Gone Wild

by Mary Alice Fraughton

You were going to the Bering Sea, you said, building a raft out of the backbones of broken-down schemes, the work pooling in your palms like a balm. You picked bits of poetry from the banks of the Klondike, polished them on your shirt, smiled like strawberry season (sweet, fleeting). But in September the moon is hungry-hollow. Raven takes the bones of summer in his black beak, cracks them for the marrow as the mercury drops. And you leave. And I stay, learn to saw wood, cultivate callouses, ski at midnight. Winter sprawls beneath me like a lover under shameless stars. Freedom clings dirt-firm to my skin. Spring comes. Raven's laugh is brittle beneath blue sky, bright as penny-penance bouncing on the ice. The river shrugs its shoulders, creaks and groans like tired bones, but it's going to the Bering Sea, it says, and I believe it.

Honourable Mention

Gone Wild

by Joyce Majiski

I dreamt I was an explorer in a faraway land wearing the skin of a polar bear feeling the deep bite of cold in my bones, wind clawing my cheeks alone
Stories are only stories until they are lived until you can get some sense of what it might have been like for yourself here at the edge of north frozen fingers clutching at survival wrapped in thin cloth, desperate fearful of death in someone else's war
I love this thought when you are missing someone from far away in another place and time perhaps at the instant of their sleeping and your waking your eyelashes may brush softly at the intersection
where magic lives
A fragile memory
pressed into stone, moulded by elements, gripped by frozen earth waits to be unearthed perhaps some adventurous soul will push at the edges of eternity.

2015 edition of REM comes to Dawson

Story & Photo
by Dan Davidson

Ninety-five students, and 13 visiting teachers descended on Dawson City’s Robert Service School on Monday afternoon, Sept. 21, for this year’s edition of the Rural Experiential Model (REM).

During Monday afternoon, and running through the rest of the week until they depart from Dawson on Saturday afternoon, the students and their teachers will engaged in one of 14 different multi-day workshops that fall somewhat outside the usual curriculum offerings available in the smaller rural schools.

In the departmental briefing note, the REM concept is intended to:

- Support building capacity and collaboration among rural teachers;
- Increase course options available to rural students;
- Support multiple pathways for student success;

• Create sense of community and opportunity for students to build relationships across rural schools.

Two sessions are held each year, one in the fall and the second in the spring. This will be the third time the fall REM has been held in Dawson.

There will be 14 workshops offered in the following areas: Ancestral Technologies/ On-the-Land; Archery; Culinary Arts; Dance and Drama; First Nations Art (Design and Carving); Gold Rush (Past, Present, and Future); Hair and Esthetics; Mountain Biking; Riding and Repair; Music (Fiddling); Robotics; Science: Let’s DO It!; Social Media; Wood Shop (Framing).

These workshops will be led by 22 day session leaders.

While there will be some free time in the schedule, the evenings are also programmed with 26 different activities, some fun, some instructional, some both.

During REM 2014, a group of students practiced working on percussion beats, while a student from the reporting group recorded some video and audio for part of her project.

Mayor Potoroka Runs for Re-Election

Dawson City – Mayor Wayne Potoroka is seeking re-election in the Oct. 15, 2015, municipal election.

“I’m proud of the direction this town is heading and what’s been achieved these past three years,” said Potoroka, “but there is more work to be done.”

“Local government is a rewarding way of building one’s community,” said Potoroka. “Decisions made on Council affect everyone, and there is no better feeling than improving the lives of your neighbours.”

Potoroka is passionate about the Klondike’s history and people, maintaining respectful relationships with local groups and other levels of government, and leading effective, efficient meetings of Council.

He feels privileged to have been Chair on a Council that has tackled big issues and made progressive and fiscally responsible decisions.

“I’ve been humbled by the trust shown by this community and would be honoured to serve again as Mayor of the greatest town on earth,” he added.

Editorial Matters: You Can't Make this Stuff Up

By Dan Davidson
written September 6, 2015. in Stratford, Ontario

There are a lot of satirical news websites out there. I sometimes get annoyed at the people who re-post material from them without also posting a “let the reader beware” sort of warning. If you see a Facebook post from the Onion, the Beaverton, or several other such sites, they are there for your amusement, being the written equivalent of “This Hour has 22 Minutes”.

But I have to admit that sometimes reality trumps satire.

Generally speaking, I can travel in the Maritimes and Ontario without catching a whiff of news from the Yukon unless I actually look for it. Both city papers and CBC North are bookmarked on my devices so that I won't end up coming home to a complete surprise. This last week, however, the Great Conservative Roadside Sign Caper has raised (or lowered) the Yukon's profile considerably.

Carrie Boles and Ryan Leef have been in stories across the nation and across the pond. I read the coverage in both territorial papers first, and wondered who would pick up this story, which was just too juicy not to be noticed.

Yukon MP tackles, arrests

woman vandalising his election sign - the Globe and Mail by Genesee Keevel

“In camouflage, carrying handcuffs, Yukon Conservative MP and former mixed-martial-arts fighter Ryan Leef jumped out of the bushes in the darkness to tackle an 110-pound woman caught destroying his campaign signs along the Alaska Highway.”

“You are under citizen’s arrest!” Yukon Conservative MP stages late-night handcuffing of sign-defacing vandal - the National Post, by Tristan Hopper

“Plagued by a miscreant destroying his campaign signs, the Yukon’s ex-cage fighter MP took matters into his own hands by allegedly donning camouflage to perform a late-night citizen’s arrest of a vandal along a stretch of the Alaska Highway.”

Ryan Leef handcuffs, puts vandal under citizen arrest
‘What are you doing sir, out here at 11 o’clock at night in the pouring rain, protecting your campaign signs?’
CBC News

Yukon election candidate arrests sign vandal by the Canadian Press “WHITEHORSE - A Conservative federal election candidate in Yukon donned in camouflage gear emerged from the bush on a dark, rainy night to catch someone vandalizing his campaign signs.

““Two males came out of the bushes at me. One was dressed in camouflage; the other was pretty much dressed in black,’ Carrie Boles, who admits she was cutting Conservative candidate Ryan Leef’s name out of his campaign signs, said Thursday.”

On the serious side, I ran this story past my cousin’s husband, himself a former Mountie, and his opinion was that the citizen’s arrest was permissible, two men tackling a 110 pound woman to the ground was questionable, and the handcuffs were way over the line as far as legality and proper procedure were concerned. Restrain without injury and call the real authorities was his advice.

On the funny side, you just can’t make this stuff any funnier. The Beaverton tried hard, and found the best they could do was ask questions.

Actual news story about Conservative MP Ryan Leef campaign signs baffle satirists
Friday, 04 September 2015
14:14 Written by James Bunting

“WHITEHORSE -- An actual news story about Yukon Conservative MP Ryan Leef catching and arresting a woman vandalizing his election sign in a sting operation has bewildered many in the satirical news business.

““This can’t possibly be true!” exclaimed James Bunting, a writer at a local satirical newspaper. ‘This MP set up a sting operation involving motion detectors, cameras and waited in the bushes for the vandal to arrive. He yelled “citizens arrest!” and physically apprehended the suspect. That must be lies!”

The article continued as a dialogue among several reporters, each trying out what they thought were ever more absurd spins on the story, only to find their work corroborated by actual facts.

One must ask, is this really the sort of advance publicity that Prime Minister Harper’s team wanted to see dominating the local, and beyond local, headlines several days before his highly secret election visit to the city last Friday?

One can imagine a campaign staffer (possibly someone from the very partisan PMO) taking our Member of Parliament aside and cautioning him to maintain a somewhat less playful public persona during the rest of the campaign period.

I expect their parting words might have been somewhere along these lines.

“Yes, yes, we’re still using the ‘tough on crime’ talking points, but Ryan, lose the handcuffs. Okay?”

Thank you from a very Happy Family

Dear Dawson City and her Citizens,

I am writing to thank you all for the best vacation of all time!

My name is Terry Reddick. My husband, Don, wrote Dawson City Seven, Killing Frank McGee and The Trail Less Traveled. Our relationship with Dawson goes back to the late 1980's when Don and a friend went to explore the Yukon.

Don and I were accompanied by our three Daughters and their Husbands...aka...our Sons. Two of the girls had been to Dawson already, however getting our youngest up there took a long time. I can say, though, it was worth the wait. She finally got to "Do The Toe"!!!

We were only in Dawson a few short days (August 18-21), but they were action packed! Everywhere we went we were treated kindly and with the warmth only Dawson City residents exude.

I thank Uta Reilly of the Klondike Nugget and Ivory Gift Shop for awarding me the honor of "Visitor of the Week"!!!! What a happy surprise. The tote bag of "goodies"...and I DO mean goodies...was amazing. So many wonderful gifts from so many generous businesses. I had lots of fun dividing up the loot with my family. Careful, of course, to keep some lovely items for myself.

Those of you who live in Dawson city are so fortunate. I am sure the winters are long and the summers are short, but to be a part of such a close and diverse community is truly a special gift. There is so much more I could say and I want to thank each individual we met, but it would take up way too much space in the paper.

So beautiful Dawson City, I thank you all for the most memorable, fun and happy vacation I've ever had. I know my entire family feels the same way. We can't wait to come back.

With fondness, gratitude and great joy,

Terry Reddick

Residential Landlord and Tenant Act and regulations proclaimed

WHITEHORSE (September 16, 2015) —Yukon landlords and tenants will have new, modern tenancy legislation to guide them. The Residential Landlord and Tenant Act was proclaimed last week with the passage of its regulations, which include minimum rental standards.

"The Residential Landlord and Tenant Act provides Yukoners with a clear and effective residential tenancy law," Minister of Community Services Currie Dixon said. "This act promotes a healthy private rental market in Yukon by balancing the interests of landlords and tenants and will serve both well."

The Residential Tenancies Office created by the act will be responsible for administering the legislation, including dispute resolution procedures. In preparation, it will launch a public education campaign over the coming months to educate landlords and tenants about their rights and responsibilities. Activities will include public information sessions, a new website and publication of a Residential Landlord and Tenant Handbook.

"The Government of Yukon has taken great care to consider the needs of Yukoners. This new legislation reflects stakeholder input and best practices from across the country while considering Yukon's unique rental situations," Dixon added.

The act will apply to most landlords and tenants, including housing agencies. Long-term stays in hotels and motels and other tourist accommodations of six months and longer will also be governed by the new legislation.

The act comes into force on January 1, 2016.

Yukon Government to aid in settlement of Syrian refugees

WHITEHORSE (September 17, 2015) —Echoing the sentiment of many Yukoners, Minister of Education Doug Graham today issued the following statement on the Syrian refugee crisis:

"All of us have been affected by the images we've seen as the tragic situation in Syria unfolds. Yukoners, like all Canadians, want to do more to support people who have been forced to flee their country. The Government of Yukon is committed to supporting these efforts.

Dozens of Yukoners attended a public meeting this week to look at ways they can help. As a result of that meeting, a new community organization called Yukon Cares was formed to coordinate efforts to sponsor a refugee family.

The Yukon government is ready to work with community groups like Yukon Cares. Once a refugee family has been identified we will be open to discussing funding commitments.

We are also committed to providing settlement services for incoming refugees. The Department of Education funds the Multicultural Centre, which provides English-language training, pre-employment services and employment and training services.

Clearly, there is a groundswell of support to do more to help the Syrian refugees. We are pleased to assist the community in this important effort."

Last week the Government of Yukon committed $25,000 to the Canadian Red Cross to assist with their efforts. This donation was supported by all three Yukon political parties.

Yukon marketing initiative nominated for national award

WHITEHORSE (September 17, 2015) —The Yukon Now user-generated content and digital storytelling projects have been nominated for a 2015 Explore Canada Award of Excellence.

Destination Canada, formerly the Canadian Tourism Commission, announced Tourism Yukon as a finalist for the Most Innovative PR Campaign award in July, after receiving 250 entries from nine countries.

"This national award nomination recognizes the innovation of Yukon's largest tourism marketing initiative to date," Minister of Tourism and Culture Elaine Taylor said. "In addition to raising awareness of Yukon as a travel destination, Yukon Now is continuing to foster and leverage our incredibly creative local talent."

The digital storytelling project is the first of its kind in Canada. It invites local film talent to create webisodes showcasing Yukon as a great place to visit. The first series launched earlier this year and by May had over 600 hours of online views and was widely shared through social media. Local agency Outside the Cube managed the project on behalf of Tourism Yukon.

The user-generated content component invites Yukoners and past visitors to share their best Yukon experiences through video, photos and written content. More than 200 Yukoners participated in the project by sharing their experiences on Travel Yukon's Tumblr, Instagram and Facebook pages with the hashtag #ExploreYukon.

Phase two of the digital storytelling project starts soon with five new videos being created by local producers. They include Yukon Paranormal by Neil McDonald of White Hole Productions; The Passion Series: Run, Mud, Fly by Teresa Earl of Sagafish Media; KenoGras by Darrin Susin; Dawson City Music Festival by John Alderson; and Moosehide Trail and the Road Less Travelled by Marty O'Brien of Old Pal Productions.

Winners of the 2015 Explore Canada Awards of Excellence will be announced at a GoMedia Canada event on September 30 in Penticton, B.C.. The judge for the award is Arlene Dickinson, CEO of Venture Communications and former "dragon" on the television show Dragons' Den.

The Yukon Now marketing program is an initiative that expands Tourism Yukon's domestic marketing efforts. The program is funded jointly by the Government of Yukon and the Canadian Northern Economic Development Agency (CanNor). Each government invested $1.8 million over two years to Yukon's tourism marketing budget. This represents the single largest tourism marketing initiative in Yukon's history.

"Let's Organize a Fest"; Keno City Stages 1st Annual Music Festival

by Chris Healey

A well-attended inaugural Keno City Music Fest, organized by Dawson City artists, came together at the Sourdough Tavern this August 1st. Keno City, a tiny mining town steeped in history and boasting a population of about a dozen or so, sits at the end of the Yukon's Silver Trail highway. An eccentric vibe resonates throughout the small cluster of wooden buildings that tends to attract hardy tourists not intimidated by a long, rough road and isolated location.

"Junkyard Jae and I went up a month before," recalls co-organizer and musician Cud Eastbound. "Never been there before. We were having a few beers and playing banjo on the porch with Jim at Sourdough Roadhouse there, and he said 'you should come up and do a show'. I was like, 'let's organize a fest.'"

"We contacted as many musicians as we could who could make it and it was like, 'we should do this every year'."

"We decided what the line-up would be the day of because we didn't know what musicians would actually make it there."

Eastbound, Jimmy James, Joey O'Neil, Dreampipe Vermin and Die Wilde all took the stage that night.

One slated performer, stand up comedian Andrea Pelletier, did not make it as the car she riding in skidded off the road and flipped over. Everyone was ok but proceedings were temporarily halted as the news arrived from attendees arriving late, attesting to the sense of close-knit community in this region of the Yukon. There is no cell phone coverage in Keno City.

"Our goal was to get as many people to Keno as possible... Keno is beautiful," continues Eastbound, "Big Al showed up and he had all of his audio equipment. It was going to be an acoustic show, but Big Al tied into the existing sound system and had all these homemade mics and stuff ... the acoustics in the Sourdough are phenomenal and very warm and Al did an amazing job last minute."

So what was the town's reaction to the music festival?

"It's nothing new for Keno," says Jim Milley, owner of the Sourdough Roadhouse. "We've been having bands play here for a couple of years now: Kim Beggs, Bunch of B.S., others have played here. Now that they've discovered the acoustics of the place more and more want to play here."

"It was a really good time. Nice evening."

Dogs ran underfoot, locals mixed with surprised tourists and even a pair of uniformed RCMP Officers from Mayo showed up to take in the performances. The line-up of artists was, at least this time around, entirely composed of Dawson City residents as evidenced by the small mob of accompanying fans.

"It's like Keno was discovered by Dawson" jokes Milley.

Kaminak Announces New, Northern Access Road Route to Coffee Project Endorsed by Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in First Nation

Vancouver, B.C. (September 16, 2015)– Kaminak Gold Corporation (KAM: TSX-V) today announced that in support of the Company's ongoing feasibility study at Coffee, its flagship development track Yukon gold project, the Company evaluated nine (9) potential access road routes into the project site and has prioritized a single northern access route coming from Dawson City for further detailed analysis. This route was selected as the best option for Kaminak as it results in the least amount of new road construction, land disturbance and overall environmental impact. Moreover, this route also offers the potential to maximize economic benefits to the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in ("TH") on whose Traditional Territory the Coffee Project is situated, and their home community of Dawson City. The road would be 100% located within the Traditional Territory of TH, sections of which may be located within the Overlapping Area of Selkirk First Nation and the First Nation of Na-Cho Nyak Dun.

The proposed northern access road route is approximately 190 km in length, more than 160 km of which already exists as public road with select portions requiring upgrading to meet the proposed Coffee mine transportation and safety specifications. Both the Stewart and the Yukon rivers transect the route and will be crossed via ferry during months when the river is flowing and via ice bridge during freeze up, which is an established practice at the Minto copper mine located, 114 km southeast of Coffee. A proposed 1300 m airstrip will also service the site principally for transportation of personnel, but also during the shoulder seasons when the river crossings are inaccessible. Traffic to and from the proposed Coffee mine during operations is expected to consist of approximately four B-Train trucks a day, to supply fuel and other consumables. Gold doré will be transported from site by air.

Please view the accompanying supporting maps for this northern access route news release from the following link: <http://www.kaminak.com/resources/maps/DawsonRouteAnimated.pdf>

Engineering studies and environmental baseline surveys are now underway in support of a refined route selection and the development of design parameters required for permitting, road upgrading and construction. It should be noted that the cost to construct an all season road into the Coffee site from the south was included in Kaminak's 2014 Preliminary Economic Assessment ("PEA") at an estimated cost of CDN $35 million. The new proposed route requires less new construction, and therefore, is expected to cost less. A definitive cost analysis is currently underway and will be incorporated into the upcoming Feasibility Study scheduled for completion in early Q1, 2016.

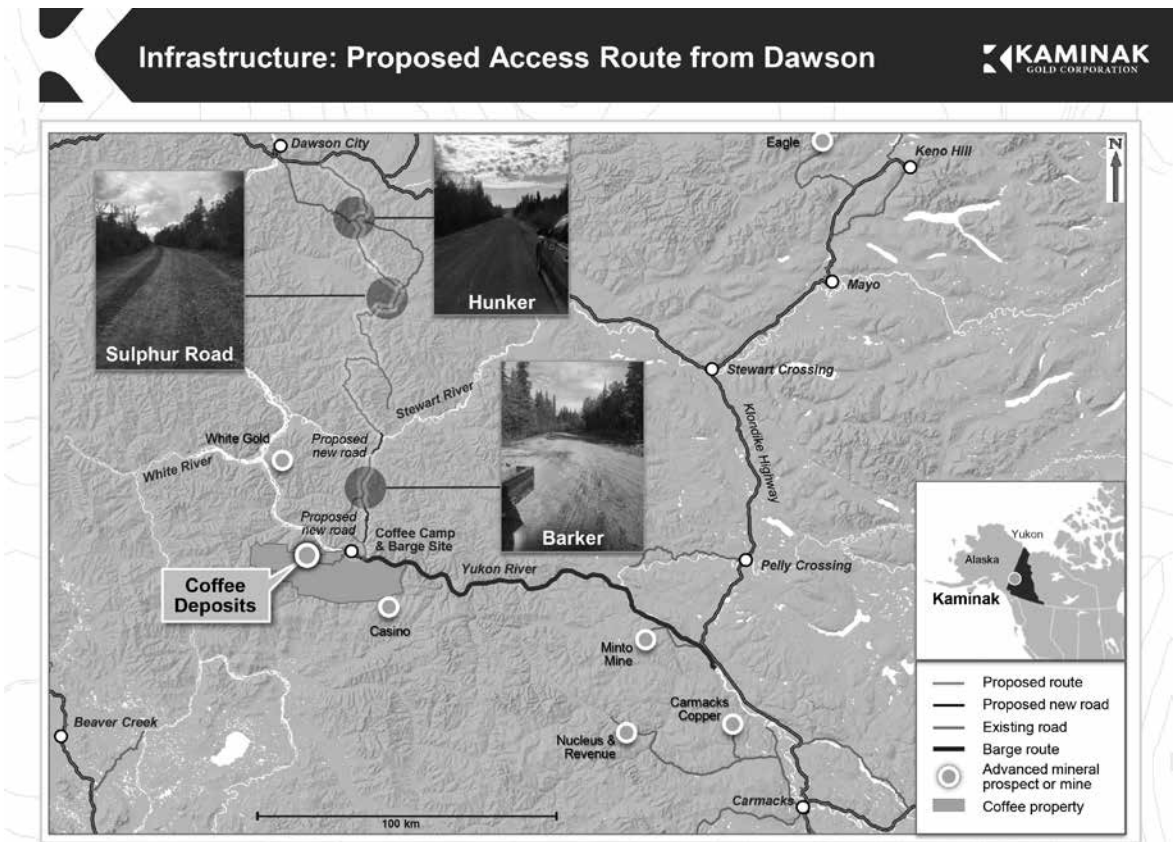

Initial consultation meetings to introduce the concept of a northern road route from Dawson City have been held with Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in, Yukon Government, the community of Dawson and local placer miners in the Klondike region. While consultation is still ongoing, all of the meetings so far have been positive, and Kaminak has received strong support for the proposed route.

"The Tr'ondek Hwech'in are committed to supporting and ensuring responsible mining within our Traditional Territory and pleased to provide effective input towards advancing the Coffee Project towards production," stated Chief Roberta Joseph. "Not only will the northern access road route to Coffee maximize business opportunities for our citizens, it will also provide great benefit for the entire town of Dawson City. Kaminak's transparency and respect towards the environment has helped build a strong relationship with TH and demonstrates support for the next phase of this project It's a positive step for our economy."

Dawson City Mayor, Wayne Potoroka, stated: "We are very excited about the proposed northern access route and the benefits it would bring to our town. We are proud of our mining heritage, and this road, and the Kaminak operation, will help keep that local culture strong."

Eira Thomas, CEO commented: "The proposed northern access route from Dawson City ticks all the boxes for us. It is the shortest route, it requires little new construction, thereby, limiting new land disturbance and environmental impacts, and it is largely routed through the traditional territory of Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in First Nation, our partner and a key stakeholder in the future development of Coffee."

About the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in First Nation and Kaminak
In 2013, the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in First Nation (TH) and Kaminak entered into an Exploration Cooperation Agreement (ECA) relating to Kaminak's Coffee Gold Project, which is located on Crown Land within the Traditional Territory of Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in, as recognized in their Final Agreement with the Government of Canada and the Government of the Yukon (July 16, 1998). The ECA sets out a framework in which Kaminak and TH agree to work together in a spirit of partnership to build a positive, and mutually beneficial working relationship with respect to the exploration activities that are being undertaken on the Coffee Gold Project.

North Yukon First Nations Sign Intergovernmental Accord

Dawson City (September 18, 2015) Three North Yukon First Nations have joined forces to ensure any development on their traditional territories is sustainable and protects traditional values.

Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in Chief Roberta Joseph, Vuntut Gwitchin Chief Roger Kyikavichik, and Na-Cho Nyak Dun Chief Simon Mervyn signed the North Yukon First Nations Intergovernmental Accord in Dawson City last night. The signing ceremony was attended by Elders, Councillors, and citizens from each of the three First Nations, some of whom travelled from Old Crow and Mayo.

The agreement affirms the collaborative efforts of the First Nations to protect the renewable and non- renewable resources of their traditional territories—by ensuring environmental practices for sustainable development—in order to preserve a way of life based on a cultural, spiritual and economic relationship with the land.

"Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in has always been pro-sustainable development, not anti-development," said Chief Joseph. "If there is going to be any development it must be done in a sustainable way that does not interfere with our traditional cultural values. As in the past, we can move forward achieving economics based on community values."

Chief Mervyn highlighted the value of collaboration and forward thinking. "Chief Elijah Smith always said we work together today for the children of tomorrow. Na-Cho Nyak Dun signs this accord in good faith to ensure a better future for the First Nations of Northern Yukon," he said.

Chief Kyikavichik emphasized the value his First Nation places on land and resources. "These resources have sustained us for generations," he said. "The alliance between the northern nations is a significant step forward. We will work together to protect and preserve our renewable and non-renewable resources for future generations."

Under the terms of the agreement, the First Nations will meet three times a year.

September Offerings

Some of the most entertaining cinematic offerings in recent memory have been spawned by television. From miniseries to long-running TV series, you'll find some great DVD offerings – light and dark – in the Library's collection of DVDs. Here are some we'd recommend:

Six Feet Under. Laced with irony and dark situational humor, this award-winning HBO show approaches the subject of death through the eyes of the Fisher family, who owns and operates a funeral home in Los Angeles..

Seinfeld. One of the funniest and longest-running network comedies, the show features four single friends – comic Jerry Seinfeld, bungling George Costanza, frustrated working gal Elaine Benes and eccentric neighbor Cosmo Kramer – as they deal with the absurdities of everyday life in New York City. This show has single-handedly contributed countless gags to the contemporary zeitgeist.

Call of the Midwife. This popular BBC drama offers a view into the colourful world of midwifery and family life in London's East End during the 1950s.

Sex and the City. In this popular comedy a sex columnist and her three female friends explore Manhattan's dating scene, chronicling the mating habits of single New Yorkers.

Downton Abbey. This highly-acclaimed British series has gained a cult following in North America. The show follows the lives of the Crawley family and its servants in the family's classic Georgian country house during the early 20th Century. His

I Claudius. This must-see BBC adaptation of Robert Graves' classic novel (also available in the Library) traces the history of the Julio-Claudian Dynasty and Roman Empire, from Julius Caesar's assassination in 44 BC through the over-the-top reign of Caligula to the death of Claudius in 54 AD. Great acting and proof that fact is stranger than fiction

Aura Borealis launched in Dawson

by Dan Davidson

Holly Haustein (Driftwood Holly) believes in creating unique events. For the August 9 Dawson launch of his second CD, Aura Borealis, Holly moved his floating river cabin to the east bank of the Yukon River, just below the dyke, and linked it to the bank with a raft and a mooring framework (made of driftwood, of course). From there he and his sidemen performed music from the new CD and other songs (with the usual seasoning of Neil Young tunes) for a hour or so before joining the musicians who were offering an open mic session just down the park at the gazebo.

The Colours of Fall

Story & photos
By Palma Berger

This summer we seemed to have had more rain and some nice hot days which could be why the deciduous trees had such thick foliage.
So as Fall came around we were treated to such a dense showing of yellows and oranges on the larger trees and bushes, and raspberry reds, burgundies yellows and browns on the smaller bushes. It has been stupendous.

As Fall progressed once green hills became hills with swathes of yellow surrounded by green; or if the deciduous trees were dominant we had greens surrounded by varying shades of yellows.
Talk about 'aspens quiver'. They did it with such flair. Especially if they were on a slight rise catching a breeze and back lit by a low sun. Each quiver of their seemingly delicate leaves changed the colours slightly.

Yellow trees reflected in water made a beautiful showing as their yellow was repeated against the deep blue of the water.
The sky was not to be outdone. Its blue also gave a nice backdrop to colour. To go one better than the water, the sky rolled out thick clouds in place. As these took on deep grey mauve colour, the yellow trees seen against them took on more vibrant colours.
This was only around Dawson. From what I hear the Top of the World Highway was really spectacular too. Missed Tombstone also.
There is no doubt about it, the He or She who thought up these colours certainly knew what they were doing.

Our online subscribers will see this page in colour.

PILLARS OF SUCCESS

with Mo Caley-Verdonk, Life Coach

You Can Handle It

From one caring person to another, I just want to take a few minutes to acknowledge you. It's no small feat wearing the hat of a reliable and valued contributor to the ongoing vibrancy of community life!

It takes an insane amount of energy, organization and courage to face all the decisions you make on any given day--family-work-community, not to mention doing so in the presence of the doubt about your capability that creeps in, the fears that try to take hold of you and the uncertainty and overwhelm about what you're doing each day... I know, I've been right there.

So first and foremost... I acknowledge you! Take a few minutes to go and celebrate what's right in your world and in your life. This energy will infuse you with a fresh perspective and a deepened confidence to keep going and keep moving forward, one step at a time.

At each stage in life, challenges arise. And each of these challenges brings a lesson. You learn it, move on to your next challenge... and to your next lesson.

The thing is, as we go through life, the lessons get more complex. It's as though each time you learn one lesson, you "graduate" to the next one. This process can feel like too much at times—even for Mother Theresa!

Before you throw in the towel, remind yourself of how you have met all the challenges in your life so far (for better or worse). Surely you've learned some valuable things along the way, too. And all those challenges and lessons have prepared you perfectly for what you are facing now.

Sure, it would be easier if we could just learn these lessons from a book. It would be more comfortable if we just stayed in bed all day, too... but that's not how it works.

Because the truth is, you are ready for whatever challenge you face. In fact, there is no better preparation than your life experience—lumps, bumps, lessons and all. Know that you won't be given anything you can't handle, even if you wish, like Mother Theresa, that God didn't trust you so much.

What are you being entrusted with? Remember.... you can handle it!

To Your Success ...

Dawson Daycare Slashes After School Program: limited space and staff forces extra curricular program cuts

By Marie-Eve Owen

The news came in early August that the Little Blue Daycare couldn't maintain its after school program after August 31st, when the occupancy permit at its Crocus Bluff summer camp location would expire. With no possibility of confirmation for a new space and limited staff to run the program, the daycare board concluded, with great debate and heavy hearts, that the program should be cut. This program cut comes on the heels of the announcement that summer camp programming for next year would be under close scrutiny if the daycare cannot find adequate space to hold its extra curricular activities without having to jump through multiple political hoops and yearly red tape.

These slashes are a devastating blow to Dawson's hard working parents who rely on after school programming and extra curricular programming to provide quality care and education to their kids while they are at work or at home. The greatest obstacle in maintaining these programs continues to be the The Little Blue Daycare's lack of available and adequate programming space. The process of obtaining a municipal lot so as to build a new multi-generational facility with enough space for such programs remains in limbo as Dawson's CAO makes an executive decision to postpone a public hearing on the subject until after the October 19th elections.

With the uncertainty surrounding the elections, Dawson City's council is wary of starting the process to amend the Official Community Plan and re-zone part of the lot beside the present-day Little Blue Daycare (Block 20); a step which is essential to initiate the capital project. Although the Dawson Society for Children and Families (Blue Daycare) has been assured of the willingness of council to follow through with the public hearing, the process is yet again delayed.

The Little Blue Daycare intends to prioritize this project above all else, seeing as it is such an essential factor in their available programming. Although the daycare wants to provide extra curricular programs after school and during the summer, they desperately require the city's and the territory's help in assuring a safe and educational venue for Dawson's youth.

The Board is intent on ensuring Dawson's Development Officer will quickly post a public hearing announcement immediately following the elections. The Board also asks the community's help in applying public pressure on their city council members to do their utmost to help a non-profit daycare provide the full range of child care options to a community in need. All of Dawson's families deserve the best possible programming available in the best possible facility. Together, we can achieve this.

YAC director resigns

BY TIMOTHY SAWA

It was announced Monday that Ron Pond, the Yukon Anniversaries Commission Executive Director, will be resigning as of November 10.

It's a bright day in an otherwise dark summer for the group, says Denny Kobayashi, after he heard the announcement.

"This is all good news," the Dawson town councillor said in a phone interview yesterday. "What I wanted to see happen was for them to re-evaluate what they're doing."

"This will force them to do just that."

Kobayashi, who was only one of many Dawsonites to criticize the YAC over the summer, was quick to say he had no personal gripe with Pond, just the direction of the commission.

"My concern was with the actions of the commission not with any one particular person working for it."

"Although I did express some concerns about him (Pond) wanting to leave Dawson City," he added.

Kobayashi's letter to both Whitehorse papers two weeks ago (see page 4), which called for an end to the YAC, was only one of many attacks on the commission, most of which were a response to the commission's decision to pull out of Dawson.

Dawson mayor Art Webster criticized the commission for buckling to political pressure.

While Boyd Gillis, the Dawson representative on the YAC board, called the move unfortunate. A move he said was partly the result of political bickering between the YAC and the Klondike Centennial Society.

Gillis, however, declined to comment on the resignation.

But Pond said his decision to resign was in no way connected to criticism coming out of Dawson, and was something he has been considering for some time.

"I have to make that very clear," he said from Whitehorse. "Although the timing is unfortunate," he admitted, referring to the recent Kobayashi letter.

"I just hope that Dawson City will be behind my successor. We have to work together on this as a team."

Despite all the problems, Pond will be missed by his co-workers.

"On behalf of the board and everyone Ron has worked with or for in the past seven years, I want to express our sincere appreciation for the dedicated effort Ron has contributed and wish him every success in the future," added Marvin Taylor, the Chair of the YAC board of directors.

WHITE LIGHTENING STRIKES

It's been a long trial, a contest of wills and endurance between dedicated runners, but this year the White Lightning team finally pulled out in front of the crew from the Downtown Hotel. While Chester Kelly's team held sway for the first five years of their contest, Kevin Anderson's has now made it six in a row, and there was no doubt at all that the boys were ecstatic.

"Chester won the first five and we were looking at his tail end. Now he's been looking at our tail end for six," Anderson crowed. "This was the decade match. That's why we're pumped. Dirk (Millar) and I, we've been on this team since day one."

Anderson, a house painter by trade who admits to never training for these events, nevertheless said he'd spent the last ten years getting ready for this race, which his team won in eight minutes and thirty-two seconds. The two lead teams were moving so fast that they could be seen at the Front

Contemplating the Future of the Klondike Sun

So ... we have returned, and we have survived the immediate financial crisis and the staffing shortage that led to this hiatus.

To recap, we were saved from financial ruin by the generosity of those who contributed to our GoFundMe campaign, and by those who took out online subscriptions during that frantic first week of August.

We were saved by Diane Baumgartner, who helped me get three issues worth of invoices ready to be sent out, and by newcomer Chris Healey, who stepped in to send them out to our clients when my previously bought and paid for vacation trip meant I had to leave town.

We were saved, in some ways, by the Yukon News, our printer, which allowed our printing bills to pile up for months before they finally said we needed to settle up.

Each 20 page issue costs $443.30 to print. Aside from that, we have pay for part time office staff (say hello to John Coy, pronounced Shoy, who's new here this month), rent, utilities and supplies. There's a fair amount of volunteer time that goes into this operation, but like Julie Andrews once sang, "nothing comes from nothing".

In the immediate future we need to have an annual general meeting, and we really need to see more than the half dozen folks who have been showing up the last few years. They're good people, but it's really too much for such small numbers to continue managing.

Additionally, we really need to have a community meeting to set some direction for the future of the paper. We've been running just over 26 years on the original concept developed by Kathy and Michael Gates, Madeleine and John Gould, Dawne Mitchell, Chere Wilson (Mitchell at the time), Sourdough Sue Ward, Richard Blais, Palma Berger and me.

There have been many others over the years, but they have moved on to other towns, other realms and other activities, leaving Palma and me to try and recruit fresh bodies and minds.

It's not a closed shop, and it's only my shop (as I have heard some people complain, only partly in jest, I fear) to the extent that no one else seems to want to take it on.

Briefly, the Sun was established to be Dawson's newspaper of record, a living, continuing document covering the life and times of the Klondike and reflecting on as wide a range of subjects as possible.

We wanted it to be informative and fun, something that people could hold up and say "that's my town", warts and all. We want more fun and fewer warts, but life doesn't always work out that way and when we miss the bad stuff, there's always someone to ask why we didn't cover that.

The ninety-one folks who gave us $6050.00 over the last six weeks apparently feel we are doing pretty well at what we do, but we need to know about the rest of our citizens and, particularly, those local businesses that don't seem to feel a small advertising contribution or sponsorship would be worth considering.

With all this election stuff going on, it doesn't seem to be a good time for meetings, so we're going to wait until all that is over and then try to call both the AGM and the Community Consultation. Watch for our notices.

July 4, 1925 - August 30, 2015

It is with great sadness that we announce the passing away of Viola Susie Gaye Campbell of Sydney, Nova Scotia, on August 30, 2015, in the Palliative Care Unit, at Cape Breton Regional Hospital.

Viola was born in Wayne, Alberta, on July 4, 1925.

She was predeceased by her parents Jack and Mary Gaye Lefley and son Scott Hunston.

Beloved Mother of Jeffrey (Cynthia) of Whitehorse, Yukon and Fletcher (Joanne) of Sydney, Nova Scotia.

She was the loving sister of Ruth Taylor, Tom (Eileen), Bob, Donna Leblanc (Roy), Judy Patterson and Bonnie Stainthorp, Sister In Law Pat Lefley.

She loved and cherished her four grandchildren Whitney, Alister, Kira and Scott, and numerous nieces and nephews. She will also be missed by Sylvia Neschokat, one of her dear and loyal friends. Viola was predeceased by her brother Arthur, Sister's Beryl Riva and Doris Poland, brothers-in-law Bill Taylor, Ron Riva and Larry Poland and sister-in-law Adeline Lefley.

Viola received her Registered Nurse degree in 1948 and nursed for 30 years. She also found time, between work and raising three boys, for community work, mainly in Dawson City, where she lived for much of her adult life. She was elected to the Dawson City Municipal Council as an Alderman and as Mayor. She also served as Justice of the Peace, Coroner and Notary Public. She especially enjoyed her time on the national "Canada 125 Board" and advocated and was successful in getting the Canada 125 trail extended to the Yukon. Around her work schedule, raising three boys and volunteering in the community she also found time to pursue her passion for sports, excelling at softball, badminton, curling and horseshoes to name just a few. She enjoyed playing cards and was very competitive. You had to be sharp if you hoped to win a game of cards against her. Viola is loved by her many friends and family and will be deeply missed. Viola believed in God and accepted Jesus Christ as her Savior and is surely at peace.

Special thanks to the staff at the CBRM Hospital, especially the Palliative Care Unit, for the care and compassion we received.

Funeral service was held on Wednesday September 2, 2015 at 11 a.m., in Sydney Memorial Chapel, with Pastor Ron Coole officiating.

Memorials may be made to the Palliative Care Unit at the Cape Breton Regional Hospital.

Words of comfort can be sent to the family at www.sydneyMemorialChapel.ca or e-mail sydneyMemorialChapel@ns.sympatico.ca
