as a way of increasing the society's presence and raising money. He is looking into a Multimedia project to be underwritten as a pilot project by the Innovation Centre at Yukon College. The membership reacted positively to the opportunity.

According to Menzies the local content could be "language, music, slideshows or whatever," stored as files that could be accessed through iTunes.

'We're going to play with the technology between now and the New Year. It's a work in progress and they are covering all the costs."

Menzies hopes that the extra channel and the revenue it could generate would provide the money to finance the continuing staff position.

The society will be making some improvements to the building it rents over the next few months in exchange for a cut in the monthly rent.

Five people stood for election to the new board, joining continuing members Jen Laliberte, Capri Simpson and Kyle Hammond. Elected to the board were returning members Georgia Hammond, Peter Menzies and John Watt, along with new member Kit Hepburn.

THE KLONDIKE SUN

Editor's note: In the first part of this story a mother and young son were fleeing from a bad relationship and heading North. Since part of the rules for the writing contest specified using Yukon Animals, they saw a lot of wildlife on their journey. When we left them they had reached Whitehorse and were settling in for the night.

The shelter was comfortable, with clean sheets and neat surroundings, but felt foreign to them. Holly used the community bathroom with her issued washcloth to clean Alex and herself. Her face felt better, and the cool water eased the tenderness. I'm almost looking normal again, she thought. Throughout the evening, every time the phone rang, she jumped. Jacob must be very angry about now, but there's no way that he could find me. I told no one where I was going, not even Bernice. Holly felt she had done the right thing by leaving Watson Lake. She had hopes that she would find a suitable place for the two of them to begin life anew.

In the morning, Holly said, "Alex, I don't like being around so many people. It's not what I had in mind for us. I think we'll travel farther."

They left driving north. Reaching a sign for Lake Laberge, Holly turned onto the side road.

"Where're we going?" Alex looked up from his new book and asked.

"I want us to sit by the lake and listen to the birds for a while. I couldn't hear them with all the traffic noise this morning."

They found a bench and settled back. Holly breathed in the fresh scent of young aspen buds, made aromatic by the morning sun's heat. A plaintive cry trickled across the lake.

"What's that, Mom?"

"It's a loon. Look it up in your book. Their songs are hauntingly beautiful, but somewhat sad. I've always thought they're calling ghosts from centuries long ago."

"Ghosts?"

"Yes, but friendly ghosts." Holly ruffled her son's rufous

Authors on Eighth

Animals Herald a New Life by Barbara J. Bina - Part Two

A submission to the Prose section of the 2012 Authors on Eighth Contest

As Alex flipped through his book he asked, "Mom, do you think we'll see polar bears or these funny animals called musk ox on our trip?"

Holly laughed. "I don't think we'll be going that far north, dear, but you never can tell." She shifted and pointed. "Alex look! Sit very still. There's a Mountain Bluebird. Isn't it beautiful?"

Barn Swallows darted over the lake seizing pesky mosquitos. A Kingfisher voiced a warning call from a high tree limb. As they watched, several Canada Geese swam by them. This year's babies darted left and right chasing bugs. Almost fully feathered, they had an awkward teenage look. Their parents flanked and protected them. A triangular ripple formed in the water from a dark brown beaver. His tail flexed the water and his whiskery nose barely cleared the surface. He swam close to shore and disappeared under overhanging shrubbery.

"You know Alex, this lake freezes during winter. A famous author wrote a poem about Lake Laberge. Someday I'll read it to you. But now I think we should be going."

While walking to the car, they laughed at the noisy scolding from a Red Squirrel in a White Spruce tree. Two chipmunks chattered and chased each other along the carcass of a fallen tree.

Beyond Carmacks, where the road followed the Yukon River, they spotted three moose standing in a watery ditch close to the side of the road. The mother was gigantic. This year's twins stood next to her in the knee-deep water. Lifting her head, long strands of green weeds dangled from her mouth. One hung over her eye. She wiggled her ears to dislodge the errant piece and chomped on the others. The skittish twins moved back as Holly slowly drove by.

Alex's eyes were immense. "I've never been that close to a moose, ever before.'

"You know Alex, I think you should mark in your new book each time you see an animal. Sort of like a checklist, you know."

"Do you think we'll see a grizzly bear?"

"I certainly hope not!" At Pelly Crossing they found a place to park and ate a snack from the food they had brought extra help? I'm an experienced from home.

"Are we there yet, Mom?" Alex asked.

"Not quite, but I think we're getting closer. We might be there soon," Holly replied, thinking wherever there is.

Close to Stewart Crossing, they saw another moose walking nonchalantly across the road.

"He acts as if the road belongs to him. Does he think he's so large he doesn't have to worry?"

A Red Fox emerged from the stunted trees. Holly drove slowly while he trotted alongside through the fireweed, paused and then suddenly dashed across the road. His tongue dangled and saliva dribbled from his mouth. His reddish fur stood puffed out. Right behind a brownishgrey coyote ran in hot pursuit. Its bushy tail stuck straight out. It hopped, easily clearing the gullies along the roadside. Holly braked to miss the animal.

"That was sure close. I thought we might hit him, Mom."

"I'm glad we didn't. It's fortunate there was such little traffic on the road."

They saw no more animals until late in the afternoon when they were close to Dawson City. At the intersection with the Dempster Highway, Holly slowed the car.

"Want something to eat, Alex? Here's a café."

"Sure, Mom. I'm hungry." Walking towards the restaurant, they saw two small brown rabbits sitting frozen in a grassy area beneath a short tree. Holly thought they were cement statues until Alex stamped his feet, and the two rabbits scurried away.

While paying for their meal, Holly asked, "Do you need waitress currently looking for a job."

"No, Honey. Not at this time. But, I think up ahead in town, there's a restaurant on the main street that's looking. Good luck to you."

They drove the short distance to the center of Dawson City. Dust from the dirt streets plumed around the car tires.

Holly grinned. "You know, this town looks just about right to me. Not too large, not too small. What do you think?"

"It's okay with me, Mom." She spotted the restaurant with the "Help Wanted" sign in the window and parked the car. "Wait here Alex. I'll be right back." Holly came out of the building with a paper in her hand and a big smile on her face. She looked across the street and saw a "Room to Let" sign on a well-kept white and blue cottage. A white picket fence surrounded the yard with a prospering garden on the side.

"I think we've found the perfect place for us," she said aloud to anyone that would listen. "I believe we're finally there. Our new home. And what an adventure it was getting here, huh Alex!"

Alex and his mother might have been a little less impressed if they had seen this mess. The broken furniture/equipment should have been taken to the landfill, while the pumpkins belonged IN a bag IN the compost bin. Photos submitted by a concerned citizen.

Northern deal not done, but looks good

by Dan Davidson

There's a lot of planning and negotiating still to be done before a Northern Store opens in Dawson City. This is the clear message from Dawson First Nation Chief Steve Taylor and from Jeff Cook, the manager of Chief Isaac Inc., the Han Indians' business development arm.

To date Chief Isaac has administered a community wide survey on behalf of the Northwest Company (Northern's parent organization) and has purchased lots on Second Avenue, across the street from the Dawson Hardware Store, where a building might be erected. But land, as Taylor notes, is just an investment at this point and, with commercial land prices rising as they have been in Dawson over the last few years, not such a bad one.

Cook and Taylor agree that it is probably time that representatives of Northwest came to Dawson to talk to the public and the chamber of commerce and make it clear what their intentions are. They agree that such a store, which might be anywhere from 10,000 to 15,000 square feet, should be discussed in a public

"It's not that they don't want to," said Taylor, "They are perfectly willing to do that."

"Yes, "said Cook, "it's just not quite time yet."

Northwest's interest raises some corporate fears

by Dan Davidson November 6, 1992

While the results of a survey taken earlier in the fall seem to indicate a fairly widespread consumer support for the notion of a Northern Store opening in Dawson City, it would be an acute understatement to say that some merchants in the community have reservations about the plan. In fact, some of them are quite apprehensive about the whole business and met at the Downtown Hotel on November 3 to formulate a list of questions they would like answered by the proponents, the Northwest Company and Chief Isaac Inc.

The meeting was chaired by General Store owner Denny Kobayashi, who began by saying that this was not in any way to be seen as an official chamber of commerce meeting. It was a meeting of the business people who see themselves as being most affected by the sudden injection of a 10,000 square foot retail outlet, handling most of the same things they already sell, into the community.

As Sourdough Sue Ward put it to the group: "What will they be selling that you aren't already supplying locally?"

At this point no one knows the answer to that question, which is probably one that must be addressed to the Northwest Company. And it might not matter anyway.

"What are we trying to accomplish here?" said Arctic Drug's owner Fred Berger. "It's a fait accompli," he concluded, echoing the feelings of most people in the room. Berger said it would be wrong to be upset with the Northern Stores for wanting to come here, because "that's free enterprise." But Berger went on identify the side of the development that rubbed most of those at the meeting the wrong way,

LADY BEWARE!!

"Touch the spirit", see page 10

From R.C.M.P. Dawson

On Wednesday November 18 at 8:00pm, in the Ancillary Room at Robert Service School, the R.C.M.P. is presenting a street safety course for women. The name of the course is "Lady Beware".

"Lady Beware" was developed to teach women to use their natural instincts and abilities to avoid getting into potentially dangerous situations and to teach basic techniques for getting out of some dangerous situations. This is not a "heavy duty" course in martial arts. It is a course designed to introduce safety tips and self defence techniques, that will be beneficial to women of all ages. Dawson City is a relatively small and safe place to live, but it is always good to be prepared.

"Lady Beware" is a course for women only. The minimum age for participants is 13 years old. The course is free of charge. It is requested that all women who are planning to attend the course register by phoning the Dawson City R.C.M.P. Detachment. Our phone number is 993-5555. It is suggested that all participants wear casual cloth-

Election promises should ease sewer pains

by Dan Davidson

Any talk of a dirty election in Klondike riding must be a reference to Dawson's sewers. Faced with the reality of rising sewer and water costs in Dawson City and the emergence of this issue as a major theme of the recent civic by-election here, it is no surprise to find that both candidates in the Klondike riding promised to help the municipal government find a cost saving solution to this problem as the campaign wore on.

John Ostashek, Yukon Party leader and now Government Leader, was in Dawson City on the Thursday before the election to talk to the Dawson First Nation, to spend some time at the city's offices and to make a public commitment at a late afternoon press conference.

With local Yukon Party candidate David Millar at his side, Ostashek announced from the party's campaign headquarters that "a Yukon Party government is prepared to assist the City of Dawson in reducing the excessively high sewer and water rates for residences and businesses in the Klondike capital."

Both Millar and his opponent, incumbent MLA Art Webster (NDP), had indicated in earlier interviews with the Sun that they were prepared to lobby their parties to sit down and renegotiate the 1987 agreement which transferred ownership and financial responsibility of the system to Dawson but, Millar was quick to point out, only the Yukon Party had seen fit to have its leader

Meet the New Boss; Same as the Old Boss

Mockingjay: The Final Book of the Hunger Games Suzanne Collins Scholastic Press 400 pages $19.99

You all probably haven't been waiting with baited breath for my opinion on the conclusion of Suzanne Collins' successful young adult dystopia. Sales figures and the eventual plan to make two movies out of this third book (following the lead of both the Harry Potter and Twilight franchises) indicate that Collins needs no assistance from me. But I did manage to finish the book in a hotel in Toronto in September while travelling, so here I am anyway.

That I finished this trilogy is a testament to its power, seeing that I did so reading it on my laptop computer, my least favorite way to read anything. My wife had it in a KOBO version on her iPod and this was the only way she could share the file with me.

Collins left us at the end of Catching Fire with a tremendous cliffhanger, as Katniss Everdeen and some of the contestants in the special punitive edition of the Hunger Games were rescued from the arena by airborne rebels who took them to the legendary District 13.

The nation of Panem is what became of North America after some sort of social and ecological collapse.TheopulentCapital (somewhere in the Rocky Mountains) is supported by the labour and production of the workers in Districts 1 through 12. The Capital, led by President Snow, enforces its rule through the mechanism of the Games. When Katniss and Peeta forced a change of the Game's rules in the first book, "the girl who was on fire" became a rallying point for the rebellion bubbling under the surface of this society, and her signature pin, a Mockingjay, became a codename and symbol of the rebellion.

Katniss is hardly aware of this at first, but Snow sees it all, and forces an extra set of Games, a Quarter Quell, with the purpose of killing most of the living winners of the previous games. The resulting struggle in Catching Fire does more that simply repeat the action in the first book, The Hunger Games, and sets up a transition to something else, which is what the final volume delivers.

As before, the book is divided into three sections. Those hoping to have the action continue flat out will be disappointed. In "The Ashes" Katniss and her colleagues (minus Peeta, who was captured) have to adjust to the regimented life of District 13, where people have been living underground for the last 75 years, waiting for the time to take back freedom.

Spend that long in a kind of cage and you might just lose sight of what the word "freedom" means. At any rate, they see Katniss as a propaganda weapon and not much else, at first, and it takes her some time to make the necessary adjustments. After all, she never really wanted to be a hero in the first place.

"The Assault" cranks up the tension as they rescue Peeta from the capital, only to find he has been brainwashed to want to kill the girl he has loved since he was a boy. That makes life even more confusing for Katniss, who has been torn between him and her childhood friend, Gale, ever since the first book. As the title suggests, this section leads into a series of assaults during which district after district falls to the rebels. They finally end up in the Capital, fighting a new kind of game, while Katniss and Peeta struggle to rebuild his shattered mind.

In part three, "The Assassin", Katniss plays her own game, intending to end Snow once and for all, planning to go alone and kill him in retaliation for his destruction of District 12. By this time, however, she is beginning to be suspicious of the motives of some of the leaders of District 13, especially President Alma Coin, who seems to want nothing more than to replace Snow in his role at the Capital. There are some revelations about the rebel's conduct of the war which resolve the Gale or Peeta question once and for all, and lead to a surprise climax.

There's a chapter after the climax, and it might have been called "Katniss rising from the ashes" but it's just chapter 27. There is also an epilogue, which takes place about 20 years later. In Harry Potter fashion it ties up some loose ends and closes the story nicely, without sugar coating anything.

War is hell. The trilogy is clear about that, and clear that the choices made during wars have consequences well beyond victory marches.

ROACHE'S CORNER BY MIKE ROACHE

In the Spirit of Giving

by Dawson Women's Shelter

With Christmas quickly approaching and the holiday season in our midst, we thought it appropriate to give the community the low-down on our Holiday Hampers; how they work and why we make the effort to put them together every year.

The Dawson Women's Shelter began the Holiday Hamper program many years ago, and it continues to operate in much the same way, though the level of charity has no doubt risen. The Holiday Hampers are put together by the staff of the Dawson Women's Shelter with the help of volunteers and the financial support of the community of Dawson. Each year, the Shelter collects monetary donations from community members, organizations and agencies and with this money, purchases food for the food hampers.

The whole point of the food hampers is to provide an individual or family with all the necessary goods for a holiday meal. Starting with breakfast, we include just about everything you would want in a holiday mealright down to dessert. Over the years, the hampers have expanded to almost seam bursting size thanks to the donations from the community.

The Women's Shelter now receives donations from outside the community as well. The Women's Directorate collects donations of new and packaged toiletries from different agencies in Whitehorse and sends them out to organizations in the smaller communities who distribute them to community members who need them. This provides us with toiletries for women, men and children, which we wrap up and send out with the holiday hampers.

Last year we started up the Adopt-A-Family program, it had been omitted for a few years, with much success, and we are endeavoring to do it again this year.

The philosophy behind the Dawson Women's Shelter facilitating this program each year is rooted in our mandate, part of which holds that we must always provide outreach programs that work toward the empowerment and promotion of healthy communities. We regard the Holiday Hampers as an extension of that thought. The intention of providing a healthy and delicious holiday meal for a family is to bring them together and strengthen their own bonds.

Christmas time can be stressful and taxing on a family who struggle financially. The financial strain that the holiday season can place on a family, no matter the size, can lead to emotional breakdowns and the weakening of family ties.

The nature of our lives here in the north is a hearty one. Many work unreasonably long hours in the summer, labour through their days, only to find that it all comes to an abrupt halt in the fall and winter seasons. The cost of living is higher than most of the provinces and staple items can cause us to push our budgets to the limit- especially during the winter months. All of these factors considered, the Dawson Women's Shelter is happy to provide the Holiday Hamper program to this community.

This year, our Holiday Hamper operation will work just the same as it has in years past, and we will provides food hampers, toiletries and a gift for up to 75 families and individuals here in Dawson. We ask that community members donate to this program in any way that they can; and there are plenty of ways.

Monetary donations go directly funding the food hampers. This year, food donations will go towards stocking the shelves of Dawson's own (and brand new) Food Bank at the Dawson Community Chapel.

This year, like last, you can choose to sign up for the Adopt-A-Family program. This works out so that you provide a gift that we deliver with the food hampers on delivery day. We provide you with the age and sex of family members along with a suggested spending amount and you purchase and wrap a gift for the family you have adopted.

This was very successful last year, the staff of the Dawson Women's Shelter was absolutely thrilled to see community involvement in the program and how enthusiastically charitable this community can be. It is inspiring to know that we live in a community that truly takes care of its own. What we all celebrate and why differs, but the spirit of the community is the same in that we should all share the joys of the winter and holiday season that brings us all closer together.

If you would like to donate this year, monetary donations can be made to Dawson Women's Shelter Holiday Hamper Program – Box 784. Food donation bins are located around town (The General Store, Bonanza Market, CIBC and The Rec. Center), and you can always call the Shelter for more information, to make a referral, request, comments and questions- 993 5086.

Upcoming Events: The Dawson Women's Shelter is hosting a memorial ceremony at the Royal Canadian Legion on December 6th 2012 at 6 pm. This ceremony is for The Day of Remembrance and Action on Violence Against Women - a memorial for victims of December 6th murders of 14 women in Montreal and the 284 missing/murdered Aboriginal women across Canada- including 29 cases here in the North. We are holding a remembrance ceremony @ 6:30 pm and afterwards invite everyone to stay and engage in a conversation about how we work to keep our community members safe, and the action we take toward preventing and eliminating violence against women here in

12 OR A DOZEN

There are 12 eggs in an egg carton. Joseph Coyle, a newspaper editor from Smithers, British Columbia, did not invent the egg carton until 1911. He was trying to appease a local farmer and a hotel manager from Aldermere. It seems that the hotel manager was always receiving broken eggs! (Eggs were delivered in baskets back then)

H. G Bennett further improved the egg carton, now called the egg carton box, and it is still in use today.

There are also the Lost Tribes of Israel. They include:

- 1. Negros, from the tribe of Juda
- 2. Puerto Ricans, the tribe of Ephriam
- 3. Cubans, from the tribe of Mannasch
- 4. Jamaica/West Indies, who belonged to the Benjamin tribe
- 5. Mexicans, of the Issachar tribe
- 6. Haitians, the Levi's
- 7. Hawaiians/Samoans, that belonged to the Naphtali
- 8. Seminole Indians, of the Reuben Tribe
- 9. Panama/Columbia, who were members of the tribe of Zebulun
- 10. Brazil/Argentina, were once Asher's tribe.
- 11. Dominicans, are the Simeons
- 12. North American Indians, were the last of the lost tribes and they were known as the Gad.

Why were they called the Lost Tribes? Because they, the ${\bf 12}$ sons of Jacob, were sent out and they did not return...

There were also 12 disciples of Jesus (pictured above):

Simon, who Jesus named Peter

Andrew

James

John

Philip

Bartholomew

Matthew

Thomas, known as doubting Thomas

Simon, the Zealot

Judas, the son of James

Judas Iscariot, who betrayed Jesus by a kiss and was replaced by the loyal Matthias.

There is also 12 inches in a foot! For you who have grown up within the Metric System it would be nice for you to know about the Standard System. Twelve inches (an inch is 2.5 cm) make a foot (a foot would be about 30.5 cm). We also used to have yards, which were made out of three feet, or 36 inches. We had miles! Instead of km, a mile is 1760 yards, or 5280 feet, or 63,360 inches, or it can just be 1.6 km.

JUST FOR FUN

Egg carton flowers are beautiful! If you Google 'egg carton flowers' you will find all kinds of sites that will tell you how YOU can make these beautiful flowers too. It's cool and it's cheap!!!

Preventing Winter Fires & Life-Saving Tips

- ❖ Make sure your space heaters have an emergency shut off in case they tip over.
- Never use flammable liquids, such as gasoline, to start or accelerate fire.
- Use a glass or metal screen in front of your fireplace to prevent sparks from lighting nearby carpets or furniture.
- Dispose of hot ashes in metal containers placed away from the house.
- ❖ Don't use the oven to heat your home. In addition to being a Fire Hazard, it can be a source of toxic fumes.

Wishing You a happy, safe, holiday Season and a prosperous
New Year

Basic Pet First Aid

It was a great turn out for the Basic Pet First Aid Workshop on November 17th. The City of Dawson in cooperation with John Overell facilitated a short workshop on preventative care as well as some basic first aid for pets. John presented information as to why we should vaccinate and spay/neuter our pets as well as providing some large unforgettable pictures of various animal parasites. Many questions were answered and a couple people went home with a free Basic Pet First Aid kit of their own. Thanks to everyone who attended and a big thanks to John Overell for his time, knowledge and sense of humor!
