Parks Canada to Offer Business Licences for Guided Tours at SS Klondike and Dredge No. 4

Press Release

Whitehorse (March 2013) - Today, on behalf of the Honourable Peter Kent, Canada's Environment Minister and Minister responsible for Parks Canada, Mr. Ryan Leef, Member of Parliament for the Yukon, announced that Parks Canada will offer business licenses to organizations wishing to provide guided tours at SS Klondike and Dredge No. 4 national historic sites for the coming visitor season.

"Parks Canada will work collaboratively with interested businesses and stakeholders to enrich the visitor experience at SS Klondike and Dredge No. 4 national historic sites," said Mr. Leef. "By working with our tourism partners, Parks Canada can continue to meet its deficit reduction obligations and offer enhanced opportunities for the tourism industry in the Yukon."

"The Yukon government is very pleased by the measures taken by the Government of Canada to ensure that Yukon continues to offer high quality tourism experiences," said the Honourable Mike Nixon, Minister for the Department of Tourism and Culture of Yukon. "The Government of Canada clearly recognizes the value of Parks Canada sites and artefacts to Yukoners and has demonstratedarealwillingness to collaborate with us while taking the necessary steps to meet federal fiscal goals."

Parks Canada will offer business licenses to interested parties wishing to provide guided tours to their clients on SS Klondike and Dredge No. 4 national historic sites. In addition, Parks Canada will waive entry fees for guided tour groups at these locations. Tour operators will be free to determine the amount charged to their clients. Parks Canada will work with tourism groups to help them provide a safe and enjoyable experience at these sites.

"I am pleased that the Environment Minister and Parks Canada have heard Yukoners, and are presenting a viable solution that enhances our important tour ism industry while preserving Yukon's heritage," said the Honourable Daniel Lang, Senator for the Yukon.

Mr. Leef also announced that ParksCanadawillinitiateformal discussion with the Friends of Klondike Corridor Association regarding their proposal to establish a new Friends organization. Parks Canada values the contributions of Friends groups and volunteers who contribute to ensuring that the SS Klondike, Dredge No. 4 and other treasures of the Yukon remain a vibrant and dynamic part of the Yukon visitor offer.

Parks Canada is committed to SS Klondike and Dredge No. 4 remaining enjoyable and offering meaningful experiences for visitors. In addition to potential private guided tour opportunities, SS Klondike and Dredge No. 4 will continue to provide information to the public wishing to explore these sites on their own. Parks Canada is developing innovative technological and print media tools to help visitors connect to the rich history of these sites.

"National historic sites tell about our history, contribute to our identity as Canadians and support local economies," said Minister Kent. "The Government of Canada is encouraged by the commitment of the Yukon Government and various partners to work together to welcome Canadians to explore and discover our national heritage in the Yukon."

Parks Canada manages a vast collection of more than 250,000 irreplaceable historical and archaeological objects currently cared for and protected in Dawson City. This collection is in good condition and will remain in the Yukon and continue to be managed locally by Parks Canada with assistance from specialized national collections and curatorial staff as required.

Parks Canada works to ensure Canada's historic and natural heritage is protected and, through a network of 44 national parks, 167 national historic sites, and four national marine conservation areas, invites Canadians and people around the world to engage in personal moments of inspiring discovery at our treasured natural and historic places.

Announcement is Just Downloading 101, says MLA

Press Release

Whitehorse (March 11, 2013) An announcement that the private sector will take over tours of the S.S. Klondike and Dredge #4 is disappointing but not a surprise, says Klondike MLA Sandy Silver. He says it is simply confirmation our Member of Parliament was unable to convince his bosses in Ottawa to reverse cuts made a year ago at Parks Canada.

"After waiting a year the announcement isn't really an announcement at all. It's just 'Downloading 101'," said Silver. "Our MP and the Yukon's Minister of Tourism really have nothing to show for a year's worth of lobbying. There are no other options left because the Government of Canada is fixated on cutting front line services."

Silver is also disappointed that tourism stakeholders were not kept in the loop as promised by our M.P. during a January 21st conference call.

"The Mayor of Dawson, the Mayor of Whitehorse, the Klondike Visitor's Association, myself and the Tourism Industry Association all participated in the original call and were promised open lines of communication until a solution was found," he said. "We all learned about the contents of the announcement when it was made. Where is the co-operation?"

The Klondike MLA says he is baffled why the Government of Canada waited until the 11th hour to decide to let private companies runs tours this summer.

"The government has left potential operators almost no time to prepare and should have made this type of announcement months ago," he said. "It's a last minute rush that could have been avoided if the Government of Canada had actually worked with local tourism organizations."

The announcement also confirms that curation positions at Parks Canada will not be restored. This leaves no one on the ground in Dawson City to look after the extensive artifact collection.

"In our January 21st call our MP agreed this was a legitimate concern and promised to keep working on a solution to these cuts and I have heard no reassurances on this specific concern," Silver noted. "The announcement confirms our MP has given up the fight on this issue and is prepared to accept what is dictated to him by Ottawa. In his enthusiasm to commend our M.P. our Minister of Tourism has not made any mention of solutions to the question of maintaining our heritage."

OPINIONS

Uffish Thoughts: Everybody Look at the Big Shiny Objects

of a partial reprieve for two of the Yukon's stellar tourist attractions contained very few surprises and was most to be noted for the things it did not say, still it's nice to know that Dredge No. 4 and the SS Klondike won't just be sitting there with padlocks on them this coming summer.

It was interesting to read from Mr. Leef's mouth that "We've been working on this for just over a year..."

That means that, at about the same time Klondike National Historic Sites was finishing up its mandated revisions to its management plan and announcing these plans to the world, the government had already decided, in a plan that we would only learn about nearly two months later, that it was going to render that year-long exercise useless by gutting both the staff and the budget needed to carry it out.

Asked about the future of the plan at a town council meeting last fall, our local Parks superintendent was only able to say that his staff would have planned on a somewhat smaller scale if they had had any idea what the federal budget was going do to the national parks service.

this week is that Mr. Leef, and all those people standing next March 8's announcement to him in the Star's photo, are participating in a classic magician's trick. That's the one where the performer directs audience's attention away from what is actually happening by getting them to look at the comely assistant (in this case the SS Klondike) while performing a slight of hand maneuver.

Con artists use pretty much the same devices on a larger scale, as do all those email money scams we all know so

The trick is to change the focus so that you're looking at the Big Shiny Objects. In this case the BSOs are the boat and the dredge. There are the most obvious losses caused to Parks and to Yukon's tourism industry by the legerdemain known as the Omnibus Budget Bill C-38. We know that lots of people went to visit those sites, and they're right out there where it's so obvious that closing them, especially after spending millions of dollars to maintain them and make them safe, is not a fiscally conservative, prudent decision.

eliminated So, having the option of using trained interpreters working at these sites for wages that fed the

The point I need to make economies of both Whitehorse and Dawson, the option is, quoting the press release is "offer business licenses to organizations wishing to provide guided tours at SS Klondike and Dredge No. 4 national historic sites for the coming visitor season."

No details of how these businesses are going to be selected, or how the people offering the tours are going to be trained.

There's a mention in the press release that "Parks Canada developing innovative technological and print media tools to help visitors connect to the rich history of these sites."

Of course, the units (as they say) that would have been able to produce such resources have all been rolled up, downsized and paid off. They no longer exist. Will Parks be hiring outside consultants (a very common habit of the current federal government) to provide these resources?

Will they also be used to refurbish the signs and displays that were recently completed in the two communities, but which will become stale and faded after a few years exposure to summer sun and winter cold?

The press release also assures us that the 250,000 "irreplaceable historical and archaeological objects

Dredge No.4 signage - Prior to the March 8 announcement these interpretive signs and a pamphlet were all that would have been available for visitors to Dredge No. 4 to help enhance the visitor experience.

currently cared for and protected in Dawson City..." will continue to be looked after, managed locally with help from visiting Outside staff.

"Managed locally", eh? By whom, I might ask, since there is not a curator or conservator left in the territory? In fact, there aren't many left in Canada, and the last visiting staff from Ottawa were here barely long enough to wrap their heads around the sheer size of what the Klondike has, let alone look at it all.

I take particular exception to the presence of the word "enhance" as it was used in the announcement that preceded this press release and again in the release itself. When you deliberately break a system that was working and then, after months of inaction, come up with a Hail Mary Jury Rigged temporary fix for the problem you created, that is not called planning. That is called covering your posterior.

There will not be an "enhanced visitor experience" at either of these sites this coming summer. There will be a pale imitation of the visitor experience that used to be in place, and as the years go by, this presentation will become more like a faded fifth generation photocopy of a crisp original image.

Parks Canada is Abondoning Its Responsibilities

Re: Parks Canada, Dawson City and Yukon

As a born-and-raised Dawsonite, I am fully aware of what Parks Canada has and has not done with regards to the preservation and utilization of our Klondike heritage assets since their arrival in Initially, they had grand ideas – ideas that were in sync with what Dawson wanted and needed at the time.

That involved saving the assets and using them as the core for a tourism economy based on the historic Gold Rush history.

I don't know what went wrong or why, but the facts speak for

The local Parks Canada people still had a strong passion for the

It was, however, long ago set aside at a federal level. Every year for at least the last 20 years (and possibly more), it become more obvious that they had abandoned the vision completely (and never

In fits and starts, they tried this and that while continually diminishing their ability to preserve, protect and utilize our Gold Rush assets

By the mid-'80s, they told me that with regard to Bear Creek, they were "happy to record its demise."

That is a sad and sick situation. They were now looking at many of their "assets" as liabilities.

With this last round of cuts and the closing of Dredge #4, I have heard many people say, "What are they doing? They are closing their #1 attraction!"

Nailing down a #1 attraction is a bit hard to do since Parks has had a number of them; the SS Keno was its #1 attraction at one time until it was closed to visitation (now it's only partially open).

As well, Bear Creek was a #1 attraction until they closed it as well.

But it's not really about #1 attractions. It is really about all the sites that were open and interactive that are now closed or underutilized, and all the sites that should have been open but never were.

It is all about what "we have" being owned by Parks Canada, that we are unable to use to create an economy and/or even enjoy.

It is all about an owner who has become more and more delinquent with time.

The situation is that Parks has a huge inventory of heritage assets

They never did properly utilize them to help build the Klondike Gold Rush tourism economy.

As well, they have completely lost the vision and the appetite in even maintaining the assets.

They are no longer interested, willing nor able to preserve, protect and utilize the Klondike assets in anything close to what they should be doing, or to a level that both Dawson and Yukon need.

As such, I would strongly urge the Yukon government to repatriate all of Parks Canada's Klondike holdings.

The exceptions should be a very few that they will commit to maintaining and making available.

I also urge that Yukoners henceforth assume the responsibility of turning those Parks Canada "liabilities" into Yukon "assets".

Appropriate Sled Pulling Species

Re: article by John Firth that appeared in the Klondike Sun Wednesday, February 20, 2013; Vol. 23, No. 20, reprinted from The Whitehorse Star. (This Could Revolutionize the Sport of Dog Mushing!)

Dear Editor:

It was with amusement, incredulity and then astonishment that I read the 'investigative' piece by John Firth on 'revolutionizing' the sport of dog mushing.

In the ever- inventive Yukon, many kinds of animals have been used as pack animals and for transportation, but teams of rabbits pulling sleds?

That's just absurd.

As John himself alludes to, rabbits, as a prey species, often zigzag from side to side to deek out predators, which would get the lines horribly tangled. Dogs, like cats etc, are a predator species, thus they run together easily as a pack, in a straight line. Rabbits just don't have the strength or stamina to pull a sled. Besides, who could forget the tale of the tortoise and the hare?

Let rabbits stick with what they know: delivering eggs.

Seventh Avenue Dawson lit up with the flashinglightsoffiretrucks on Tuesday evening as 14 members of the Dawson Volunteer Fire Dept. responded to a chimney fire at the home of Joe and Kyla Popadynec.

"Improper cleaning, or lack thereof, created a build up of creosote at a few distinct spots throughout the piping," said Fire Chief Jim Regimbal. "Needless to say the pipe was quite hot and there were some very nice flames shooting out of the top."

A nearby neighbour described it as being a bit like a small fireworks display.

"On a positive note," Regimbal said, "no one was injured, there was no property damage and the homeowner has a lovely clean stove pipe."

Trekking Over the Top to Tie the Knot

Michael and Tracy Pollock came to Dawson City to get married during the Second Trek Over the Top.

Tracy says they thought about Las Vegas, as this is the second time for both of them, but then Michael suggested joining Trek.

Michael had made the trip over the Top of the World/Taylor route 20 years earlier with some other people, though not as part of an organized trek group, so he knew it could be great trip. He explained it to Tracy and she thought it would be really neat.

So over the top they came, hooked up with Marriage Commissioner Elizabeth Connellan, and tied the knot at her cabin in West Dawson.

Neither of them could say enough about the Trek organizers and Connellan.

The second wave of Trek Over the Top sledders arrived in Dawson on Thursday, March 7, beginning in mid-afternoon. Registration was at the Visitors Information Centre. There were 116 in this week's contingent.

Diamond Tooth Gerties was open for all three nights of the Trekkers' stay, with banquets on Friday (Firefighters' Steak BBQ) and Saturday (Prime Rib from Nora's Kitchen) as well as stage shows by Gillian Campbell on both nights. The Snowshoe Shufflers were part of the entertainment, and the popular Snowmobile Olympics event was back this year, along with the can-can dancers.

Friday was a town day, with tours at the museum and a variety of options at the Dawson City Curling Club. From the number of fresh sled trails that appeared after the first trek, come folks simply chose to cruise the rivers, hills and fields.

Saturday was the big sledding day, with the Dawson City Sled Dawgs' celebrated Poker Run.

On Sunday, with the good weather promising to hold, the Trekkers headed back to Tok over the Top of the World/Taylor Highway route, bringing the  $20^{\rm th}$  Trek Over the Top to a close.

Trekkers enjoy the company of the Shoeshoe Shufflers at Diamond Tooth Gerties (floor shown above) during the second banquet evening.

Our Klondike Kate

Gillian Campbell was at Diamond Tooth Gertie's this past weekend and it was a show to remember.

Gillian has entertained in Japan, Hong Kong, Thailand, Singapore, Indonesia, all over the States, including Disneyland and Disneyworld. She has also entertained all through Alaska and Canada, once spending 5 years as Edmonton's Kate during their Klondike celebrations.

She owns over $100,000 in original gowns, hats, jewelry and boas! And they are stunning.

The evening started out with the Snow Shoe Shufflers, who were awesome as usual. They even had a subliminal message attached to their upper regions welcoming the Trek over the Top boys, and girls, to Dawson and their 20th anniversary of the meet.

After a brief pause the Snow Shoe girls came out to mingle with the customers and four beautiful young ladies, dressed in full regalia, entertained us with a dance.

Then what we all had been waiting for - Gillian Campbell stepped out on the stage wearing a fiery red gown, hat, and of course the boa. She came out into the audience and had her trademark banter going out to everyone.

Some of you all know Joey from the Downtown Hotel. Well, she had him up on stage "shaking his bootie". Every time she called him "Ducky" he turned bright red. It was one of the funniest things I have seen in a long time.

Then she sang Happy Birthday to a man in the audience and made another woman from the audience bestow the birthday kiss!

Another short break followed as Mr. Shiny Shoes (Ron Thompson aka Smiley) came out on stage dressed in

Gillan's Always Delighted to Be in Dawson

Photo & Story by Alice Thompson

Gillian positively glows with excitement when talking about Dawson City in her interview with me. She is a very easy person to interview, because the words and enthusiasm just flow from her.

"I have the best musicians, I have Bill Costin from Dawson. we have Ron Thompson as bass player, they are brilliant, and my son of course, Richard Campbell, on the drums.

"I feel like I have never been away. Everybody is so nice; they make me feel at home, like we belong there. Mark and June Mather take such good care of us, all the wonderful meals for us, and the cookies were exceptional. Lovely meals June did for us. Oh Dear... We forgot to thank the Downtown Hotel ... also KVA."

I quickly resigned myself and no longer tried to direct the interview, just concentrated on catching her comments, delivered at a rapid but coherent

"The Snowshoe Shufflers were great ladies, great ladies... they helped with our show and with the audience. They aren't part of my show but we feel like they are family too. Debbie Winston - she used to be part owner of the Frantic Follies in Whitehorse - she said, 'Would you like to use my Can-Can skirts?' (for the show). She is in Dawson City and we went over for tea and picked up the skirts and Debbie picked them up and steamed them, and the girls looked fantastic. Debbie's' skirts were longer, more frills and vibrant colours.

"We have the Sarah Moore Dancers out of Vancouver. I have worked with Sarah Moore for years and her Dancers. Sarah is a perfectionist, and her dancers are such ladies, and it's always a pleasure working with them.

"My new black costume that my friend Ray Buchanan made, we call it the Marlene Dietrich Dress, as someone said, it's stunning. It was made for this trip up to Dawson. He said 'You have to have a new gown for Dawson City and the Sourdough Rendezvous.'

"The KVA and Mark & June Mather invited us up. The first time he invited us up was 2005 for the International Dog Sled Mushers. The last time before was during the Gaslight Follies in the 1980's. Peter Jenkins, he called us up and we did the International Gold Show with Daryl Steininger in the 1980's.

"The KVA has had us up multiple times since 2005, the last time was 2 years ago. So we were thrilled to bits to come up this time, always, to come up to Dawson City."

Both Gillian and Edward agreed that Dawson is very special to them, as it is the City where they met. I had seen the warmth between them when I ran into Gillian at the Wild & Wooly, where I took some portraits of them for the interview. Of course I had to hear the story of how they met... This was back in 1967 when Edward worked as the Dawson Manager of the local Bank of Montreal (which was located in the BNA Bank building).

Gillian began: "I arrived on the plane with my two small sons; they were still in nappies."

Edward quickly interjected,

"And I told Vic Peters - he was the manager of the Commerce, we went out in his pickup truck to pick up the luggage - and the four showgirls were coming off the plane, and Gillian came off with those two babies, and then I said to Vic, 'I think she will be the best of the works.'

"She was married at the time and very proper, but we kept running in to each other"

Gillian continued: "We were like ships that passed in the night. When I was at the PNE working with Bobby Hales and Edward would be in the audience and I would wave and say hi. I was driving down Hasting Street on September 27 1986 and I saw him so I stopped the car and went out and gave him a big hug, and he said, 'Why not have dinner with me?' I wasn't thinking of romance, but I felt so comfortable with him, it was like coming home."

Edward said, "It was exciting to sort of get back together again. She asked me what bank I worked at and I said I own and train race horses."

Gillian ended up walking the horses, and picking up manure.

"Good for the waistline," Gillian interjected. "We started going out once a week, and I would buy him Fish and Chips. We were buddies."

Edward concluded, "I always felt very comfortable with Gillian."

gold and black and his fingers danced upon the strings making his banjo sound unlike any instrument I have ever heard. He was fantastic.

Now the stage was taken over by four 'flappers' in bright red shimmy dresses. Talk about energy! One could become exhausted just watching them. Needless to say they were fantastic as well.

Then back she came unto the stage. This time she was wearing a long back gown, a black boa, and a beautiful black hat ringed in bright red roses. Gillian led the crowd in a sing-a-long with such old favorites as Shine on Harvest Moon and Heart of my Heart.

Then the fun began again. Thomas was brought up on stage and was given this wicked tongue twister that was about a girl named Suzie who was sitting in a shoeshine shop.... He did extremely well. Congratulations Thomas!

Then the Shufflers gathered up 8 unsuspecting fellows and put them on stage. There they were dressed up in red long johns and some crazy hats and led through a slightly disorganized can-can. Then the men were sent off to find 8 unsuspecting women. They danced to 'hands and knees' and got faster and faster and faster still, then they broke up into uncontrollable laughter.

After a few more songs and Gillian's thanks to the crowd the balloons were released. Have you ever seen 50+ people all over the age of 19, most over the age of 40 or 50, playing with a bunch of balloons? I laughed so hard tears ran down my face. Thanks Gillian.

Businesses Asked To Save Parks Canada Tours On Short Notice

Press Release

WHITEHORSE (March 11, 2013) - The Tourism Industry Association of the Yukon (TIA Yukon) is concerned by the short timeline that the federal government has given the private sector to take on the responsibility of some of the Parks Canada front line services that were affected by last year's cuts. The government announced Friday that its process of granting business licenses for tours of the S.S. Klondike and Dredge #4 would only provide six weeks for businesses to properly prepare for the 2013 season.

"TIA Yukon could have supported a plan to transition Parks Canada sites and services to the private sector if adequate time was given for the industry to properly prepare," says TIA Yukon Chair Neil Hartling. "While we have the utmost confidence in the ability of the industry, business owners should not have been put in this position so close to the start of the season. Usually a successful transition like this would take about two years, not two months. This shows a real lack of planning by the federal government and is incredibly unfair to the operators who have been looking for certainty on this issue since the cuts were announced almost a year ago."

Hartling says that operators have to start planning their seasons eighteen months in advance. They tailor their marketing and staffing decisions to the products that they plan to offer. Some operators may see opportunity in conducting tours of the S.S. Klondike and Dredge #4 for the 2013 season even at this late juncture, but as many have already said, 'the devil is in the details'. If this model of operation continues beyond this summer, the 2014 season may offer more opportunities once the industry has had a chance to adjust, but for the 2013 season it will be a testament to the adaptability of individual operators to be able to make these tours a success on such short notice. It remains to be seen if any operators will come forward to try to work a miracle for the 2013 season with this tight timeline

Despite the MP's assurances that good news about Parks

Canada would be delivered by the end of February, Friday's announcement came at least a week later than expected with newsthataccording to Hartling, was 'light on substance and sugarcoating'. heavy on Private sector tours on the S.S. Klondike and Dredge #4 were something that Parks Canada authorized in the past and something that many believed it would authorize again. The fact that this was the crux of Friday's announcement left many wondering, 'where's the beef?'"

In May 2012, TIA Yukon became the first of many to call attention to the ramifications that the cuts to Parks Canada in the Yukon would have on the territory. TIA Yukon has consistently stated that the ideal resolution to this issue would be for the federal government to acknowledge its mistake and reinstate the funding to Parks Canada so that services affected by the cuts could continue to operate as before. When it became clear that this was unlikely to happen, TIA Yukon stated that it would be open to supporting alternatives to prevent gaps

Oldtimers' Still Got It

The Dawson City Generals beat the Roadhouse Rats 2-1 to win the Whitehorse Oldtimers Tournament Group A Sunday afternoon, March 10, at Takhini Arena. Ron Servatius, pictured back row, centre, scored the overtime winner.

Editor's note: Original in Whitehorse Star, March 11/13. Used with permission.

Two visiting teams snatched victory from the hands of local hockey clubs in the Whitehorse Oldtimers Tournament on March 10.

Dawson City beat the Roadhouse Rats 2-1 in overtime to win Group A, after Watson Lake edged Dease Lake 3-2 to win Group B. Both the Rats and Dease Lake were undefeated going into their championship matches.

The tournament saw 10 teams from across the territory playing at Takhini Arena throughout the weekend. Seven of the 10 clubs were from Whitehorse.

Dawson defenceman Ron Servatius capitalized on a Rats turnover and snapped a long shot past goalie Mike Hawkins to win the A final.

Frank Kormandy's goal had staked Dawson to a 1-0 lead in the first, but a shot from Rats' forward Jeff Jensen eluded Dawson goalie Daniel Green in the second period to tie it at 1-1, setting the game up for Servatius' OT heroics.

"I can't remember the last time I scored in overtime," Servatius admitted post-game.

"It's a good feeling. We were running out of gas and I didn't want it to go any farther than we had to. It was a big win for Dawson and I'm really happy for our goaltender.

Our goaltender played awesome and that goal was for him. He was the MVP for us for the weekend."

Green was solid in the final, in a game where his teammates racked up 10 minor penalties compared to six for the Rats.

In a round-robin game Saturday, the Rats beat Dawson 5-0, handing them their only loss of the tournament.

"They totally dominated us," said Servatius. "But I think we were out of gas. We've got a pretty old team, average-age wise."

Dawson's average age was 48, second only to the Rats' average of 51 in Group A.

Servatius, from Whitehorse, had two minor penalties in the

"We've got a good bunch of guys," the defenceman said. "It's all for the pride. We don't play for the prizes and everything like that. We get a towel afterwards if you win. But for the communities to come in and be competitive, it brings the communities back. It's the one time of the year that we can get together and have some fun."

Jensen said it's nice to see the trophy be won by teams from across the territory.

"It's nice to see it spread around," he told the Star. "Maybe we'll win next year. We really look forward to playing in the tournament. It's super fun, win or lose."

He said in the last four years, the Rats have been in overtime of the championship game three times, winning once.

"It doesn't get any better," Jensen said of the overtime games. "We had a blast. We had so many shots on net. The play was all in the other end just about the whole game, but that's the way it goes."

In the Group B final, Charles Brodhagen scored what stood up as the game-winner late in the second period to give Watson Lake the win.

Darrell Peters and Adam Lightfoot also scored in the win, while Ken Cook and Emil Dendys replied for Dease Lake.

With the win, Watson Lake avenged their opening game loss to Dease Lake, 8-4.

"The oldtimers is all about participation and recreation," said tournament organizer Stu

The tournament gives local players who are unable to travel out of town for other oldtimer tournaments a chance to face off with players from across the territory.

"Some the smaller communities don't have regular teams or leagues," Mackay explained.

Blast No. 34: He Stomped His Way Into Our Hearts

By Lisa McKenna

I was going to write about Patsy Cline for this issue, but then I heard a Canadian Legend died last Wednesday.

He was born Feb. 9, 1936 and died March 6, 2013. He was born to an unwed teenage mother and spent his first three years living hand-to-mouth while they were hitchhiking around the country. When he was four he learned how to beg on the streets. He was finally taken into the care of Child Services and put up for adoption. One year later he was adopted by a couple from P.E.I., only to run away at 13 and travel the countryside. He bought his first guitar at

His first "professional" gig was in a bar in Timmins Ontario, he was 5 cents short for a beer! The bartender said he would buy him a beer if he would play a few tunes. He was 28 at the time and that one beer led into a 14-month contract.

Within three years he had cut his first album and in 1970 he had his first number one hit. He was "devoted to sing about (Canada's) people and places that make Canada the greatest country in the world".

He called Canada "the most underwritten country in the world as far as songs are concerned".

He felt that "We starve - the people in this country are starving for songs about their homeland".

In the seventies he returned all 6 of his Juno Awards, because he felt that there was a lack of support for Canadian stories and he was against what he called "turncoat Canadians". These are Canadians who live and work in the U.S.A. but were still receiving Canadian Music Awards. He dropped from the public eye and it was even rumored that he was dead. But in 1988 he returned to the music scene releasing his first album since 1977.

In 1993 he even refused to be inducted into the Canadian Country Music Hall of Fame.

He believed that "people should die without their dreams being fulfilled so maybe they can have an excuse for coming back round again". I wonder if he fulfilled all of his?

With his traditional black cowboy hat and stompin' boots, Stompin' Tom Connors stomped his way into the hearts of many a Canadian. I hope he does come "back round again".

in service, such as private sector involvement, but that at the very least, temporary funding would need to be given to Parks Canada to get the Yukon through the 2013 season so that the industry and other stakeholders would have the proper time to put these alternatives in place. TIA Yukon reiterated this message in separate meetings with Yukon MP Ryan Leef, Yukon Tourism Minister Mike Nixon and federal Minister of State for Small Business and Tourism, Maxime

TIA Yukon acknowledges that the federal government is making reductions all across the public service and that it wouldn't be realistic to expect Parks Canada to be immune to these changes. The problem is, Parks Canada was hit especially hard by these changes, and the cuts that affected Parks Canada in the Yukon were among the worst in the country. In terms of dollars and cents, the economic impact that Parks Canada services provide in the Yukon have a major impact on the tourism revenue that is generated in the territory and the local economies of communities like Dawson City and Haines Junction. If these services were identified as a cost that the federal government was unwilling to bear, the government should have worked to set up an alternative plan before these cuts were announced last year. TIA Yukon believes that good planning saves money, whereas poor planning leaves people scrambling and usually results in lost revenue, or at the very least, the inability to maximize profits.

"If the federal government had come to TIA Yukon soon after the cuts were announced with a plan outlining how a successful transition of product could be achieved, TIA Yukon could have worked to help the plan come to fruition," says TIA Executive Director Blake Rogers. "If the Yukon's MP was able to convince his government to reverse the cuts to Parks Canada in the Yukon, or at least provide temporary funding to get the Yukon through the 2013 season, TIA Yukon would be the first to give praise for this achievement. These are things that needed to happen to ensure a successful 2013 season. Neither of these things happened."

Aside from the questions about the S.S. Klondike and Dredge #4, TIA Yukon is also worried about the management of the territory's more than 250,000 cherished archival documents and artifacts overseen by Parks Canada. All of the local curatorial and conservation staff responsible for caring for these collections were eliminated as a result of last year's cuts to Parks Canada, but Friday's announcement says that these services would be provided "as required." This is an ambiguity that raises questions and concerns.

Mr. Leef also said that all of the artifacts in the territory would now remain in the territory - on the conference call after the announcement he declared this as a "small victory". As it turns out though, there was never any plan to have any of these artifacts shipped out of the Yukon.

THE KLONDIKE SUN

Great Leaders: Henry Ford

By Lisa McKenna

Henry Ford was an American Industrialist in the early 1900's. He was born in Dearborn, Michigan in 1863 and died in 1947, at the age of 84, in Dearborn, Michigan.

Henry created the Ford Motor Company, assembly lines, and mass production.

His interests in mechanical things began in his early teens when he was given a pocket watch. By the age of 15 he had a reputation of being a 'clock smith' as he dismantled and put back in running order all the watches and clocks of his friends and neighbors.

"I never had any particular love for the farm, it was the mother on the farm I loved."

Henry left home at the age of 16 to become a machinist's apprentice in Detroit. By 1891 Ford was an Engineer at the Edison Light Company, only to be promoted to Chief Engineer by 1893. This promotion gave Ford the finances and free time he needed to pursue his interests, the top one being gasoline engines.

In 1896 he had the FIRST selfpropelled vehicle. It was called the Ford Quadricycle!

Ford Motor Company was opened in 1903.

Henry's goal became to manufacture vehicles that were affordable to more people than just the super rich. By 1908 the Model T Ford was in production. Using automation by 1914 he was able to produce a car in 93 minutes! By 1927 Ford had sold over 15,000,000 vehicles (fondly referred to as 'Tin Lizzys) were 'available in any color, as long as it's black'!

The common car forever changed the shape of America (and other countries). Better roads were built, gas stations were needed, and small towns grew around these stations, thereby creating the structure of modern America.

Not only did Henry revolutionize the physical structure of America but he also revolutionized the industries by offering high wages ($5.00/ day!) and 8-hour workdays.

But Henry Ford was not just a maker of cars. He also owned a railway, built airplanes, owned the mines and lands that supplied his factories, published a newspaper, and built a hospital!

Lost Patrol preparations head for the Dempster

by Dan Davidson
Winter reconnaissance patrols from Dawson City to the Dempster Highway aren't the usual order of the day any more. Time was, in the 1920s-1940s, when there were smaller settlements such as Grand Forks and Granville to be served, that R.C.M.P. patrols would range widely during the winter, going so far as Fort McPherson, the destination of the famous Lost Patrol of 1920.

To mark the 75th anniversary of that patrol, the 50th anniversary of the last such patrol, and the 100th anniversary of the force in the Yukon, the Mounties are planning a number of events for 1995. One of these is a re-creation of the Lost Patrol route.

A event like this takes some advance planning, and so 6 members of the force were in Dawson over the Heritage Day weekend to skidoo patrol of the first 100 miles of the traditional route. Six snow machines and equipment arrived in Dawson about an hour late on Saturday, slowed by an unplowed 10 cm of snow on the Klondike Highway north of Whitehorse over the holiday weekend.

Peter Greenlaw, a former Dawson Mountie, and the man in charge of the expedition, expected to take 2 to 3 days to make the journey, depending on the conditions. In addition to the 6 Mounties, there were 2 local representatives. Peter Nagano for the Dawson First Nation, and Jim Allision of the Canadian Forces Reserves, joined Greenlaw, Pat Maloney, Mike Blumenschein. Martin Allen, Wayne Hoffman

Living on the Golden Edge

by Dan Davidson

At the beginning of the final performance of the "The Golden Edge", one of the girls in the 13 member cast suddenly began to cry. Perhaps the sight of the crowded ancillary room at the Robert Service School, combined with several intent video cameras and the faces of many of the people who had provided the raw material for the play was just too

Perhaps it was the knowledge that a two week long intense experience was coming to an end. Perhaps it was just the thought of going back to regular classes. Whatever the case, the tears began to flow. She struggled to pull herself together, and with a little help from her classmates she was doing fine by the time the first song was over.

There are some things you just have to do, no matter how you feel about them at the time.

"The Golden Edge" was largely a student production, researched and assembled under the watchful ai teachers and two imported resource became strong enough that their people. Spanning grades 7-11, the students were selected for this interdisciplinary activity and set to work just before the school's second term examinations in mid-

In that time they fanned out into the community under the direction of teacher-librarian Betty Davidson and principal Carol McCauley and interviewed a dozen or more elders and people who had lived in the community for a long time. These interviews became the monologues which were the core of the final production.

During the last week in February the cast moved to the rarified atmosphere of the Old Territorial Building. There, surrounded by the helpful staff and the atmosphere of the Dawson City Museum, the script began to take shape. The researchers learned to become playwrights, actors and directors under the tutelage of Jim Shaefer, a teacher of acting from the University of Western Ontario in Shaefer became mentor to the entire group, infusing them with an enthusiasm for the project, pushing, prodding, and ultimately empowering them to succeed. The attachment between them were tears in more than one set of eyes when the end came two weeks later.

created, refined and cast for production. Enter Whitehorse composer Grant Simpson, perhaps better known for his satirical ditties on C.B.C. radio. Simpson, his synthesizer and computer arrived to add some tunes to the show, based on ideas tossed out by the students and refined into songs by him during a hectic Monday and Tuesday while other preparations continued back at the school. That left him about a day and a half to whip the cast into shape to both sing and perform.

The Klondike Visitors Association Shows a Profit but Still Faces Challenges

Story & Photos By Dan Davidson

While the Klondike Visitors Association managed a profit of $201,185 in 2012, up from a slender $30,167 in 2011, that margin was not achieved without some hard trimming and pruning of expenditures, andtreasurerDavidRohatensky warnedtheassembledmembers on February 26 that the organization has been putting off some required projects for too long now.

"At the best of times," wrote executive director Gary Parker in his report, "KVA's operating margins are fragile. In recent years we have faced serious financial challenges, including internal threats from increasing operating and capital expense trends contrasted with uncertain and declining revenues, as well as external threats in an everchanging, competitive visitor industry.'

The years 2008 to 2010 saw the KVA adjusting its budgets in mid-season, cutting back, and still losing money. The rise into the black in 2011 was slender indeed.

Presently, the association is in the midst of union negotiations for the contract that expired last April, and conciliation meetings will begin this coming May to resolve the impasse.

One of the biggest challenges facing the KVA is the aging of its banks of slot machines, the first of which were purchased in 1992. With his characteristic dry humour, Parker noted that several generations of "machines still in use at Gerties have become unintentionally and unsustainably 'historic'."

They can no longer be upgraded or repaired and will need to be replaced no later than the beginning of the 2014 visitor season.

Since the territorial government collects 25% of the revenues from these machines ($284,584 in 2012), it makes sense to the KVA executive that YTG should, like any other partner, chip in some cash when it comes to replacing the source of that income. Parker indicated that those negotiations are also in progress.

During the year ahead Parker indicated that the KVA will be updating its marketing plan and renewing its website (once again) as well as continuing with the pilot project phase of its online Point of Sales project, which has another year to run under the funding agreement from CanNor.

Funding from CanNor will also allow the association to participate in the research and development of a Klondike UNESCO World Heritage Site Feasibility Assessment and Strategic Plan.

"UNESCO designation," Parker wrote, "continues to be the single most important and effective step our community can take to enhance global awareness and ensure preservation of our unique Klondike Gold Rush Heritage.

"The most recent round of cutbacks by Parks Canada is a clear and present reminder that the future of this valuable resource is in jeopardy."

To continue to promote both tourism and the community the KVA has continued to be a member of the Klondike Development Organization, which it helped to found.

The longest debate at this year's AGM focussed on changes to the bylaws, which moved the AGM to March and reduced the number of board positions to a set number of 8 (it has been a "flexi-board" with between 8 and 12 members) and reduced the residency qualification for board membership from 9 months to 5 months to allow a greater participation.

Previously there had been one seat reserved for seasonal residents. That seat disappeared in the proposal, which left all seats open for seasonal people.

Members expressed concern that key board positions needed to go to people who live here most of the year, but did pass the resolution after considerable discussion.

The KVA had no trouble finding new directors this year. Marc Johnson and Eric Zalitis remained with the board for the second year of their terms, while new members (some returning) included Peggy Amendola, Brian Stethem, Mark Mathers, Evelyn Pollock, John Nunan and David Rohatensky. Some of these will have one-year terms and some two-year terms. The actual makeup of the executive is always decided after the first meeting of the group.

Greetings were sent to the meeting by Mayor Wayne Potoroka (who was at a town council meeting) and MLA Sandy Silver (who had to be in the capital to receive the Auditor Generals' Report on the Yukon Hospital Corp.).

Pierre Germain, YTG's Director of the Dept. of Tourism and Culture, presented a positive sounding update on the state of the tourism industry.

The meeting was a successful one, but it should be noted that attendance was not large. The staff actually put out fewer chairs this year in anticipation of small numbers. It does seem  $odd\,that\,a\,that\,a\,major\,economic$ player in the community with a balanced budget of $1.8 million (after payments to YTG), that manages leverage $2.1 million in revenues that are reinvested within the territory, cannot attract more than 20 people to attend its annual general meeting.

The AGM was held in Diamond Tooth Gerties.

Taking the Saxophone to the Limit

The Quasar saxophone quartet is capable of playing a wide range of styles and all sorts of music, whether written or improvised. Meeting with students at the Yukon School of Visual Arts the morning after their concert at the Oddfellows Hall, they arranged themselves in the four corners of the room and presented an experiment in quadraphonic sound for their first display.

Most of the rest of that session was experimental. The group challenged the students to indicate what they would like to hear by drawing squiggles on a chalkboard, and then performed what they thought those squiggles might mean.

Displaying some of the newer sheet music they sometimes use showed the vast difference between traditional notation and the experimental styles they like the most. Techniques included blowing without reeds, coaxing percussion effects out of their instruments and producing percussive popping sounds as well as blowing more than one note at a time.

The previous evening's concert on March 3 was less experimental than that. Titled "From Bach to Zappa", each set did begin with music in a more traditional style, but then moved on to a second half which tested the limits of their instruments once again.

There was Bach and Mozartin the mix and a Russian Romantic composer named Glazunov.

Michel Frigon's "Geyser Ghetto" had the musicians coax geyser like sounds from their instruments.

Will Gregory's "Hoedown" allowed the sometimes ponderous baritone sax to step up its speed and emulate a hoedown or even a ceilidh style. His "High Life" borrowed from South African rhythm patterns, with the four players replicating something like the sounds heard in African pop/rock groups, especially the jangling guitar parts.

Gilles Tremblay's "Levées" was commissioned for the group. They described it as a three part piece that attempted "organize aisoraer involved members of the group throwing snatches of melody back and forth at each other in somethingalmost like a four way duel.

The concert ended with extracts from a work by Frank Zappa, a composer best known for his rock and roll work with the Mothers of Invention. "Black Page #1, Zoomby Woof" has that name partly because of the density of the notation on the first page.

History Channel's Yukon Gold Hit the Air in March

By Dan Davidson

Wednesday, March 13 saw the network launch of "Yukon Gold", the latest entry in the reality TV gold rush that seems to have achieved great popularity on certain of the specialty channels.

"Gold Rush" (formerly "Gold Rush Alaska") runs on the Discovery Channel and follows the fortunes of two crews, one based in the Dawson and the other in Alaska.

"Yukon Gold" is running on the History Channel. It is being produced by Paperny Entertainment for the Shaw Media specialty channel.

This series, which filmed in the Klondike last summer, follows the fortunes of four mining crews as they "try to strike it rich during northern Canada's extremely short mining season."

Ken Foy and Guillaume Brodeur are mining on Moose Creek. Big Al McGregor is on the Indian River. Bernie Kreft is on McDame Creek. Karl Knutson is on Sulphur Creek.

"Episode 1: Sluice or Die" was released to media for viewing a few weeks ago. It begins with panoramic view of the Klondike as Big Al's voice-over talks a bit about the fact of gold fever and how you have to be careful it doesn't consume you.

Unlike the earlier entry in this genre, it is immediately obvious that the viewer is looking at the Dawson City.

A ticking clock and a deadline are devices often used to heighten tension in scripted dramas. Such is also the case here, as we watch the crews struggle to get their equipment running so they can begin sluicing paydirt.

One crew is frustrated by the lack of good colour in the area they are excavating, but the other two simply have machine problems, as "the Beast" (a huge sluice) and "Big Girl" (an excavator) run into problem after problem.

If you can't find the paydirt to sluice, or if you can't get it to the sluices, then you can't make a profit, and the story line says that they all need to do that in order to survive.

Each show will feature three of the mining crews, so the Knutsons were not seen in the first episode.

Big Al McGregor comes from Northern Alberta where he has spent a career in the oil patch. Tired of that life, he and his wife decided to invest their savings in a Yukon placer mine.

Interviewed from Alberta two days before the show aired, McGregor says he thinks people will see a difference between the two placer mining based series.

"People are going to appreciate the fact that these are real miners. These are real families. They got to try to make a go of it. A lot of these Yukon, at the Klondike, and at guys have been at this a lot of some of the other crews have been there quite a while."

McGregor says he was lured north by the chance to strike some serious gold.

"It was a lifestyle change. I'd reached an age where it was time for me to chase a dream and this was my dream."

He'll soon be back for his second full season with the show, but there's more to it for him than playing to the years. I'm fairly new to it, but Colleen and I did, that this was a long-term thing. You can't just go and expect to hit her big the first year. We have a long-term plan in mind. I'm not doing this just for the show. This is our livelihood now. I'm very happy to share it with the rest of the world."

> The people at McGregor's camp spend most of their time there and haven't seen a lot of Dawson.

> "Mostly it's a screaming rush to get a part or supplies and then get back to camp."

McGregor says they really aren't staging all the minor disasters that seem to be a big part of the show.

"It's never calm out there. It seems like Murphy's Law all the time. Things just break at the most wrong times."

The audience will see what can go wrong and what can go right over the 10-episode run of the series.

Reaction was very positive at the March meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

Richard Van Camp Holds his Audiences of all Ages

Story and photos By Dan Davidson

Richard Van Camp had a big day in Dawson City on Monday, March 4, meeting with students at the Robert Service School, with Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in elders and showing The Lesser Blessed, the film made from his novel of that name.

There were two presentations at the school and Van Camp showed his versatility as he captured both elementary (K-6) and high school (7-12) audiences.

To both groups he stressed the idea that he began writing because, although he was a fan of all the typical stuff that was being read by teens when he was young, he developed a hunger to see stories that would reflect his northern reality.

Van Camp is a proud member of the Dogrib (Tlicho) Nation from Fort Smith, NWT, Canada. A graduate of the En'owkin International School of Writing, the University of Victoria's Creative Writing BFA Program, and the Master's Degree in Creative Writing at the University of British Columbia.

He began writing his first novel in secret and finished it while he was still taking classes at university. He showed it to an agent who managed to sell it within a year and it was published in 1996. Since that time he has produced several volumes of short stories, as well as several picture books aimed at the very young and two comic books. His work has been translated into a number of foreign languages.

He is proud of his northern heritage and likes to note that he is the first person from Fort Smith and from the Dogrib Nation to become a published author.

For the younger students Van Camp told a number of stories and read from his baby board book, Welcome Song for Baby.

With the older students he talked more about his high school experiences, bullying, some of the people that inspired The Lesser Blessed, and the fact that even the very young can find a powerful writing voice.

At the cultural centre that evening a good crowd turned out to see the film and in the Q&A afterwards he described the torturous history that I took for get the movie made. It was hard to line up the budget of somewhat less than three million dollars and those difficulties caused the film to be shot on a reserve near Sudbury, Ontario, rather than in Fort Smith, where he would have liked to have seen in made.

The negotiations were, he noted, done before the success of Arctic Air and shows like Ice Road Truckers, and he still hopes to see some of his work brought to the screen in his home territory.

Van Camp has developed as an engaging, personable storyteller who invites you to participate in his work. While there are some very serious themes in his stories, he radiates a joy in living which in infectious.

Van Camp was in the Yukon sponsored by the Yukon Public Library system, the Yukon Film Society and the Yukon Arts

In Dawson he was hosted by the Dawson Community Library and the Dawson City Arts Society, with presentations held in the school's Ancillary Room and at the Dänojà Zho Cultural Centre.

McDonald Lodge will be replaced, says Premier

Story & Photos By Dan Davidson

It's been promised for a number of years, and is said to be phase two of the program that began with the replacement of the Dawson Health Centre, but it is now official. The Yukon government will be replacing the McDonald Lodge, the seniors' care facility currently located on Fifth Avenue.

This is second recent announcement related to elder care. Mayo also received a visit from the Premier this week, on the morning of the same day.

"This is about commitments," Pasloski told an audience of about 15 locals during a light dinner meeting at the Downtown Hotel. As the meeting was sponsored by the Dawson Chamber of Commerce, this was mostly a business crowd.

"This is a project that has been talked about in this community for a long long time and was pushed very hard by the last MLA for Klondike, Steve Nordick," he said.

"I'm here to say that in the upcoming budget, and pending the approval of the Legislative Assembly, we are ready to move forward with building a new McDonald Lodge."

The present facility, renovated numerous times since then, was opened by Commissioner James Smith in August 1970 and is more than 40 years old.

"In 2011, a technical assessment confirmed what many Dawsonites already knew, that McDonald Lodge is at the end of its useful life," Pasloski said in a later press release. "Last year designs were developed and now I'm pleased to say we will deliver on another commitment and replace the old lodge in the near future, pending legislative approval.

The premier was on tour in the communities with Health and Social Services Minister Doug Graham and Education and Yukon Housing Minister Scott Kent, visiting both Mayo and Dawson on this day.

Also present were deputy ministers Pamela Hine (Yukon Housing Corp.) and Mike Johnson (Highways and Public Works).

While in town the group meet with mayor and council as well as with the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in council.

The government intends to replace the existing 11-bed building with a facility that increases capacity to 15 beds and meets the care needs of residents in Dawson and northern Yukon.

Presently the lodge houses residents from Dawson, Mayo, Old Crow, Pelly Crossing and Fort McPherson from time to time.

"Additional beds enable flexibility and support programming space to meet other community care needs like recovery and respite care," Minister Graham said in the press release.

The Premier mentioned such services as respite, convalescing and home care.

Pasloski was full of praise for the staff at McDonald Lodge, many of whom he has been familiar with during the years that he ran the Shoppers Drug Mart stores in Whitehorse.

"Yukon is aging. While we are a young population, we are aging much faster than the rest of Canada is. One of the reasons is that we simply live in an incredible place and can deliver the health care that people want. Not only are people deciding to retire here, but some families are seeing the benefits of having their parents be here as well.

"This (announcement) is to deliver on something that we had in our platform, and that was (also) the reason that we were in Mayo earlier today."

Mayo will be receiving a new seniors' housing facility. Pasloski noted that over the past five years, the Yukon Housing Corporation constructed new housing facilities in Watson Lake, Teslin, Faro, Haines Junction and Whitehorse.

As previously indicated, the new building will be erected using the present site of the Dawson City Health Centre, on the corner of Church Street and Sixth Avenue, which will put it beside the new hospital after that is completed. This will allow for opportunities to share heat, power and food services.

History Hunter: The Percy DeWolfe race is a tribute to early mail carriers

by Michael Gates ©

The Yukon Quest is finished for another year, and it won't be long before the The Percy DeWolfe Memorial Mail Race is run from Dawson City to Eagle, Alaska, and back. The race is named in honour of the last of a unique breed of men: the early mail carriers in the Yukon.

Percy DeWolfe carried mail by horse or dog team, and by boat between Dawson City and Eagle for nearly forty years, until he retired in 1949. He is reputed to have defied the elements on countless occasions, sometimes escaping death by a hair. In 1935, he received a silver medal for his service to the Yukon Territory from King George V.

Every year, one of the competing mushers in "The Percy" is chosen by a draw to carry the commemorative mail from Dawson to Eagle and back.

Carrying the mail in the early days was a physically challenging, sometimes lethal pursuit. The first documented mail carrier was Tom Williams, who in 1886, volunteered to carry mail to the coast that announced the discovery of gold in large quantities on the Fortymile River.

It was the dead of winter, but Williams persevered through melting temperatures, raging sub-zero arctic gales and starvation to carry his vital news to John Healy's trading post at Dyea, Alaska. Williams died from the ordeal, but the mail got through.

Then there was John Brauer, from Circle City, Alaska. Brauer set out from Circle City with the U.S. mail September 14, 1897 and poled three hundred miles up the Yukon River to Dawson City in eleven days. From there, he continued on his laborious journey with three other men, pushing a scow up the iceclogged Yukon River.

At Sixty Mile they were compelled to lay over for five days because of poor conditions. Every couple of days after that, he and his party had to take their tiny boat out of the water to remove the ice caked on the hull, until they reached Carmack's Post. There they turned landward over the Dalton Trail. He and his travelling party joined another group, which included Joe Boyle and Swiftwater Bill Gates. Together, they struggled through a metre of snow and brutal weather and trail conditions for twenty-five days.

During their trek over the trail, the temperature varied from minus fifteen degrees during the daytime to minus forty degrees below zero at night. They had to burrow into the snow in the dark with nothing but their dogs and a blanket to keep them warm. They started out with eight horses, but eventually had to kill them all to feed their dogs. but they all reached the coast alive. For this effort, Brauer's letters cost a mere two cents each for delivery.

During the gold rush, Ignace and Fred Hebert carried mail between Skagway and Dawson

City, each with a team of ten Labrador dogs. Ben Atwater, from Morrison, Illinois, who had first come into the Yukon basin to prospect in 1886, carried mail from Circle and Dawson Alaska, a distance of 1300 City to Skagway in 1898.

Ben Downing, originally from somewhere on the east coast, spent time in Arizona and the Dakotas before coming north to the Yukon and Alaska. He was described as a fearless man of giant stature, and an intrepid dog musher who would get the mail to its destination on time despite the weather and river conditions. Downing was first awarded the contract to carry mail from Dawson City to Eagle in 1902. From there, he then carried mail on to Fort Gibbon, kilometres.

On one mail run to Dawson, Downing fell through the ice and continued with badly frozen feet, leaving behind him, it was reported, a trail of bloody footprints. He did not report to the hospital upon his arrival in Dawson; when he finally did, they amputated

(David Thompson has entered the Authors on Eighth contest several times and has won twice. One of his early entries is the title entry of his very amusing first book, Talking at the Woodpile.)

If you live in or travel throughout the Yukon there are things you should know about our Ravens.

Ravens are a special kind of bird. They have their own way of doing things and should be admired, loved and protected by humans. Years of patient, dedicated observations has recorded the life of the raven. We see them in our communities but in the forest they become who they really are.

The following information is being released to the public for the first time. The only precaution we can advise is not to leave this lying around where a raven might read it they won't want to know they have been studied. Yes, ravens do read but only in the language of the country they were born in.

Ravens like nick names. Automobiles names are their favorites and are passed down from parents to children. MG, Pink Cadillac and Deuce Coupe are a few. If ravens drove they would drive Chevy half-ton pickups blue in color with an aluminum tool box in the back. Cars are what they talk about when sitting on street lamps watching the traffic go by.

Authors on Eighth

"Things You Should Know About Ravens" by David Thompson

A Prose submission to the 2012 Authors on Eighth Contest. The contest submissions had to include Yukon animals.

Of all the birds in the animal kingdom ravens have the most developed sense of humor, even more so than the parrot. On the rare occasion when parrots and ravens do meet they have a riotous time.

Up until the time when Polly the parrot passed away in the Caribou Hotel in Carcross in 1972 there were always ravens on the roof calling down to him.

Polly became an orphan in 1918 when Captain James Alexander and his wife went down with the SS Princess Sophia in the Lyn Canal near Juneau Alaska. The ravens were there to console Polly. They did so with a selection of new jokes.

"Hey Polly what did the gold nugget say to the copper nugget," Roadster asked.

"Squawk," went Polly, "How the hell should I know that I'm in this damn cage all day long."

Polly had been taught salty language.

"A, u I'm glad to c u."

"That's real Canadian you dumb birds I'm Brazilian how was I to know that?" Polly asked.

Ravens love to read and they like to snack at the same time. They enjoy stories with pictures and love comic books. Aquaman and Little Dot (ravens like dots) being their favorites. If you have a Time magazine, or something similar, place it in your back yard along with a Tim Horton's doughnut. It might look like the ravens are only interested in the food but they are reading also. Be discreet, ravens like to read in peace and quiet.

Ravens do not like to be imitated by humans. They only talk amongst themselves and then speak one at a time. They never interrupt or argue.

If a human builds a cabin in the woods the ravens will live there. If the people leave the ravens will leave. Where there are no people there are no ravens.

Raven clans are named after mountains such as Everest, McKinley, Fuji and Kilimanjaro. Crows admire ravens and tried to use their names. The raven wouldn't allow this and suggested the magpies use rivers.

A wounded raven is cared for by others. Ravens grieve their dead and mate for life. There is no divorce amongst ravens.

Ravens think they are the most beautiful of all the creatures although they have high regard for elephants. Ravens think humans are attractive that is why they hang around us.

Ravens never snicker and have no compulsion to make personnel judgments on anyone even those who put out stale doughnuts.

The wolf and the bear have a special relationship, they will travel together. The raven and the magpie do likewise. The magpie trails the raven wherever it goes. The ravens for the most part ignore the magpies.

Like snowflakes no two ravens look alike although siblings bear a resemblance to each other and their parents.

Ravens will not fly over large bodies of water they cannot swim. They can fly over the highest mountains but prefer to take the valley route.

Ravens are meticulous in their grooming. They are proud of their plumage and preen themselves in private for hours on end. Ravens do not like to get mud on their feet and if they find a mirror they will wear it out looking at themselves.

Ravens do not have a philosophy or a religion. They will never understand that the earth revolves around the sun but they can count to six on their toes.

Music means everything to ravens they dance when no one is watching. They dance the way Snoopy dances to Schroeder's piano or they do the monkey and the cool jerk.

Ravens followed the first man out of Africa millions of years ago. Humans were dark skinned and smaller at that time, ravens were white and the size of sparrows but their voices were always the same.

When people migrated into Asia the ravens followed. Sixteen thousand years ago the Ravens accompanied man into North America over the Beringia land bridge. They were actually the first to step on the new land. Man had stopped to tie a shoelace and raven skedaddled ahead.

Ravens do not utter criticism and for this the Creator has allowed them to associate with man.

If a raven leaves his wing prints in the snow outside your house it means your thoughts will take flight so be happy for it.

Ravens do not hold grudges if you harm one they will not begrudge you.

If you die a raven will visit your grave three times, once for the ravens, once for you and once for your family. They have no knowledge of God but pray to nature.

What you have just read is special information and only about Yukon ravens. Other ravens do things differently and unique to where they live. For example Yukon Ravens will never cross the border into Alaska while Alaskan ravens will hop islands and fly over to Russia to visit relatives.

Acensuses in 1989 determined there were 20,486 ravens living in the Yukon. New information indicates they are thriving and their numbers have increased.

parts of four toes. Downing left the Klondike a millionaire by all accounts, but it didn't do him any good. Having survived the brutal conditions in the north, he died from surgery in Seattle in January of 1906.

Eli Verreau, who came from Quebec, was another mail carrier in the early days. Verreau was working for Ben Downing, making a mail run to Eagle by boat in late October of 1902. Verreau's boat was crushed to splinters amidst the cakes of ice in a sharp bend in the Yukon River near Cliff Creek. The mail was lost and Verreau barely escaped with his life.

Three years later, Verreau is again reported in the news taking the mail from Dawson City to Eagle in early winter.

Since the Canadian government did not maintain a winter trail north of Dawson, Verreau and his passenger, were forced to break trail, knocking down hummocks of river ice with an axe as they proceeded. Verreau was the mail carrier between Dawson and Eagle from 1902 to 1920. He remained in the Yukon until his death in Mayo in 1954.

Percy DeWolfe started working for Verreau in 1910, later picking up the mail contract for the Eagle Run after Verreau moved on to other enterprises. DeWolfe carried mail between Dawson and Eagle for 39 years until the route was cancelled in 1949. DeWolfe had many close shaves, and became known as the "Iron Man of the North" for being able to deliver the mail under any conditions.

He was carrying the mail to Dawson with a team of horses in 1948 at 70 years of age. The horses broke through the ice on the Yukon River, and the sole passenger jumped to safety. DeWolfe leaped onto the sinking wagon and threw the mail bags and other freight to solid ice, but three horses drowned. According to the Dawson News, he still delivered the mail to Dawson on schedule.

The first dog sled race commemorating DeWolfe and the mail run took place in 1977. Bruce Johnson of Atlin B.C. subsequently earned a reputation as an iron man by winning the race in three consecutive years between 1981 and 1983. He also ran the Yukon Quest in 1984, 85 and 86, becoming the first Canadian to win the event in 1986. He also finished second in 1993. Johnson competed in the Iditarod as well, but never ranked as high in the standings as he had in the tougher Quest races.

Johnson was not as fortunate as the invincible DeWolfe. He was training his dog team in the fall of 1993 when they broke through the ice in Little Atlin Lake and he drowned along with his eight dogs.

Wild Yukon: Cooking with Robin

By Robin Og Bretland

Many years ago it was put to me that you're not truly living in the Yukon if you shop in Whitehorse for groceries; not to prejudice those that are of a sedate suburban belonging; but why not be adventuress and experience the true flavors of the North.

CARIBOU CASEROLE:

So you have just dressed your Caribou and left it hanging for a few weeks in a cool shed and has an odor a little like unpasteurized Camembert, remove the black rind and take a cut of your choosing; carefully dice and gently fry the meat in Bear fat, then add some sliced King Boletes until golden. Filling a pot with fresh spring water and spruce tips add some hot rocks to bring to boil and continue whilste cooking. Then add the processed Moss that you saved from the Caribou gut and gently simmer adding the meat and mushrooms, with a few sprigs of wild onion for good measure.

Once the stew is ready, carefully remove those hot rocks and serve.

PORCUPINE GUN POW!:

I was forever amused in the various ways to prepare a porcupine; normally I would don a thick pair of rubber gloves appearing like a crazed James Heriot veterinarian or plumber and pluck the 30,000 quills. Others I had heard, simply whipped the rodent with an old towel, letting fly; possibly an uninsurable procedure. But speaking with a friend years ago he delightfully informed of how he had been taught by a Bushman, that without gutting or skinning the creature throw it whole upon a fire, thus rendering the quills harmless. With the guts intact and gastric juices expanding the Roast Porcupine will finally explode when ready. Serve the remains with some homemade Cranberry sauce.

GRAV LAX:

This is a must for any social event. Grav Lax simply translates in Norwegian as Buried Salmon. Now if you are a traditionalist then hike or sail to the Yukon coastline, bury your salmon in gravel and rocks on the High Water Line and leave for three months.

For those with less patience however here is another suggestion; skin and fillet the salmon, sandwiching fresh spruce tips between the fillets and bury the fish in Beaufort Sea salt within a clay container and press with heavy rocks. leave this fishy sarcophagus in a cool larder for a week; one must however rotate the fish every 12 hours and pour the juices at the base of dish over the salt to retain some moisture and enhance the flavor. Simply soak in fresh water and rinse the salt from the fillets and serve with your homemade rye bread!

Local Food!

the dirty dozen cheat sheet

By Florian Boulais, Dawson City Food Secure Advocacy Group

Why?

- Cancer and a whole plethora of chronic diseases are on the rise. The culprit: low quality industrial food.
- Food is coming from far away, sometimes the other side of the planet. What about preserving our eco-system?
- Supply relies on economy. Economy is shaking at it's foundations and we are at the end of the chain.

Solution: Local food.

What now?

Four meetings are done, two are left; we have now held four meetings to inform and have conversations about food and it's connections. Next time we get together on April 3 at 7 p.m. at the Cultural Centre, we will go through the list of projects we came up with.

At the last meeting on the April 14 at 7 p.m. at the Cultural Centre we will set the priorities and set the focus on the three first priorities that our NEWLY HIRED COORDINATOR will take on.

We have raised more than $2,000 towards hiring a part-time coordinator that will take on the networking and organization necessary for the bigger projects.

PLEASE DONATE!! The goal we set is $3,200 which will give us what we need to move forward.

potato

watermelon

Working with the stores:

http://arctic.smallchangefund.org.

We have been in touch with the stores in town and they are willing to work with us to get better quality items in the stores. If you haven't filled out the list of items you would like to see in your stores, get a form at the CKS Office, the Post Office, outside Bonanza Market or outside the General Store.

Vegetable boxes:

The Dowdell & Digby farm offered a "Farmer's Choice box" that went like hot cakes!!! The lucky first ones to apply for the vegetable boxes will have a box once a week with a selection of vegetables throughout the summer for $400.

THIS IS JUST MY OPINION by Al Sider

Where Children Thrive

There is a commercial on television which I believe to be a misrepresentation of reality, in fact it might be a misrepresentation of hope itself, The commercial shows a young African boy running, down a dirt road rolling a tire. The scene changes to an African family being threatened by a group of African men with assault rifles.

The scene returns to the boy rolling the tire where the tire hits a land mine and blows up, sending crayon coloured sheets of paper all over. Again the scene returns to the family, the men with the rifles, force the husband and father of the family onto his knees, and the leader of the group attempts to shoot the one on his knees. The rifle does not fire, and confused, the man who made this attempt opens the rifle breech, and crayons come spilling out. The theme caption is a simple one, "Where children thrive, war cannot", and it is with this slogan where I have a few issues.

This slogan seems to imply that where children are happy and playing, war will have no effect, no ability to begin. It also appears to imply, that where kids exist, war can never begin. Further, it leaves one with the impression that happy kids can stop war.

All of these are sheer fantasy. Children are usually the ones most affected by war, and they have no say or ability to begin or stop war and the gross tragedies contained therein.

Perhaps the message is intended to indicate that when wars end, or are not fought, children thrive. This is quite true in areas like Canada and the USA, and it would be a much healthier way of life for all people, not children only. Yet, this presumption that "Where children thrive, war cannot" is a fantasy. War can and will continue to occur all over the world, and it will always be children who are the greatest victims of wars.

War is not a huge fight between armies of different nations, where adults are the only persons getting killed by senseless violence. There will always be civilian casualties as well. In war strewn countries, often times children are orphaned, because both of their parents are killed in the war.

Often times, the husband and father of a family, is sent into war and killed, but by the assault of missiles, grenades, tanks, offshore warships and their cannons, artillery fire, mortar rounds, and land mines, will be the cause of death to the mother who was left (intended to remain safe) at home.

Often, the enemy of one side or the other (especially where they are virtually neighbours as with Israel and Iraq, Iran, Syria etc) will send explosive missiles or rounds from their "big guns" into the cities and villages in the "war zone". These will kill anywhere from two or three people, to thousands or even millions of people from all walks of life, all religions, all ages. These are not prejudiced weapons; they will kill people of either gender, and of any skin colour. Smart bombs, and bombs from planes etc take no notice of who gets killed, enemy soldiers and installations may be the preferred targets, but they will often destroy homes, and entire families get killed, without notice by the attackers.

Since wars will never actually stop or really be prevented, the commercial, as stated above, presents a false sense of hope, and a false sense of reality. For children, no matter how well or poorly they thrive, War will continue to be a reality. War, because of the insolence of our world leaders, will endure and thrive, and sadly, children will continue to suffer. I fully wish, that wars would cease, but reality tells me it never will, at least not until the world finally ends.

Yet as always, this is just my opinion

Relay for Life Group Organizing for 2013 Relay

Alice By Thompson

The Relay for Life committee had their 2013 first organizing meeting at the Yukon College March The Relay for Life was last held 2 years ago, and as Stephanie Cleland reminded everyone by email;

"The Relay in Dawson is always a blast"

The group conducted the meeting while on speakerphone meeting with Alanna Bennett, the Coordinator for Community Giving with the BC Yukon Cancer Society. Alanna reminded the group that two years ago the Dawson Relay raised $40,000, an excellent showing for the size of our commun-ity. The group discussed the fact that one Relay event there were themes for the Fat Greek Wedding" theme. The themes added a lot of fun to the event, which is very visible to tourists and locals alike with the location on Front Street during the last week in May.

In 2011, a good part of the funds were raised outside of pledges, through the selling of quilts and beaded Key chains made by local volunteers; it was the group consensus to do the same for this year's event.

Stephanie wanted to make sure that people were aware that with 12 people per team to share the walking during the 12 hour event, there is lots of opportunity for team members to take a break or to hang out at their team tent and otherwise participate in the surrounding Relay for Life festivities.

Dawsonites interested in being part of a Relay team or volunteering to organize or help on the day of the event can call organizers Brenda (993-6204) or Stefanie (993-5206), or call Alanna Bennett in Whitehorse (668-6440). The committee can also be contacted through their postings in the Dawson Buy Sell Trade page on Face book, and more information is available on the relay website: www.cancer.ca/relay.

A is for Aardvark!

An Aardvark? What's an Aardvark? Well, for one thing, IT IS NOT AN ANTEATER!

Aardvarks are often called an 'earth pig' or an 'anteater' but they are neither related to pigs or the South American anteater. There are similar traits but that's were it stops, the aardvark's closest living relative is the elephant shrew AND elephants!

Aardvarks have extremely long ears, a long snout (nose), and hardly any hair. They are born naked. They only have four toes on their front feet but they have large spade-like nails, perfect for digging. In Greece it is known as 'digging footed'.

Aardvarks are nocturnal, meaning that they are mostly active at night, solitary, only coming together during mating season, and slow, but they can dig really fast.

Medium sized the Aardvark weighs between 40 and 60 kg (88 to 132 lbs) and is 1 to 1.3 m (3 to just over 4 ft) in length. When you add their tail they can reach lengths of 2.2 meters (7 feet). Their tongues can reach over 30 cm, that's almost a foot long. EWWWW! Aardvarks can eat up to 50,000 termites within one day.

They are native to Sub-Saharan Africa and their only predators are lions, leopards, hyenas, pythons, and of course...man.

A is for Animal Crackers!

When most people are asked about animal crackers they think about the little circus wagon boxes from Barnum's Animal Crackers. I remember they came with a string so you could hang them on your Christmas tree.

Did you know that 12,000 animal crackers are made each minute!?

Animal Crackers are baked in a 91-meter (300ft.) long traveling band oven. They are left in for 4 minutes and then cooled and put into the boxes. In a single shift over 15,000 of these boxes are made, they consume over 300,000 crackers and they use almost 50 km (30 miles) of string.

This means that within ONE YEAR Barnum's Animal Crackers go through 13,000 km (8,000 miles) OF STRING!

The current animals within a Circus Box are the bear, camel, crocodile, elephant, giraffe, gorilla, horse, lion, seal, tiger, and zebra. (There are approx. 22 crackers per box) Through out history Barnum has offered 37 different shapes. A Koala bear was used in the 2002 boxes to celebrate Barnum's Animal Cracker's 100th anniversary.

JUST FOR FUN:

I have not answered the question that's been on everybody's mind since they where a child. WHY IS THE SKY (atmosphere) BLUE?

Do you have an answer? Send it to me!

A is for the Atmosphere! The world is surrounded in ga

The world is surrounded in gases that form what we call the atmosphere, or just air.

This layer of gases serves several different functions. It preserves life on Earth by blocking harmful ultraviolet radiation, it helps the Earth to retain heat and it helps regulate the extreme temperature changes between night and morning.

Earth's atmosphere contains 5 different layers:

The Troposphere, that is only 12 km (7.5 miles) high. This layer is available to Parachutists, Hot Air Balloon Fanatics and high altitude climbers.

The Stratosphere, that is 38 km (21 miles) thick. This is the layer where planes and jets fly.

The Mesosphere, that is 80 km (50 miles) thick and it is above the reach of planes and below orbital crafts (ships than can circle the world) causing it to be the least understood layer.

The Thermosphere, which reaches 320 km (196 miles) above the surface of the Earth, is where orbital crafts, like the space shuttle and satellites live.

The Exosphere, whose limits are unknown, but it seems to connect Earth's atmosphere with Inter Planetary Space, which is kind of cool. Some say that Inter Planetary Space is as close as ½ way to the moon, others state that since the moon is still under the gravitational force of Earth so it not Inter Planetary yet.
