Yukon Government to assist miner by rebuilding the Dome Road

Story & photos by Dan Davidson

Dawson's town council has approved the Yukon government's request to realign and improve a portion of the Dome Road and its intersection with Mary McLeod Road (formerly known as the Old Dome Road) during this summer's construction season.

Council faced opposition from a number of residents who live along both roads but passed the resolution during a special zoning meeting on March 27 and again on April 8.

Much of the vocal opposition came from Jim Taggart and Glenda Bolt, who maintained that this project, while it might have some merit, was just a smokescreen for the government coming to the assistance to the Slinky Mine.

Owner Darrell Carey has expressed a desire to complete his work on the Slinky claims by mining the relatively virgin area under the existing Dome Road. Carey has been in trouble regularly over the last several years for doing work in advance of receiving a development permit from the town. He has lost court cases related to infringing on the right of way of the Dome and McLeod Roads and for clearing trees from the woodland strip separating the two roads. These events occurred in 2010 and the Yukon Supreme Court ruled in the town's favour in 2012.

While it is usually the practice that a miner who relocates a road absorbs the cost as part of his operations, Carey had gone on record as requesting assistance from the government in relocating the road.

Now it appears that the government is going to bear the cost of the road relocation for the miner.

One reason the government and the town are interested in this deal is that once Slinky Mine has finished its operations the main body of the claim would then be available for the construction of a country residential subdivision.

The confusion over the potential development site goes back several years to when YESAB rejected applications for both the mine and the subdivision in twin rulings on the grounds that there were too many unresolved land use conflicts. The government then overrode that ruling and said that both projects could proceed, but did not come up with a solution to the conundrum.

It appears that the current proposal is that solution.

The proposal from Highways and Public Works states:" The realignment of the Dome Road and Mary McLeod Road is part of a larger EMR-led effort to assist in resolving land use conflicts."

As it happens the only portions of the road being rebuilt are those adjacent to the Slinky Mine, so residents maintain the project is clearly more about aiding the miner than fixing road deficiencies.

In a letter to the Klondike Sun, Bolt and Taggart outline their objections. (See last issue for the full text.)

"YTG is willing to spend potentially millions of dollars of tax payers' money to aid a failing placer miner that doesn't have the capacity, funds or will to carry the work out himself. Mr. Carey has had the opportunity to complete the work for a number of years, and despite record high gold prices hasn't fulfilled his mining plans. To discover that the Yukon Government is now willing to step in and do the work for him was received with disbelief by all residents who attended last night's Council meeting."

The eight residents who attended the first meeting intend to take advantage of the statutory appeal period and protest the passing of the resolution.

Council itself was of two minds about some aspects of the government' proposal and added three conditions to its approval of the request.

"1) That the Yukon government provide the City with evidence that the owner of the affected mining claims will relinquish mining rights to the area contained within the road right of way.

"2) That the proponent (YTG) hold a meeting with the public to discuss the project."

This was in response to Residents present at the first meeting included Jim Taggart and Glenda Bolt, middle row, on the right.

Councillor Stephen Johnson, Mayo Wayne Potoroka, Coun, Kyla MacArthur and Bill Kendrick. Darren Taylor attended by telephone.

learning that Highways and Public Works had not contacted any of the residents near the proposed project.

"3) That the proponent decommissions the retired portion of Mary McLeod Road to the satisfaction of the City of Dawson."

The project will adjust the sharpness of the Dome Road curve leading to the bench coming up the hill and move the roadway.

Mary McLeod Road currently joins the Dome Road at an awkwardly extreme angle and will be readjusted to a regular right angle junction.

OPINIONS

Uffish Thoughts: Choosing the right word means so much

By Dan Davidson

In the cult favorite film The Princess Bride, Princess Buttercup is kidnapped by a mismatched trio of villains for hire. She and her captors are pursued by the mysterious Man in Black, who turns out to be the Dread Pirate Roberts (aka her childhood sweetheart, Westley).

The trio consists of a brainy dwarf named Vizzini, a hulking strongman named Fezzik, and a master swordsman named Inigo Montoya. Vizzini comes up with all sorts of convoluted plots to throw the Man in Black off their trail, but he overcomes each of them with what seems to be consummate ease.

Once such trap involves climbing up a cliff. The Man in Black is supposed to fall, but he doesn't.

"He didn't fall?" Vizzini cries. "Inconceivable!" This has been his favorite word to describe each failure.

Montoya looks down at him and says, "You keep using that word. I do not think it means what you think it means."

That's just how I feel when I read a lot of government press releases.

Let's begin with the word "reform", which seems to be used nearly every time government changes word we are intended to think that the party in power is making improvements in the affected legislation. In fact, they are simply reshaping it. and whether that is a positive or negative development depends entirely on your point of view. To reform might be to move ahead in the direction society seems to be moving, or it might mean to get back to basics, to the original intention of the act.

Then there's "fair", as in the Fair Elections Act.

According to the Minister for Democratic Reform, Pierre Poilievre, there's a vast horde of election cheaters out there who are using registration cards and vouchers to vote illegally. Were that the case. it would seem that voter statistics would be on the rise rather than declining. There is no proof that the government's claim on this part of the bill is true. Indeed, both of the Conservative MPs who have testified to seeing or hearing about voter fraud using registration cards have been proven to be lying.

What is a fact is that fewer people are exercising their franchise and something ought to be done to encourage them to get back to the practice. The government's response has been to deny Elections voting in a non-partisan fashion, including holding those practice elections in high school which would give the coming generation some training in how it's done and what it means.

The use of vouching enables people who don't have fixed addresses, post secondary students (such as those who currently were not allowed to vote in the Quebec election), transient workers and several other categories of people to be able to vote simply by having someone who knows them vouch that they are who they say they are. There are already limits on the number of people you can vouch for as an individual, so it's hardly something that gets out of hand.

Most telling is the wide spread commentary that eliminating this practice is most likely to have an impact on people who are less likely to vote Conservative. Previously gerrymandering has been seen to be about manipulating electoral districts to gain this advantage. Now it's about manipulating the voter rolls.

The minister has been taking the hard line about abolishing this, although most recent reports indicate that he may be softening under a barrage of complaints from just about the nation.

Of course, any softening of a prominent hard line, high profile piece of legislation should be a warning to people to be looking for the lower profile item they don't want you to notice.

Where there actually is fraud, like the in-and-out scandal, or candidate overspending, or robo-calls, a non-partisan Parliamentary body, one at arms length from any party, should be empowered to investigate, compel testimony and get to the bottom of the matter without any interference.

The government response has been to take those away the powers Elections Canada did have in this regard and reassign then to a government something. When we hear the Canada the right to encourage every constitutional expert in department than is not at arms length from the party in power. This new civil service position can therefore be influenced by the government just as easily as Conservative Senators in the supposedly independent Senate have been seen to be influenced by the minions in Prime Minister's Office over the last 12 months.

> Over all, the prospects for actual fair and balanced (oh, I've run out of room to deal with that word this time) reform of our electoral process seems unlikely to come from this particular bill or this minister, regardless of how the Conservative Party's representative to the Yukon chooses to see it.

Thanks for your support

Dear Editor:

The year has turned and our thoughts move to plans for the summer. The snow recedes, the roads are scraped, the drains are unplugged, and people begin to make plans for the summer growing season, planting seedlings, looking in catalogues, planning summer vacations ... the list goes on.

St. Paul's Anglican Church is making plans to continue its restoration and repair projects. A huge part of those plans includes preparing and of the roof on the main church building. This is an ongoing project, which requires long range planning, and fund raising is a big part of that, as it is for many groups in Dawson City. Once again we will be scouring the town with our campaign for refundables.

generous, and on behalf of crew, I wanted to thank all the people and businesses that have helped us to meet the restoration and repair bills that have been facing us in the past three years as we made repairs to the Thrift Shop and to the foundation of both that and the Richard Martin Chapel.

We are so grateful to everyone who drops off refundables or calls to have them picked up. We wanted to especially thank those who have helped us over the past year. Thank you to: Jimmy's Place, Maximilian's, Riverwest, the Goldrush Campground, the Bunkhouse, Holland-America, Berton House, Fifth Ave B&B, Yukon planning for the replacement River Quest, Juliette's Manor, Advance North Mechanical, Northern Superior, Edgar Blattler, Dale Roberts, Yukon River Quest, the Mining Recorder's Office, the Dawson City Museum, the Klondike Sun, KIAC, Gordie Hardie, Dan Caley, Marion Dale, Ian Kirk, Dianne Girard, Doug and Jen Dawson's people are so Fraser, Akio and Suzanne Saito, Peter Gould, Ron our church and the recycling Ryant, David Mcdonald, Tracy Mcdonald, Ruby Mahoney, Steven & Judith Johnson, Michael Edwards, Adria, Mike and Danielle.

Donations have just turned up at my house and to those mystery people, thank you so much. I'm sure that I've forgotten people. If so, thank you, thank you, thank you.

Thank you too, to everyone at the Recycling Depot. Your courteous and friendly service to the community of Dawson is so very appreciated and I am grateful for all the help you gave to us when we arrived with a load to drop off. We've always felt welcomed.

Lots of us walk our dogs and pick up cans and bottles while out and about.

If you want to help us with this year's summer refundable drive, please call me at 993-5045 or drop donations off behind my house, as soon as the snow disappears in our backyards. In the meantime, if you want to donate your winter refundables, you can take them to the Recycling Depot and ask them to donate them to the St. Paul's account there. Thanks so much.

Will Statistics Pick this year's breakup date?

Prepared by Stephen Johnson

Once again, spring is upon us after another long, but not so bad winter (thankfully). With melting happening in earnest, we begin to think about when the Yukon River is going to break, awarding cash to some lucky person who will guess close enough to the actual day and time of the ice's demise. The annual graph has been prepared and, mathematically speaking, the river will break at precisely 10:00 p.m. on May 4, 2014. However, as Mark Twain is reported to have said, "There are lies, damned lies and then there are statistics". Alas, statistics is exactly what the graph represents. The chance of the ice breaking at 10:00 p.m. on May 4 is approximately 1 in 31,680 (April 28 - May 19 = 22 days * 24 hours/day * 60 min/hour); and that is if we discard May 28, 1964 as an anomaly. Mind you those are far better odds than Lotto 649 at 1 in about 14,000,000, so have some fun and best of luck with your guess.

For the mathematically minded, the line straight line through the data is called a regression line and is essentially, a kind of average of all the data. The value R2, is called the regression and would be equal to 1.0 if all the data fell on the line. For this graph, since the data is scattered about the line, it means that there is about a 13.2% chance that the ice will break at 10:00 p.m. on May 4. But remember folks what Mark Twain said about statistics.

OBITUARY

John McNeil Graham

John McNeil Graham passed away peacefully with family beside him on Monday, April 7, 2014, at the age of 84.

He was born November 6, 1929, in Des Plaines, Illinois, to James and Eva McNeil Graham. John left home as a teenager and purchased several hundred acres in Smithers, BC from a magazine ad thus beginning a life of adventure.

He continued his journey through BC and the Yukon as a prospector, diamond driller, placer miner, hunter (for food, not sport), outdoor-lover, photographer, artist, sculpture, and fan of Monty Python, jazz and opera. Also, the best hotcake maker this world has known.

John entered the lives of his stepchildren Suzanne, Julie and Mitch, and provided a patient and loving father figure in their for-

Summers as a family were spent camping and living in bush camps in the Yukon. His passion for art saw him taking classes in Vancouver, the Okanagan, New York and more.

John's humour and helpful nature touched many people who will remember him lovingly. For more about John and details regarding a Celebration of Life visit http://memorial.yourtribute. com/JOHNMCNEILGRAHAM/story.aspx.

Special thanks to Village by the Station in Penticton for their genuine personal care of John.

As a friend of John's said, "he has gone on his final artistic caper and is prospecting in his favourite mythical haunt somewhere."

We love John very much.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Klondike Development Organization Launches Business Directory For Regional Mining Industry

April 7, 2014

Dawson City, Yukon - Klondike Development Organization (KDO) is pleased to announce the launch of a new website, 'Dawson Mining' to showcase the wide array of products and services for the mining and exploration industries in Dawson City and the Klondike.

"Many new large players in the area may not know Dawson well," said KDO Chair, Brian Stethem. "Bringing our local businesses together in this industry-specific online portal really demonstrates our position as a mining-ready centre."

As part of a long-term, sustainable, community-based approach to economic development in the region, the new site will help maximize the local community benefits from development of recent mineral discoveries in the Dawson periphery.

"The limited marketing budgets of small businesses make it challenging to compete against the bigger corporations for more local purchasing," said Project Manager Mark Wickham. "This costeffective tool is free to the listed businesses and the user."

Over 150 regional companies are listed on the directory already. The site also features important news updates from the industry and links to other resources such as regulatory agencies and training opportunities. KDO will be promoting the site over the coming months, and at key industry events such as the Dawson City International Gold Show.

Funding for the development of the site was provided by the Canadian Northern Economic Development Agency (CanNor), the Government of Yukon Regional Economic Development Fund and Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in.

DCMF line-up announced

Press release

The Dawson City Music Festival has announced its 2014 lineup and ticket information on its newly-designed website at http://www.dcmf.com. The 36th edition of the Festival will include performances from indie rock trio, Rural Alberta Advantage, multiple Maple Blues award winners Monkeyjunk, virtuoso violinist Jaron Freeman Fox, the unique and innovative award-winning world music group, Jaffa Road and Halifax garage rockers, Cousins.

"Our lineups always attempt to reflect the diversity of our audience, this year is no exception," says Festival Producer Jenna Roebuck. "Our committee goal, as always, was to put together an eclectic line up that was ethnically, stylistically, generically and geographically diverse, and to offer world-class grassroots musical experiences to our community, region and visitors. Since 1979 the Dawson City Music Festival has grown from a weekend barbeque in a field into the centrepiece of the Yukon summer. Despite its humble beginnings, it has turned into an all-consuming event in our community. It is one of the most anticipated events in the north, selling out annually and setting a Yukon standard for excellence in programming and thanks to its unique location and spirited audience, has become a must-see event for adventurous music lovers.

The 36th annual Festival will take place July 18-20, 2014 in various venues around Dawson City.

Alex Cuba, Andy Shauf, Cousins, Evening Hymns, Feeding Frenzy, Jaffa Road, Jaron Freeman Fox, Les soeurs Boulay, Monkeyjunk, Nick Ferrio & His Feelings, Pharis and Jason Romero, Rural Alberta Advantage and many more to come, including Yukon talent! To purchase your to listen to and read more about the aforementioned artists visit: http://www.dcmf.com Also stay tuned to the DCMF Twitter, Facebook and Instagram pages for exclusive news, artist announcements, contests, and more!

Welding in Dawson City

by Melissa Atkinson photos by Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in from këntra täy, Spring 2014

Since January, a Pre-Employment Welding program has been happening right here in Dawson City. This Yukon College course has nine students enrolled, including three TH citizens and one high school student who is simultaneously earning credits at the high school and college levels.

What's so unique about this particular program is that it's taking place in a mobile trades training lab and classroom. This 53foot- long training lab, which has been placed in the TH parking lot, is outfitted for classes in welding, electrical, millwright and piping, with an onboard diesel generator to provide power for heating, lighting, equipment and wireless Internet. The sides expand to provide 1,048 square feet of instructional

We were able to catch up with the TH Welding students to find out how it's going.

"This course has really opened my mind to the trades' workforce. I had never thought about welding before I heard of this course coming to Dawson. Now it's something I want to do," said Aaron Mendelsohn, 20. "We learned about how many jobs are out there for welders—you can do different things. I am interested in mechanics and welding together."

When asked how he finds learning in the new mobile classroom, Aaron exclaimed, "It is bang-on! Awesome, with brand- new everything! No malfunctions. I hope there are more classes in here."

Students are learning theoretical trade knowledge, along with hands-on shop experience, which will enable them to go on to train for employment as capable and knowledgeable first-year apprentices. On-the-job safety skills and awareness are also a main learning outcome in the course. Upon completion of the program, students will have the ability to apply math concepts to the welding equipment field, as well.

Andrew Taylor, 21, who completed the Trades Exploration offering this past Fall, is another citizen enrolled in the welding program.

"My favourite part of the class so far is learning stick welding, or SMAW. This type is used to weld equipment mostly."

SMAW stands for "Shielded Metal Arc Welding," a process where an electric current forms an electric arc

The Ice Pool begins again

By Dan Davidson

Tickets for the 2014 Dawson Ice Pool have been on sale for a week or so now, and are available at all sorts of places all over the territory, but the real sign that the annual ice lottery is on is when the tripod appears on the Yukon River, which it did just last week.

The tripod is placed by members of the Yukon Order of Pioneers, and the Ice Pool is run by the IODE.

There's been an ice pool since 1896 and there are records for all but five years since then.

There are time and date sheets on display where ever the tickets are sold, but the easiest way to look at the data is on the sortable database found at www.yukonriverbreakup.com. You can sort by year, day or time to find out when your best chance of picking the time and date might be. This site is maintained by Mammoth Mapping and also contains photo and video posts from the last five years.

Don't expect the task to be an easy one, though. After years of hovering between April 30 and May 12, last year fooled everyone and held on until May 15. It hadn't been that late since 1962.

The tripod is linked by a cable to a clock fastened to the Dänojà Zho Cultural Centre. When ice shifts and the tripod moves, the cable stops the clock. There is usually someone there to notice and they will notify the fire department so that the fire siren can be sounded to let people know what has happened.

The person who comes closest to the day and time wins. The last two years have seen solo winners collecting over $3600, but the two years before that had splits, with each of the pair taking over $1600.

You can buy tickets up until midnight, April 25, since April 28, in 1940, is the earliest recorded break-up date.

The goal of the Pre-Employment program is for students to be hired on by a local employer to gain experience and on-the-job hours they can use towards their apprenticeship. In order to complete a Journeyman certificate in Welding, the students will need to gain welding hours, as well as take three more semesters of classroom theory. In total, this process usually takes about four years.

Holding this program in the community has been a great way to promote trades. In fact, there has been so much interest from the community in what's happening, Yukon College has decided to keep the trailer in Dawson for an additional three weeks in May where they will offer an evening "Intro to Welding" course. TH was more than pleased to grant the additional time for the trailers to rest in their south parking lot if it means community-based trades training being offered in close proximity to their interested citizens.

Studer sets new race record for the Percy in his third win

With a time of 18 hours and 18 minutes, Crispin Studer racked up his third first place finish at the Percy de Wolfe Memorial Mail Race. He won it first in 2011, then skipped a year and won it again last year. More than simply improving upon his fastest previous time, Studer set what race officials think is a new record for the race. For his winning time, Studer collected $3000.00.

Race Marshall Brent McDonald said he thought the overall field of 13 was one of the fastest ever, with the top four all under 20 hours and everyone else finished in 28 and a half.

William Kleedehn was just 7 minutes behind Studer, but picked up an hour penalty due to a rule infraction, so he placed third. When he dropped a dog at Forty Mile he didn't have it tied with the proper restraint and it escaped. It was caught and he picked it up on the way back, completing the race with it in harness.

Gerry Willomitzer came in just under an hour later, but ended up in third place for a prize of $2000.00

"Percy de Wolfe," he quipped.
"The only race where you can come in third and place second."

In the event, these awards were being presented at the banquet after one of Studer's dogs had escaped its container out on the street and had been brought up to the ballroom so that it could be identified and dealt with, creating a bit of a stir (of the 'oh, how cute' variety) at the back of the room

"Does this mean that Crispin gets a penalty too?" Willomitzer queried hopefully.

Kleedehn's third place finish gave him a $1,500 prize.

Asked to answer the question "What is the most important thing to do before the race?" he replied, "To make sure that Crispin reads the rules."

The veteran musher sold all his dogs a few years ago and has been running this year with part of Studer's kennel, so they have run a number of races together.

"I was actually completely too lazy for every single race we went to," Kleedehn said with a chuckle, "and I let him read all the rules."

The race paid out down to 7th place this year, with the following mushers collecting cash prizes.

Jean-Denis Britten of Dawson City came in 4th place and won $1200.

Meghan Luke of Two Rivers, Alaska, placed 5th, for a purse of $1.000.

"Thanks for letting us Alaskans come and run your race," Luke said, and then coined the phrase that the race committee threatens to use in next year's advertising.

"I think it's the most fun a gal can have in 20 hours.

"I've always been a handler when I came to Dawson, so thanks. This was a good time."

Amanda Gecas from Fairbanks came in 6th place for $750. Amanda grew up in Eagle, where she spent many years helping with this race.

"Growing up in Eagle was pretty cool," she said, "watching this race from the time I was really little and helping the best I could till the point where I was actually useful. It was something that I always wanted to run."

Oddly, it didn't happen until she had moved even farther away from home, making it that much harder to do.

Joanna Jagow, also from Fairbanks, took 7th place and $650. Joanna and Amanda travelled together, after having talked themselves into it at the start of the Quest 300 this year.

The remaining mushers, in order, were Jason Biasetti, Ed Hopkins, Gustav Sakshaug, Brian Wilmshurst, Colin Morrison and Jacob Heigers, who won the Red Lantern.

Three of the Junior Percy mushers were from Whitehorse.

Gaetan Pierrard ran to Forty Mile and back in 9:48 for $135. He said that he really liked Forty Mile and wouldn't have minded staying there longer.

Rob Wilmshurst, from Hastings, Ontario, father of local musher Brian, came second with a time of 10:14. Rob has been mushing dogs for all of two and a half weeks, having come to Dawson to visit his family here. He won $110.

"I've done a lot of things in my life, but I always thought sailing was the best thing in the world," he said. "It's peaceful, quiet – just you and your surroundings.

"Dog teaming beats that hands down. You guys are amazing. You women are the best in the world. I've had so much fun here in the past month that I don't know what to say. I'll be back."

Melissa Schenke came third for a $90 prize.

Nathaniel Hamlyn was the Red Lantern winner with 12:07, for which he collected the lantern and $115.

The final racer, and only one to skijor the Percy Junior route was Raija Easterbrook, of Athlamere, B.C., who travelled here with her son as her handler. She ran the race in 13:12 and would have had a much faster time if she hadn't decided to wait until the sun came up, which was longer than her 8 hour layover, before heading back to Dawson. She earned $100.

"Winning the Percy Skijor was really easy," said the 57 year old Easterbrook, who was the only one in that category, "but actually doing it - it was tough. The pain is temporary, but the pride will last forever."

New Lodge design revealed to the Dawson public

The replacement for the Alexander McDonald Lodge project will be going to tender in May-June. Construction on the new building should begin in July and the entire project that the building ought is slated to be completed by the summer of 2015.

were present in the large conference room at the Dawson City Community Hospital to listen to Liris Smith, Director of Care & Community with Yukon Health and Social Services; project architect Jack Kobayashi; and project manager Lester Balsillie present the basics of the new facility.

Originally budgeted at $6.5 million, the project has been increased to $10 million.

It is a one storey building with 15 private bedrooms, all substantially larger than the ones at the current residence and one of which could be used by a couple. Kobayashi indicated that the site plan would allow for a five-room expansion along the Church St. side of the building at a later date.

The facility will be connected to the hospital by a link and will share a number of services with the larger building. In particular, the current lodge has already been providing food services as needed by the hospital and that will continue.

originally be for level 1 and 2 care, but was being constructed so that level 3 care could be a future space as it was and that design elements have ought to be made. The roof been the subject of much may have seemed larger discussion between the planners and the town's Heritage Advisory Committee over the last several months, but the plan as shown in Kobayashi's computer design renderings met with the general approval of those at the meeting.

Where there was some disagreement with the presentation was the size of the building. Hotelier Peter Jenkins felt to be two storeys high with twice the number About a dozen locals of rooms, given that the present lodge takes in people from more than just Dawson City. Elders from Old Crow, Mayo and Pelly are frequently in residence. This is similar to the argument the Yukon Hospital Corp. made for building the new hospital to the size that it became.

> Dr. Gerard Parsons said that the government was passing up a chance to provide the town with an elder care industry by not building the second floor and moving right away to level three extended care for seniors.

The presenters were of the opinion that they had already managed to get the budget increased and were unlikely to be able to do it again. Kobayashi indicated that the type construction would determine whether a second floor might be added some years later. At this point, he maintained that it might be either modular or stick built.

Jenkins admitted it was a done deal and called it a wasted opportunity.

Others felt the large flat Smith said that it would roof on the main section of the building was likely to cause snow problems, or that it was wasted some attempt to create a The building's exterior seasonal rooftop garden than it really is, as the simulations did not show the large air handling unit that will need to be located

Kobayashi indicated that the site itself presented some the design challenges for project, located it is next to two imposing buildings (the hospital and the Dawson City Museum) on one side and a group small residential homes on the other side of Sixth Avenue.

This was an informational meeting; case of the government letting the public know what it intends to do. Aside from consultation with medical and senior care personnel and the town's HAC, there has been minimal consultation with the community at large.

The now vacant Dawson

Health Care Centre will be demolished in May. The Yukon government commissioned hazardous material building assessment from Golder Associates Their investigation the building showed the materials to have asbestos in samples from the drywall joint compound throughout the building. There is approximately. 17,000 sq. ft. of drywall. Asbestos was also found in pipe insulation, sheet flooring, exterior caulking, and light fixtures. In addition to the asbestos there was other hazardous material found, including:

- Ballasts containing
- Misc. chemicals. (removed by H&SS)
- · Fluorescent bulbs and thermostats containing mercury.

What's Your Story?

Interview by Macy, Grade 3

Name: Wayne Potoroka

When did you arrive in the Klondike? 1994.

Why did you come?

I came for work and a summer adventure.

How did you get here?

Ground vehicle (van) - I took my time.

Where were you born?

I was born in Hamilton, Ontario's Henderson Hospital.

What do you think makes Dawson so special?

Three answers: the people, the place and the history. (The place is very pretty. Both the Gold Rush and the history make this place amazing.)

What is something you cannot live without in Dawson? My family and a good source of heat.

Where is your favourite place to take an out of town guest? Any of the Parks Canada sites.

If you could go back in Klondike history, who would you like to meet and why?

Two people: Joe Boyle and Chief Isaac – because they did incredible things and they were visionaries.

What is your favourite time of year in Dawson? Why? Summer because this place is so alive!

What are some of the jobs you've had? Do you have a favourite one?

I have been a golf course worker, landscaper, construction worker, government worker and miner. I loved mining - the work and the people. I have also been a writer.

Something we may not know about you?

I am a paper copy editor, and the person who taught me used to work at Clinton Creek.

What do you love to do in your free time?

I love to spend time with my family, go camping and write.

Would you eat candy for supper if so what kind? Yes. I would eat Ripple chips and onion dip!

How many different countries have you visited? Eight.

Have you ever spent a whole day in your pajamas? If yes why and what were you doing?

Yes! I was home sick, home working, and just relaxing.

If you had a chance to do anything what would it be?

I would like to travel to space and I would also like to visit more countries.

What do you love about living here?

There is not much I don't love about this place!

As part of an enrichment project at Robert Service School led by Tarie Castellarin, Grade 3/4 students are interviewing locals about their stories. The Klondike Sun will be publishing one of these interviews in each of our upcoming issues!

Dawson provided uncluttered time and a cultural surprise

Clem Martini learned about Berton House from a number of residency alumni who were visiting as part of the Distinguished Writers Program at the University of Calgary, where he is a Professor in the drama department. The program sounded interesting.

"I knew that I had a research leave coming up, was spending some time researching some books, and I wanted to have some time when I would just be able to work on them," he said near the end of his time in Dawson.

"I thought it would be great to have a designated site where I could just write and think about the writing, but also, I've always wanted to get up here and look about, so this seemed an opportunity to do both things."

He called the residency uncluttered time."

"Everything in life will try to knock your writing aside and pretty successfully. Some of it is yourself – but when you're at home, all kinds of things, crises big and small, routines, all demand attention, whereas if you kind of clear the slate, you have an opportunity just to think about the writing"

That worked well for him. During his three months he finished a screenplay, a draft of a historical novel, and completed the first book in a young adult fantasy trilogy as well as finishing the rough draft of a textbook about Greek and Roman comedy theatre. Some of these projects had been under way before he got here, but this is where he was able to push them to new stages of completion.

"I got a lot done here," he said. "I set up my days that way."

He likes to write in the very early mornings because people are less likely to get to him about anything. Afternoons were for reading, or going off on a walk. Evenings he found were great for editing.

He is one of those writers who feels odd if he comes to done any writing.

"Sometimes it's effort and exertion and you don't really want to do it, but you realize that if you don't do it, it won't get done, so you go in and you find your way there.

"The great thing is, sometimes you can't wait to get there. You go 'Oh boy, today I get to work on this'. Sometimes it's just a blessing."

Why come here?

"Most of Canada lives in an urbanized band in the south. I felt like I'd explored the country east-west, but the farthest north I'd been was Peace River. If you want to know your country then you should get out and see it."

This, of course, fits Pierre precisely, with Berton's reasons for wanting to turn his childhood home into a writers' residence.

Dawson was not what Martini expected. He was impressed by the cultural milieu in Dawson, particularly with the artistic mix that has been created by the Dawson City Arts Society. He attended lots of the events that were held at Oddfellows Hall, and was excited by the Myth and Medium week at the Dänojà Zho Cultural

His wife, Cheryl Foggo, was here with him for some of the earlier events, and one of his brothers was present during Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in's Heritage Dept. events.

"I was surprised," he said. "There's a lot going on. When I look at other towns of a similar size to Dawson, the end of a day and hasn't I don't find that same level of cultural activity. Both KIAC and the Cultural centre generate a lot of stuff that is interesting to a broad spectrum of people.

> "There's a music festival and a film festival and there's KIAC. All those things seem to be a commitment the community has made that isn't necessarily present in communities of a similar size."

> At the Dawson City Arts president Peter Society, Menzies and executive director Karen Dubois were impressed with playwright Martini's interest and his strong suggestion that some sort of drama festival could be organized using the performance spaces that there are in the town.

> Martini went so far as to play host to one of the home routes concerts that took place while he was resident here and really enjoyed doing that, the first time one of those has been held at Berton House.

He went so far as to host a chili night during his last evening at the house, serving up his own blend of chili along with his own homebaked apple pies.

Martini has made no secret of his intention to return to Dawson and sample some of its other seasons at some point, and his interest in the cultural scene provides that part of the town with another link to the world Outside.

Heritage Awards announced

Recipients to receive top honours in heritage

WHITEHORSE (April 2, 2014) -The Yukon Historical & Museums Association (YHMA) today announced the winners of the 31st annual Yukon Heritage Awards.

"These annual awards honour those that work to inspire and share a passion for Yukon heritage through protection, conservation, interpretation and volunteerism," said YHMA President Marc Johnston. "YHMA is both thrilled and honoured to present these awards to our well-deserving recipients."

The 2013 Yukon Heritage Awards will be presented at an evening event on Thursday, April 17th at the Yukon Archives. Doors open at 5:30 p.m. and the event will commence at 6:00 p.m. Judy Oberlander, a Vancouver-based heritage conservation specialist and member of the International Council on Monuments and Sites (ICOMOS), will deliver a keynote presentation to celebrate this year's World Heritage Day theme of "the heritage of commemoration".

Art and Ione Christensen will receive the 2013 Annual Heritage Award for their work in the publication of Whitehorse: An Illustrated History. The book commemorates the rich heritage of modern Whitehorse, is an important discourse on the city's diverse interests and will inspire future generations to continue this work of community building. It was made possible largely through the donated time and efforts of Art and Ione Christensen.

Mary Bradshaw is the recipient of the 2013 Helen Couch Volunteer of the Year Award. Mary demonstrated extensive volunteerism for a heritage event in her coordination of the 2013 Canadian Museums Association Conference and to the Yukon Historical & Museums Association (YHMA) in her capacity as Treasurer on the YHMA Board of Directors. Throughout her three years on the Board, Mary was a positive and energetic team player, and has worked to build connections between the Yukon arts, culture and heritage sectors.

The Tr'ondëk Hwëtch'in Heritage Department has been awarded the 2013 Lifetime Achievement Award for their years of meritorious service in the preservation and interpretation of the unique and rich history of the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in. This dedicated and talented group is a model for how heritage should be interpreted and managed and their collective work is an outstanding contribution to Yukon heritage.

The Kwänlin Dün First Nation has been awarded the 2013 Heritage Conservation Project of the Year by the Yukon Government Tourism and Culture Department, Historic Sites Unit. In 2013, the Kwänlin Dün First Nation finished restoring two Whitehorse area cemeteries. All of the work was conducted with respect and concern for the historic value of the heritage cemeteries. This conservation project illustrates the continuing connection between the Kwänlin Dün and the Whitehorse waterfront and protects this heritage for all Yukoners.

Winners of the 31st annual Yukon Cultural, artistic and educational projects get underway with Community Development Fund support —Twenty community projects will be moving forward with more than $270,000 in support from the Community Development Fund (CDF).

"The flexibility of the Community Development Fund means support is available to a wide range of initiatives," Economic Development Minister Currie Dixon said. "By aligning this funding with community-determined priorities, these projects support the social, cultural and economic quality of life throughout Yukon."

Among the recipients is Sport Yukon, which will use the funding to prepare rural youth to lead after school programming. Young people in Ross River, Pelly Crossing and Watson Lake will be provided with hands-on training in their communities, in options for games and activities that develop physical literacy and life skills.

"This training will build on how engaged youth have already been in other physical fitness initiatives in the communities," physical literacy coordinator Jeane Lassen said. "By nurturing youth leaders, we can give children the confidence and competence to be active, make healthy choices WHITEHORSE (April 4, 2014) and one day become leaders themselves."

> The Centre for Human-Wildlife Conflict Solutions (otherwise known as WildWise Yukon) promotes a safe living environment by reducing conflict between people and wildlife. With CDF support, the centre will expand its research program for bear-proof locks on garbage and compost bins and educate residents about other ways to manage wildlife attractants.

"Our ultimate goal is to provide Yukon residents with the education and support they need to coexist with wildlife," WildWise program coordinator Carmen Smith said. "Taking steps to manage animal attractants will help make our neighbourhoods safer and reduce the frequency of wildlife being relocated or killed in our communities."

The Dawson City Arts Society was granted $18,816 to further develop the Palace Grand Theatre as an iconic visitor attraction, capacity builder and driver of extended stay and spinoff business potential. The project will create 560 hours of employment for one person. Contact: Karen DuBois at 867-993-5005

The First Nation of Na-cho

Nyäk Dun was granted $3,100 for three display cabinets within the Cultural Center to display First Nation arts & crafts for re-sale.

The Community Development Fund offers three funding levels. Tier I funding is available for requests up to $20,000. Tier II funding is available for requests of $20,001 to $75,000, and Tier III funding is available for requests over $75,000. The next intake deadline is May 15 for Tier I and Tier II applications.

Organizations encouraged to contact the Community Development advisors well before the deadline assistance with their applications and developing project ideas.

Feast held to mark commemorative bowl project

Story & photos by Dan Davidson

From 1920 until 1952 St. Paul's Hostel existed as a place for children of mixed racial heritage to live while they were attending the Dawson Public School. These children neither native nor nonnative in the eyes of the government. They were not scooped up by the Residential School system, but the public school in Dawson was the only one in the territory they were allowed to attend, so Bishop Isaac Stringer established this residence for them.

Located on what is now an empty lot between the Dawson Daycare and St. Paul's Thrift Shop, the building was originally the Samaritan Hospital, and was expanded to meet the needs of some 40 children at its peak. By the time it closed in 1952 the number had dropped to 9 and the building was deteriorating.

As part of the Truth Reconciliation and Commissions work related to the Residential School problems, a social commemorative bronze bowl has been created by a group of native artists. 139 of these bowls will be distributed to communities throughout Canada and one will be arriving in Dawson sometime later season.

Emcee Chris Clarke explained that the recipient communities were required to have a community ceremony to explain the purpose of the bowls before the end of March, and so the last day of the month was chosen for a feast at the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in Community Hall.

Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in and the community of Dawson have already held a number of events related to the Residential Schools issue, the most recent having been a special ceremony at the Robert Service School last year, after which a plaque bearing the Prime Minister's Residential Apology Schools mounted in the school foyer, and the TH flag was mounted in the school gymnasium.

The Dawson Public School burned in 1957 and the current Robert Service School is the second successor institution since that time.

At a later date, Clarke said, there will be a commemorative plaque containing the of all the students who had to leave Dawson to go to school, mostly at the Chooutla School near Carcross. The plaque will be placed at Moosehide.

Kaminak is very perked on the Coffee Project

Rory Kutluoglu, Exploration Manager Kaminak for gave an Gold Corporation, enthusiastic report on the Coffee Gold Project to students community members attending the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in's Mining Trades Fair for students and the community on April 3.

The Coffee project is one of several that are being explored and developed in the White Gold District of the Yukon, about 80 km south of Dawson. Since 2010, the company has drilled 16 separated and distinct gold discoveries in the area, totalling some 700 drill holes. Some $14 million has been spent on exploration during last season.

Despite the usual warnings looking about "forward statements" Kutluoglu emphasized that the geology and the resources so far discovered in the area seem to bode well for future development, and while there are not large prospects for immediate employment, once the mine is up and running it would not be unreasonable to see 100 people working there.

It will be fly-in/fly-out mine site for workers, though the company expects to move the ore to trucks via a barge

systen

Kaminak and the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in signed an economic development agreement in May 2013 respecting the First Nation's rights to be kept informed, to realize economic opportunities during exploration, mining and environmental monitoring phases of the project. Since down the road, Kutluoglu suggests that younger people might be wise to getting consider some training in areas that would lead jobs. to Kaminak hopes to hire locally as much as possible.

So far the c o m p a n y 's exploration has concentrated on relatively shallow surface indicators that would support open pit mining using heap leach technology. Potential for this is thought to be very high at this time while only 20% of the area has been explored.

some of the job opportunities are core samples that are typical of the type of still a few years Gold Project. The mine camp is seen below.

Kutluoglu said that 2014 would see the preliminary economic assessment phase of the project, but that the deposit was open in all directions, and the mining friendly regulations in the territory were all positive elements.

Here's what's happening with the Dawson Regional Planning Commission!

Next Commission Meeting:

The next regular Commission meeting will be held in Whitehorse in the meeting room of the Alpine Bakery, April 15, 16 and 17, 2014 (9 a.m. -4:30 p.m. each day). Commission meetings are open to anyone who wishes to come sit and listen. You can request a delegation if you wish to speak directly to the Commission at any of their regular meetings, although we reserve the right to limit time and/or postpone your delegation to a future meeting (for example, if the agenda is already full, as is the case with our meeting next week). The agenda for this meeting is attached and, although our website is currently down, the agenda will also be available on our website when it is back up and running (hopefully later this afternoon).

May Commission Meeting & Gold Show:

Following next week's meeting, the Commission will meet again in Dawson May 13, 14 and 15, 2014 (location TBD) and we will also have a booth at the Gold Show in Dawson on May 16 and 17, 2014.

What We Heard Report:

We are putting the finishing touches on the What We Heard report from the Plan Alternatives review and feedback period and this is expected to be released in the next few days, we will let you know when this is available.

Thanks very much for your time and interest!

DCAS celebrated old and new programs

The Dawson City Arts Society met for its AGM in the Oddfellows Hall ballroom on March 27. The meeting was well attended, with over two dozen people in the audience and at the board table.

Executive director Karen Dubois told the assembled membership that over 10,000 people attended events created or sponsored by the Klondike Institute of Arts and Culture (KIAC) during the last year.

increasingly well subscribed Art Enrichment Program (YAEP); the diverse films screened at the 14th Dawson International Short Film Festival; wonderful concerts with high-profile musicians like Chad Van Gaalen and Kelly Lee Evans; the well attended Yukon Riverside Arts Festival with exhibits ranging from Sarah Fuller's Homecoming Installation at Bear Creek and Paul Griffith's Welcome Stranger in the ODD Gallery; to the ever-popular Members' show at the Confluence Gallery in the Yukon School of Visual Arts."

There were new programs "Highlights included the as well, including a critically successful Live at the Palace Grand season, and the Saturday Dawson Artists'

Market, both of which were made possible by the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in's Regional Economic Development plan. The second season of the Print and Publishing Symposium was held at the Dawson Daily News Building with the assistance of both Parks Canada and the Dawson Community Library.

In addition to running its own diverse programming, DCAS has a presence on the governing council of Yukon School of Visual Arts (YSOVA) and is also represented on the Klondike Development Organization.

Dubois announced that there will be a second season of Live at the Palace Grand this coming summer and that YTG funding has been obtained to hire a producer for this series of shows.

The Artists' Market will also continue, but this year it will be driven by volunteer organizers from within the new and older programs. artistic community.

"This is my fourth AGM where I said we should just keep on doing what we're doing because we're getting stretched – and yet we took on two new projects," said President Peter Menzies. "Somehow the organization manages to do a little more. This year it's the Palace Grand and the Artists'

In 2013 the YAEP added a fourth workshop and still had to turn away over 20 applicants - enough for a fifth group.

Menzies, who also teaches at Robert Service School, sees programs like YAEP and the Rural Experiential Model of week-long intensive workshops piloted by Yukon Education last fall as being natural events that might interest students in trying out the first year fine arts program at YSOVA.

Menzies likes to talk about the "cultural cluster" of events that take place in Dawson around music, art and performance, and remains excited about the way that DCAS and KIAC, as its program arm, plugs into all of these areas and has partnerships with so many other groups in the town.

Dubois was keen on both

"I felt the Riverside Art Festival was really exceptional last year. It's like it's really taking wings; it's becoming something that people want to come to Dawson for. The Print and Publishing Symposium has added so much to (the festival). We had an experimental music stage on the YSOVA building. We on the Saturday night was great, as was the Grand Old Soapbox on Sunday. It just seemed to me to be well organized and very exciting."

this year, but when you realize that nearly $136,000 of that was caused by the amortization of assets, this was actually improvement over last year's financial position.

During elections Peter Menzies, Pat Habiluk and Gail Calder were reelected to the board, joining Helen Bowie, Marion Dale, Mark

Moore, Teresa Conkin, Rose Hebert and Lulu Keating, who still had half of their two-year terms to complete.

The executive remains the same: Peter Menzies - President, Gail Calder moved the workshops inside Vice President, Pat Habiluk and having the big concert - Treasurer, Rose Hebert -Secretary.

ODD Gallery committee elections selected Veronica Verkley, Erica Barta, Diego Martin, Janice Cliff, Justine Hobbs and Meg Walker who join Dan Sokolowski, Ange Bonnici, Curtis Collins and Kerry Barber on that committee.

News & Happenings from the Community Library

In the Library this month

Former Berton House resident Charles Wilkins will be back in Dawson for a special reading at the Library on Wednesday 16 April at 7 p.m. Admittance is free, and refreshments will be served. Wilkins will be reading from his new book Little Ship of Fools, and showing slides about his experiences as well. He'll describe how he embarked with 15 others aboard a fragile, experimental rowboat in an attempt to set a world record for crossing the Atlantic Ocean. (The experience spawned a documentary film too, which will be showing the following night at the KIAC Ballroom as part of the Dawson Film Fest's opening night). We're also featuring a shelf of books by Wilkins chronicling some of his other journeys. They're definitely worth checking out.

Every Yukon gardener knows that our growing season is short, so you have to hit the ground running (or at least tilling). To aid local growers, the Library has put up a special Grow Your Garden display of helpful books. They range from general garden wisdom to specialized tips for northern growers and greenhouse gardeners. There's something for everyone, from those seeking food self-sufficiency, to the weekend hobbyist. Come check these books out and get growing.

Our March Hollywood Goes to the Library feature, which teamed up movie DVDs alongside the book that spawned them, has proven quite popular. So, as a tribute to Dawson's own film festival, we're extending the display. It's not just adult fiction we're featuring, either. From blockbuster bestsellers like The King's Speech to non-fiction like Romeo Dallaire's Shake Hands With the Devil to Doctor Seuss's The Cat In the Hat, there's a great variety to watch and/or read.

For more information about any of these contact the Library at 993-5571 or e-mail dclib@klondiker.com.

Golden Predator flies again at Brewery Creek

Golden Predator is back and once again aiming to reopen the mine at Brewery Creek. Just months after signing an economic development agreement with the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in in 2012, the company was denied its application to begin production at the mine by running on the former Viceroy mining plan while developing further plans for expanded operations here.

Shortly after that ruling in early 2013, Golden Predator changed its corporate name to Americas Bullion Royalty Corp. and restructured its operations to deal mostly in royalties.

Now, just over a year later, Golden Predator is back, emerging as a company spun out of the ABR nest and returning to its stated brand goal of being the "Yukon's premier gold company by discovering, developing and bringing into production quality reserves in a safe, profitable and socially responsible manner."

Mike Burke speaks at the TH Mining Careers Fair.

In looking at the Brewery Creek property chief geologist Mike Burke told his audience at the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in's Mining Careers Fair on April 3, the company is working at a proven resource site which only ever shut down when it did because the price of gold was too low at the time.

It has, he said, already been proven that a heap leach recovery plan can work safely there and that the site can be rehabilitated once the mining stops.

Since 2009, Golden Predator has put $30 million into exploration at the site and has expanded the possible resources there by about 500%.

"Mining builds communities," he said, "and communities build the Yukon. We're going to be Golden Predator again so don't throw out your hats and coats."

He said the restructured Golden Predator, combining the assets of several smaller companies (Redtail Metals and Northern Tiger Resources) is well positioned to be profitable. The focus of the company is on Brewery Creek to begin with. Though it has other assets, this is one with the most immediate potential.

The YESAB decision that drove the company into hibernation delayed the reopening of the mine by about two years, Burke said, but the current goal is to be in operation in startup mode by 2016 with the first gold bars being poured in 2018. The revised proposal to the YESAB executive committee will be ready this coming August.

"We want to support the local economic development of the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in and its citizens, achieve successful environmental screening, licensing and permitting and reopen our mine," he said.

The mine site is about 55 km from Dawson, with an access road just a few kilometres up the Dempster Highway.

There won't be a lot of employment opportunities this coming summer as consultants will be used to finish the YESAB submission, but once things get going the agreement with TH specifies 50%+ TH employment at the mine. Burke encouraged people to think along those lines when doing their own career planning.

He displayed several statistical charts to demonstrate that Dawson had benefitted in terms of employment, numbers of jobs in the town and average salaries when Viceroy was operating the mine and suggested that there would be a similar bump once Golden Predator reopened.

There were also about 100 more students at the Robert Service School during those years.

He emphasized that work at a mine can be obtained by people with all levels of education from high school through to university.

"Hopefully some of the things you see there," he said, pointing to an occupations chart, "kinda turns your crank and makes you want to get out there and inspires you to pursue something.

"What we want to do is provide a place for your young folks to come back to. It's one thing sending your kids away. You want them to come home, but you don't want them to live in a basement. You want them to find a good job ... a good career.

"So it's 'jobs, jobs, jobs' – a Shawn Ryan phrase that I stole – that's what we hope to provide. We've provided quite a few in the past here."

He conceded that it's been a bit of a dry spell for the last couple of years, but forecast that there would be more productive times ahead.

Casino could have a 30 year life once it is approved

The Casino Mine project is owned by Western Copper and Gold Corporation and is located on land that is accessible only by air, about 130 km west of Pelly Crossing. It is on Crown Land and on Traditional Territories. While Casino currently has a signed agreement with the Selkirk First Nation, the company is anxious to be on good terms with the Little Salmon/ Carmacks First Nation and the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in.

Therefore, Claudia Riveros was on hand to present the project at the recent TH Mining Career Fair.

Riveros indicated that the exploration phase of the mine planning has ended, including baseline studies, mineral resource and road access evaluations, and a feasibility study. At this point $43 million has been invested in the project.

The years 2014 to 2016 will see the company moving through the review processes with YESAB, the various governments and the Yukon Territorial Water Board.

Once that process is completed the work plan is to spend four years preparing the mine and putting the infrastructure in place. The current mine life is estimated at 22 years, after which a further seven years will be taken up with closure, decommissioning and postclosure activities.

This is a multi-metal project and Casino expects to recover gold, silver, copper and molybdenum. The gold can be recovered in a heap leech operation m but the other metals will ne processed in an on-site concentrator, which will separate the metals for shipment, with access to the Klondike Highway being on a haul road that will exit near Carmacks.

The plant will be powered by two gas turbine generators, complete with heat recovery boilers and a single steam driven generator, and internal combustion engine driven generators for a total installed generation capacity of 150 MW. Liquefied natural gas ("LNG") will be imported to the site and gasified to provide natural gas to fuel the power generation plant.

A big part of Riveros' pitch to students and locals concerned the potential for jobs which she noted would run from entry level through skilled and offer opportunities for could be up to 600 people at the camp, working in biweekly shifts while living in the camp facilities, flying in

She encouraged students to think in terms of career planning.
